Tide Swings to Tories As Britons Jam Polls

LONDON (CP) — Britons turned out in large numbers today to elect a new government. Late predictions forecast a return to office of the Conservative government.

Labor party leaders, however, continued optimistic about their chances.

Prime Minister Macmillan was among the throng of early voters. He exuded optimism as he stepped from a polling booth near his official residence at 10 Downing Street.

Looking up at the sky, he remarked jauntily: "Warm and fine all day, with very good prospects later."

Hugh Gaitskell, Labor leader, toured his home district of South Leeds in an industrial area of Yorkshire. He had voted earlier by mail.

Thick fog that hung over much of the country burned away as the sun rose, raising expectations of a heavy vote. Some polling stations said the early voting was double that in the last general election in 1955. In London's Chelsea district, 20 per cent of those eligible had voted in the first three hours.

Macmillan travelled by open car to his home riding of Bromley, 10 miles from London, after voting.

As the car passed through a square, a bus driver leaned out of his cab window, gave a thumbs-up sign and shouted:

"It's okay, it's in the bag, Mac."

The polls opened at 7 a.m. local time (11 p.m. PST) and close at 9 p.m. (1 p.m. PST). First results were expected about an hour after polls close. The outcome may be known about three hours later.

TORIES FAVORED

Eleventh-hour public opinion polls, the stock market and the bookmakers all indicated that the Conservatives would win a majority of the 630 seats at stake in the House of Commons, and with it another five-year mandate.

After a final canvass of 100 key seats, Conservative leaders predicted that their majority would be about 50 seats—three less than when Parliament was dissolved Sept. 18.

The Labor party also foresaw victory, by a margin of 15 seats. Three last-minute polls indicated a rise in Conservative popularity but they still reported a massive 16 per cent of "don't knows"—people who hadn't decided which way to vote or wouldn't say.

FINANCIERS CONFIDENT

On the stock exchange, steel shares made substantial gains Wednesday, indicating that Britain's financiers are confident of a Conservative win. The Labor party has promised to put the industry under government ownership if elected to office.

There are 35,400,000 men and women eligible to vote in the election. With all parties calling for a record turnout, early predictions were that 80 per cent would do so.

LONDON (Reuters) — A London strip-tease club plans a special election show for tonight: A shapely showgirl will appear in red, blue and yellow rosettes—representing the Labor, Conservative and Liberal parties. As the results come in, the girl will shed a rosette according to the candidate elected. The show goes on until the last result—or near-last rosette.

'K Plan' Wins Debate By UN Committee

Priority for the Khrushchev plan was proposed by the chairman of the 82-member committee, Ambassador Franz Matsch of Austria, after private consultations. His proposal was accepted without debate.

Matsch announced that discussion of the Soviet plan will begin Friday. Other disarmament proposals will be taken up in sequence after the examination of the plan offered by the Soviet leader before the General Assembly Sept. 18.

In suggesting priority for the Soviet proposal, Matsch recalled that both Khrushchev and President Eisenhower had agreed that general disarmament is the most important issue facing the world today.

The committee also had on its docket an Irish appeal to restrict the "nuclear club" to Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union; an Indian call for a permanent ban on all nuclear weapon tests, and Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's report on current international efforts at disarmament.

FLEMING RAPS BANKS FOR BIG-LOAN SPREE

TORONTO (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming said today the current credit squeeze wouldn't be so tight if banks had not extended so much credit to their large borrowers.

He also suggested that large corporations look to the bond market — and not to banks — for their long-term money needs, thus freeing funds for loans to small borrowers. Long-term corporate borrowing from banks "should be discouraged."

Mr. Fleming, speaking before the Empire Club here, also hit at those who blame "Ottawa" for bank credit restrictions.

The banks were "acting on their own initiative" when they restricted lending operations in May and again in August, he said.

"In doing so there was no need for any of the banks to blame anyone else . . . The situation was the result of unprecedented demand for credit, and the lending resources of the banks were not unlimited."

The minister, in his first major speech since the credit squeeze reached its peak in late summer, made these other points:

Ottawa Won't Ease Inflation Battle

1. There has been "no freezing of the money supply" although total supply has been relatively stable for the last 12 months.

2. It is "a fallacy of the deepest dye" to say that a measure of inflation would reduce interest rates. It would only push them higher.

3. The government is not letting up in its anti-inflation battle to preserve the dollar's value.

4. It is a "deliberate aim" of the government to move toward a situation where it will require no new borrowings from the market. Achievement of that goal would help provinces, municipalities and business in meeting their borrowing problems.

5. "It now seems clear" that Canada's gross national product for 1959 — value of all goods and services produced — will exceed the estimate in his April 9 budget speech of a seven-per-cent rise to $34,500,000,000.

Too Much Credit for Big Customers

Mr. Fleming titled his speech "expansion without inflation" and in it he dealt at length with current problems of high interest rates and the problems of would-be borrowers in getting loans.

He repeatedly emphasized that the credit shortage is due to "the extraordinary intensity of demand" for commercial bank loans arising out of Canada's rapid economic expansion. General business loans by banks now were 17 per cent above the previous peak in 1957.

Referring to the restrictions on loans applied by chartered banks, he said "It is essential that the public should clearly understand where responsibility rests."

There had been an increase in bank credit put at the disposal of the banks' big customers—those with lines of credit exceeding $100,000. The total of these "lines of credit" had risen to $4,763,000,000 last June up $442,000,000 from a year earlier and $899,000,000 higher than in June, 1957.

These commitments have greatly exceeded actual loans made, he said, but the banks have had to keep available additional reserves to meet "these very large lines of authorized credit."

"It is evident that had the

400 Flee Explosive Gas Leak

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A propane-gas pipeline blew up on the outskirts of Austin early today and quickly spread an explosive and toxic blanket of fumes over a three-mile area.

Policemen, firemen and airmen from Bergstrom Air Force Base, some wearing gas masks, rushed through the streets, pounding on doors to awaken endangered families.

Four hundred families fled. Although the danger of an explosion was limited to a radius of three miles, the sickening fumes spread over the whole city.

Hundreds of persons reported headaches and nausea. The danger of a widespread explosion lingered for nearly 3½ hours—until the bulk of the gas had been diluted by the atmosphere.

STILL DANGEROUS

Engineers from the Phillips Pipeline Co., which owned the ruptured line, warned, however, that gas was still lying in low places and basements.

The nature of propane is such that it could lie in low places and basements for months unless it is found and blown out.

Propane can be transported and stored as a liquid but becomes a gas as soon as it touches air. It is both toxic and highly explosive when it gets out of control.

As the policemen, firemen and servicemen warned the families to get out of their homes, they told them not to turn on the lights, lest sparks from light switches set off an explosion.

Families in the danger area were warned not to smoke and to turn out pilot lights in stoves and water heaters as soon as they could.

Capture Series On 9-3 Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — Los Angeles Dodgers won the world series, 4 games to 2, today by crushing Chicago White Sox 9-3 in the sixth game on the home run blasts of Duke Snider, Wally Moon and Chuck Essegian and the sharp relief pitching of Larry Sherry.

The White Sox' three runs came on a tremendous home run by Ted Kluszewski in the wild fourth inning in which nine of the game's 12 runs were scored.

THIRD HOMER

It was Kluszewski's third home run of the series. He hit two in the opening game won by the White Sox, 11-0.

The winning pitcher was work horse Larry Sherry, who relieved Johnny Podres with one out in the fourth and allowed four hits and no runs the rest of the way for his second series' victory. He also saved the other two Dodger victories.

The loser was Early Wynn, Chicago's 22-game winner, who was belted from the box after 3⅓ innings during which time he gave up five hits and five runs. The White Sox used six pitchers.

SECOND SERIES

This was the second world series triumph for the Dodgers in 10 appearances in the post-season classic. The other championship was won in 1955 against the New York Yankees, with Podres the pitching hero, when the club was in Brooklyn.

Snider's home run came in the third inning with one on and Moon matched the feat in the wild six-run Dodger fourth. Essegian hit a solo homer in the ninth as pinch-hitter for Snider, becoming the first player in history to hit two pinch-hit homers in a single world series. Chuck also hit a pinch homer in the second game.

The game was marked by sharp tempers, and Los Angeles coach Charlie Dressen was tossed out of the game in the fourth inning for yelling at plate umpire Frank Dascoli. Manager Walt Alston of the Dodgers put up arguments on some calls.

Snider, who had asked to be returned to the line-up despite a sore knee because he had a "hunch" he might get a big hit, came through in the third inning with a 390-foot homer which scored Moon ahead of him.

This started the Los Angeles landslide, which reached destruction proportions when the Dodgers scored six runs on six hits in the fourth.

WYNN CHASED

During this spree, Wynn was chased from the mound, replaced by Dick Donovan, who himself was followed by Turk Lown. Gerry Staley, Billy Pierce and Ray Moore finished up.

Norm Larker started the six-run rally with a single into center but went out for pinch-runner, Don Demeter. Demeter went to second on a sacrifice and scored on a sharp single through the middle by Maury Wills.

Podres scored Wills all the way from first with a booming double that hit the centre field fence, 400 feet away, on

CD 'Totally Inadequate' Charges Chief Who Quit

OTTAWA (CP)—Maj.-Gen. George S. Hatton, who resigned last month as the senior federal government officer in charge of civil defence, charged that the organization set up to implement the new civil defence policy "is totally inadequate."

His criticism was made public today by Health Minister Monteith who released copies of Gen. Hatton's letter resigning the $11,500-a-year post of deputy civil defence co-ordinator and his own letter accepting the resignation.

"In my opinion, the organization set up to implement the new policy is totally inadequate, as I have often made clear to you; in many ways we are worse off, nation wide, than we were under the old organization, as explained later in this letter," Gen. Hatton said.

This referred to a change-over Sept. 1 under which responsibilities for various aspects was spread over four government departments — health, national defence, justice and the prime minister's office. Until then federal responsibility for civil defence had been under the sole authority of the CD co-ordinator in the health department.

Gen. Hatton's letter says his proposals to brief the cabinet in 1958 on civil defence and his suggestion that he be recognized as civil defence co-ordinator—a post he had filled in an acting capacity since the 1957 resignation of Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington—were not accepted by the government.

Canada Won't Favor U.S. Dollar Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming today turned thumbs down on the idea of the government seeking to force down the present exchange premium on the Canadian dollar. He said it would require "huge sums" of taxpayers' money.

He said he is aware that the premium — now some 5 per cent above the United States dollar — is causing disadvantages to many Canadians, especially exporters.

But there is "no practical alternative under the present circumstances" to allowing the Canadian dollar find its own value on the exchange market, he said in a speech to the Empire Club here.

"To attempt to reduce the premium would necessitate the use of large sums of money, which are the property of the Canadian taxpayer, for the purpose of purchasing United States dollars."

Farm Bomb Story 'Untrue'

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF said Wednesday night there is "no truth whatsoever" to a Regina report that an American bomb fell on a South Saskatchewan farm about six weeks ago.

The Regina report quoted RCMP as saying the practice bomb left a crater 3½ feet deep when it fell on Charles Smith's farm near Mankota, 120 miles southwest of Swift Current.

An RCAF spokesman said he had checked "every source in the RCAF" and none had heard of the incident.

one bounce. It was here that Wynn went to the showers.

After Junior Gilliam had walked, Charley Neal smashed a double to right, scoring both Podres and Gilliam. Neal was on base when Moon came to bat and lined the first pitch into the lower stands in right centre.

The White Sox bounced back for their three runs in the fourth off Podres, but they were helpless once Sherry went to the hill.

Kluszewski's line drive homer scored Jim Landis, who had been hit by a pitched ball, and Sherm Lollar, who had walked.

Thus the Dodgers won the world championship after needing two playoff victories over Milwaukee to nail the National League pennant and get into the series. The Dodgers, a year ago, had finished seventh in their first series in Los Angeles.

Registrations of motor vehicles in Canada in 1958 reached a record 4,675,560, 5 per cent more than in 1957.

WORLD SERIES—PLAY-BY-PLAY

CHICAGO — Play-by-play description of the sixth game of the world series follows:

FIRST INNING

Dodgers: Gilliam was called out on strikes. Neal, after taking two called strikes and a ball, singled to centre. Moon flied to Landis, Neal holding first. Snider, after working the count to 3 and 2, walked, Neal going to second. Hodges grounded into a force play, Phillips to Fox.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

White Sox: Aparicio, after taking a called strike and fouling off two pitches, grounded out, Neal to Hodges. Fox lined Podres' second pitch to Moon. Landis beat out a slow ground ball near the third base line for a single. Podres fielded the ball just inside the foul line, but his throw to Hodges was too late. Lollar forced Landis at second, Wills to Neal.

SECOND INNING

Dodgers—Larker walked on five pitches. Roseboro flied to McAnany. Fox charged in on the infield grass for Wills' slow grounder and threw him out, Larker advancing to second. Podres flied to Landis in right centre.

THIRD INNING

Dodgers: Gilliam flied to Smith, who made a running catch in the left field centre. Neal struck out. Moon walked on five pitches. Snider hit a home run into the lower stands in left centre, scoring Moon ahead of him to put the Dodgers in front 2-0. The drive carried about 390 feet. It was Snider's 11th home run of series competition, tieing him with Mickey Mantle of the Yankees for second place. Babe Ruth hit 15. Snider's two runs-batted-in gave him a total of 26, a record for National League world series players. Lou Gehrig of the Yankees had 35. Hodges popped to Fox.

Two runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

FOURTH INNING

Dodgers: Larker lined a single to centre. Don Demeter ran for Larker. Roseboro sacrificed, Wynn to Kluszewski. Wills slashed a single through the middle of the diamond, scoring Demeter. Podres scored Wills all the way from first with a 400-foot double that hit the centre-field fence on one bounce.

Moon hit the first pitch for a home run into the lower stands in right-centre, some 400 feet away, scoring Neal with the Dodgers' fifth and sixth runs of the inning and sending Donovan to the showers. Turk Lown, a right-hander, replaced Donovan.

Snider bounced out to Kluszewski, unassisted.

Hodges beat out a dribbler past the mound and went to second on Aparicio's low throw past first.

Six runs, six hits, one error, one left.

White Sox: Demeter went to centre for Los Angeles and Snider moved over to right. Fox fouled out to Wills behind third base. Podres' second pitch hit Landis on the back of the head. Landis dropped to the ground but got up immediately, apparently unhurt. The ball hit the protective helmet. Lollar walked.

Kluszewski crashed a line-drive home run into the upper right field stands, scoring Landis and Lollar ahead of him, to narrow the Dodgers' lead to 8-3. It was Kluszewski's third home run of the series, all at Comiskey Park.

Kluszewski's 10 runs-batted-in in this series equalled the mark set by Yogi Berra in 1956. Smith walked on five pitches.

Larry Sherry replaced Podres.

Aparicio popped to Wills.

Three runs, two hits, no errors, three left.

FIFTH INNING

Dodgers—Goodman went to third, Phillips moved to right field and Staley went to the mound for the White Sox. Roseboro flied to Phillips, who made the catch with his back against the wall in the right-field corner.

The report from the field was that Dressen was yelling at plate umpire Frank Dascoli while Torgeson was at bat and was ordered to be quiet by Hurley. When Dressen told Hurley to do the same, Hurley thumbled him off the bench.

White Sox—Fox doubled inside first base, the ball rolling to the right field boxes. Snider made a fine running catch of Landis' blooper in short right, Fox holding second. Lollar flied to Demeter in deep centre. Fox holding second. Hodges gloved Kluszewski's hot smash and stepped on first for the putout.

SIXTH INNING

Dodgers: Neal popped to Kluszewski. Staley fielded Moon's drag bunt to the right of the mound and just managed to tag the runner a step before he reached the bag. Moon and manager Alston argued the call by Hurley, but made no progress. Lollar grabbed Snider's tap in front of the plate and threw him out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SEVENTH INNING

Dodgers: Aparicio made a nice stop to his right of Hodges' grounder and threw him out. Demeter singled to centre. Roseboro flied to Phillips. Demeter was out attempting to steal, Lollar to Aparicio.

No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

White Sox: John Romano batted for Staley and bounced out, Wills to Hodges. Aparicio lined a single to left. Fox lined to Moon. Landis hit a one-bouncer to Gilliam, who threw to Neal, forcing Aparicio at second.

EIGHTH INNING

Dodgers: Southpaw Billy Pierce went to the mound for the White Sox. Wills grounded out to Kluszewski. Sherry singled to left for his second hit. Gilliam lined to Smith. Neal singled to right. Sherry stopping at second. It began to rain and the box-holders began moving under the stands for protection. Moon struck out.

NINTH INNING

Chuck Essegian batted for Snider and hit Moore's first pitch into the lower left field stands for a home run. He is the first player in world series history to hit two home runs as a pinch-hitter. He also homered as a pinch-hitter in the second game.

Aparicio made a backhanded stop of Hodges' grounder and threw him out. Demeter struck out. Roseboro fouled to Lollar.

One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

White Sox: Ron Fairly went to right field for the Dodgers. Sherry threw out Goodman. Norm Cash batted for Moore and lined to Demeter in centre. Aparicio flied to Moon.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

'Dotto' Rigged, Too

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former contestant testified today that the now-defunct television quiz show, "Dotto," was rigged to permit him to win $11,600 and he then was ordered to "take a dive."

David Huschle, young manager of a New York City restaurant, gave the testimony to a House subcommittee investigating the operations of the once popular TV quiz shows.

The House group previously has heard testimony from former contestants, and publicity agents that NBC's old "21" quiz show was rigged by giving contestants questions and answers in advance.

Huschle said Gil Cates, assistant producer, supplied him in advance with answers to all questions and also told him the identity of the person he was required to name to win at "Dotto."

Huschle said Cates told him the identity of the picture in advance except on his last appearance when he was under orders to lose even if he knew the identity of the picture.

Huschle testified that Cates contended it was necessary for him to lose after amassing winnings of $11,600 because the show had a budget allowance limited to $10,000 a week for prizes.

Huschle told the House group that when he was subpoenaed to appear before the New York county grand jury, he telephoned Cates and told him he was going to "tell the truth." Cates replied "That's fine. That's what we'd expect you to do."

As the hearing entered its third day, investigators indicated that Charles Van Doren, who gained national fame as a $129,000 winner on NBC's "21," might be invited to testify.

The subcommittee turned to the operations of "Dotto" after it had questioned the co-producer of "21" and his aide into the early morning hours behind closed doors.

The investigators were told Wednesday that the producer of the NBC quiz show Tic Tac Dough has been fired because he refused to swear to the network that contestants had not been given advance answers.

Thomas E. Ervin, a vice-president of the National Broadcasting Co. identified the ousted producer as Howard Felsher. The show itself is still on the air.

"I asked him (Felsher) to give me a sworn statement that he had not given answers to contestants," the NBC official said. "He said he couldn't and we fired him."

Meanwhile Attorney Edwin Slote today denied as "wholly unfounded and born out of desperation and personal animosity" testimony that he had advised a client to lie to officials investigating the quiz show.

Public relations man Alfred Davis told the House subcommittee Wednesday he had been advised to lie by Slote about "21".

Mob Violence Feared in Iraq

Kassem was shot three times but the Iraqi government said he suffered only minor wounds.

The 45-year-old revolutionary leader was fired on Wednesday by an unidentified gunman during his regular afternoon drive down Baghdad's main street. Official announcements did not link the assailant who apparently escaped —with any group.

Unconfirmed rumors in Cairo said one and possibly two officers in Kassem's escort were killed and several others were injured in the attack.

Kassem assured the populace of his well-being in a radio broadcast Wednesday night from his hospital bed. He blamed the attack "on traitors who wanted to get rid of me so the people would be without leadership."

He told the people:

"I am ready to die for you."

VOICE WEAK

The premier's voice sounded weak and depressed. Listeners thought he must have been in pain.

Radio Baghdad, quoting a medical bulletin, said Kassem was hit three times but his wounds were superficial. The worst resulted from a shot in his upper left arm that broke a bone.

A curfew was clamped on Baghdad and its suburbs. Schools were ordered closed today. Army units in and around the Iraqi capital were placed on the alert.

Military governor Ahmed Saleh Abdi banned all demonstrations in Iraq and prohibited the assembling of five or more persons.

FIRST ATTEMPT

The assassination attempt was the first against Kassem since he seized power July 14, 1958, in a revolution that overthrew the pro-western monarchy and took the lives of young King Faisal and Premier Nuri Said.

No More Forms At U.S. Border

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians entering the United States on pleasure trips no longer have to fill out automobile customs permits at the border.

A revenue department spokesman said Wednesday night the permits have been abolished in a move to streamline and speed up operations at border points.

The change was effective Oct. 1 at border points across the country. Prior to that date travellers to the U.S., on leaving Canada, declared the accessories carried on their cars.

They were handed forms on which to check off such items as heater, radio, spotlight. This was so they would not be assessed duty on the accessories when re-entering Canada.

The Unanswered Questions

First, if the Peace River is to be harnessed for electrical power what does the provincial Government intend to give the promoters—what land, forests, minerals and franchises?

Mr. Bennett has repeatedly assured the public that no concessions of this sort have been given to Mr. Wenner-Gren and his associates—not yet, anyway. But now that the northern surveys are complete and the promoters intend to borrow huge sums from the investing public, is the Government planning to give them no concessions? Until that question is answered it is impossible to judge the Wenner-Gren scheme as a matter of public policy.

Second, if about a million horse-power of power is to be developed on the Peace, where is it to be sold, and at what price?

In the fine print of a recent statement by Mr. W. C. Mainwaring, president of the Peace River Power Development Company, some extremely vague answers are given to these questions.

Mr. Mainwaring says his company can put power into Vancouver at the cost of existing power there, or less. This only begs the real point.

The price of power in Vancouver, in Victoria and the whole metropolitan area of British Columbia is extremely high, compared to that of many North American areas, including the adjacent State of Washington. The B.C. Electric does not deny the well-known figures but says they are due to the relatively high cost of its operations.

It is no good, therefore, to say that Peace River power will cost no more, and perhaps a little less, than existing power if we can get really cheap power from another source.

We can get that cheap power, some of the cheapest in America, from the Columbia River. No one denies that either.

Mr. Mainwaring says, however, that the Columbia power scheme will be delayed for some ten years at least, by international wrangling. His whole case for relatively expensive Peace River power is based on the assumption that the Columbia cannot be developed in time to meet our needs.

Assuming that he is wrong, that the Columbia can be developed as fast as the Peace, it would be folly indeed to commit the industrial future of the British Columbia coast to high-price power, just because the Wenner-Gren promoters want to go ahead with their scheme and because Mr. Bennett has committed his political future to their success.

To the question thus raised General A. G. L. McNaughton, Canada's able representative on the International Joint Commission, has given an answer. He tells The Vancouver Province that Columbia development could begin within a year. If so, power can flow from the Columbia as soon as it can flow from the Peace or sooner, and at a much lower price. Whom are we to believe—the promoters who are out to make money or a great public servant who has nothing to gain for himself?

Another large question is raised but not answered by Mr. Mainwaring. He says that whatever happens in Vancouver he can sell his power to the United States, in a "seller's market" where desperate consumers will pay prices much higher than those prevailing there now. To that end the Peace River promoters already have protested the existing federal taxation arrangements covering exported power. It is clear that they are building their whole scheme largely on power exports.

Assuming that the Americans will buy Peace River power at a relatively high price (in itself a remarkable assumption) what about the long-standing policy of all Canadian Governments?

Since the King Government came to office after the First World War, Canadian Governments have always refused to permit power exports, except in small quantities and in special, temporary circumstances.

As part of that policy the St. Laurent Government cancelled the famous Kaiser Dam scheme on the Columbia, despite Mr. Bennett's furious protest, and then, to make sure that nothing of the sort would happen again, re-wrote the relevant legislation, assuring itself, beyond doubt, of the right to allow or forbid power exports, or their equivalent in water.

When Mr. Mainwaring talks of exporting huge quantities of power from the Peace does he have any assurance that the present Federal Government will permit them? Does he know that the firm national policy of nearly forty years will be repealed? Has he cleared his scheme with Mr. Diefenbaker before he makes his deal with Mr. Bennett and invites the public to invest in it?

These are some of the hard questions raised by Mr. Mainwaring (though by no means all of them) but they have not been answered, in Victoria or in Ottawa. And they may not be answered unless the Legislature in Victoria and Parliament in Ottawa insist on answers before it is too late.

The Wary Partners

THE WEST HAS NOTED WITH keen interest an apparent rift between Moscow and Peking. While recently visiting Red China, Mr. Khrushchev made three major statements of Russia's peaceful intent, and called upon all countries to avoid aggressive and warlike actions. "The people will not stand for such things," he said.

It was made very obvious that Red China's spokesmen did not publicly support these sentiments. Mr. Khrushchev seemed to be deliberately making the point about peace, either as an invitation to Red China to agree with him or as a reprimand for recent Chinese actions—in Tibet, on the Indian border and in Laos—which may have embarrassed him on the eve of his visit to the United States.

Neither Mao Tse-Tung, Chou En-lai nor any other Peking official gave Mr. Khrushchev the verbal endorsement which usually follows such generalized declarations among the communist fraternity. And on leaving Red China, the Soviet visitor made no references to Chinese support for his peace campaign as he normally would have if if this had been forthcoming.

This is tenuous material from which to build a theory of friction between the communist partners. But it could well be an indication that all is not automatically harmonious within the communist world.

It has even been suggested in some quarters that Mr. Khrushchev's wish to talk personally with President Eisenhower was based on a long-term fear of the slowly waking giant on his southern frontier, and a desire to lay the basis for an eventual alliance in the West as a counterbalance for Red China's future strength.

That would be in line with the possibility suggested by Mr. Bertrand Russell this week, that Russia and the United States may some day find themselves united against Red China. Such a development would be in the far and misty future, but stranger bedfellows have sought safety from a common danger—and stranger lions have lain down with stranger lambs, even when there was no agreement among them as to which was which.

$15,000 for What?

MR. ROBERT STRACHAN says that "In the secrecy of the executive council chamber the premier now has dipped into the pocket of every taxpayer in British Columbia to make them pay for his vanity in peddling the false story that British Columbia is debt free."

The bill is $15,000.

The executive council has approved the payment for "advertising and other expenditures" connected with the so-called elimination of the net debt.

Mr. Strachan says, and offers a figure of $90,000,000 as evidence, that the direct debt isn't paid off, let alone the indirect debt of about half a billion.

The inference, if not the direct charge, is that the premier has tapped the public till to publicize the greater glory of the premier and his political party.

This is a pretty serious statement. It conceivably could be refuted by an itemized account from Mr. Bennett detailing the legitimate expenditure of the $15,000.

If Mr. Bennett has actually used the money to propagandize Social Credit's administration, a highly improper action has been taken.

Under the circumstances he should detail the items involved in the $15,000 payment. The public is entitled to know how its money is being spent.

Echoes of the War on Sussex Drive

IT is cheering to infer, from the editorial columns of The Ottawa Journal, that the capital of Canada is on the verge of riot and civil war—not over any issue as trivial as the policies of the national government but over the destruction of "a fine old building on Sussex Drive that is being razed to make room for a gas station." Nothing, surely, could better justify the civic fury of The Journal editors and the division of the town into two hostile camps in battle array. For "the fine old building" on Sussex Drive (if I remember my geography) stands hard by the splendid residence of the Prime Minister and, in its humbler fashion, symbolizes the same thing—the nation's capacity to govern itself and plan its future in a reasonable fashion.

Hutchison

THE former Government showed a sense of reason, a respect for the past and a vision of the future, when it remodeled an old mansion to house the prime minister. The present Government is showing the same intelligence in refusing to demolish the absurd, ugly and beloved West Block on Parliament Hill because it, too, is a major symbol, a relic of Confederation, even if its interior arrangements are hopelessly out of date.

As one who has not always shouted his praises of the Diefenbaker Government from the housetops but has worshipped it discreetly a little this side of idolatry, I hasten to raise a tiny cheer for the decision to keep the West Block intact and remodel it inside without disturbing a single one of its mellow outside stones, each of them invisibly enforcing the structure of the nation.

(I am not too sure about the plan to connect that old pile with the Centre Block by subterranean tunnel and a trolley car of some sort, like that in the Washington Capitol, but I suppose that even old-fashioned conservatives like Mr. Diefenbaker and me must yield something to progress.)

THE threatened building on Sussex Street, the West Block and the great plan to surround Ottawa with a Green Belt as a capital worthy of the nation are all part of a larger problem touching every city, town and village in the land: Can we halt the drift of civic squalor, cure the disease of urban elephantiasis and plan a nation worthy of its people?

This raises an even more fundamental question: Are the people worthy of anything better than they are getting in their ill-planned, sprawling and hideous cities, all of them rotting at the centre and adding new layers of growth on the perimeter as a doomed tree tries to cover its dying heart?

VIRTUALLY every large North American town is in the same state but a few of them at least are curing their disease by organic surgery. They are cutting out the dead tissue at the centre and transplanting there the healthy cells of open, sunny spaces, malls, parks and actually living trees.

But whenever such a life-saving operation is attempted there are always men and interests determined to prevent it, there are lawsuits, injunctions, referenda, elections and all the familiar tactics of delay until the city planners lose heart and move to the suburbs, where the same old process will start again.

Even if we manage somehow to save our cities and make them fit to live in, there remains a larger problem. Assuming that the cities are well planned from now on—a wildly optimistic assumption—they are spreading and ravening through some of the nation's most valuable farm lands, the future source of the cities' food.

MR. Donald Coyl, president of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards, calls for a royal commission to study the preservation of choice farm land before it is too late.

It is almost too late already in the case of the lush Niagara Peninsula where the magalotropolis of Toronto and Hamilton is spreading factories, houses and concrete speedways across the ancient orchard lands of the U.E. Loyalists. It is later than you think in the case of the Fraser Valley, where, at the present rate, the whole milkshed of Vancouver from the sea to Hope will soon be packed solid and its residents will be importing their milk from Washington State.

The same thing is likely to happen, later on, to the Saanich Peninsula around Victoria. But this is nothing new in civilization. The same thing happened to Rome until it went broke trying to feed itself out of northern Africa.

THE state's attempt to plan private business is a doubtful experiment when most states can't even plan their own business very well and probably is impossible in a free society anyway. To plan cities, however, to plan the conservation of land, our most priceless asset, is another thing entirely. As a little local test of such planning I hope they save the fine old house on Sussex Drive and reduce the blood pressure of The Ottawa Journal.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Monotonous

In the older residential section of Greater Victoria one is charmed by the variety of the architecture: rarely are any two houses alike. But in many of the newly built-up areas the same type of house is repeated again and again. It has a flat front, two small windows on one side of the front door and one large window on the other side.

"For heaven's sake why?" asked a tourist of me last week. "There are so many attractive front elevations." I could not answer him, I wonder if any of your readers can.

SPECTATOR.

Strings on Pensioners

Some time has elapsed since I last wrote about the plight of our old age pensioners (i.e., those who desire to live outside of Canada).

For the past year or two I have at intervals written to various members of Parliament in Ottawa (and there must be others) to those in authority, and who have power to do something about the six months leave of absence limit from Canada in any one year, a requirement to be eligible for old age pension. One receives the usual diplomatic reply, and awaits results, time passes and no change materializes.

I have repeatedly pointed out that many of our pensioners are the pioneers who have done a really hard job of work under difficult circumstances; unlimited hours with low pay, building up this great Dominion of ours which so many enjoy, and now in the days of their retirement are denied the privilege of living where they would be happiest for the remaining years left to them.

The greater number have their families, or others who are dear to them right here in Canada and would not wish to live elsewhere even if they could. The few who would wish to do so are as a drop in the bucket in comparison. It's a poor reward for work well done—such a penalty is unreasonable.

I would like to point out the old age pensioners from the Old Country can live where they wish without question (I know some who are living here in Canada and the U.S.A.) and receive their pension.

Furthermore there are others from Britain and the colonies, who have chosen to retire here and who are receiving quite good pensions in sterling from other sources, bringing in hundreds of thousands in dollars annually, from which the Dominion benefits.

Is it not time the federal government reciprocated and allowed her pensioners to enjoy the same benefits? What about it Ottawa?

Open Doors Wider

With reference to your editorial words on Minister Green's statement that Canada is prepared to accept "100 families or more" of sickly refugees from Europe which, in your opinion, should "ease the conscience of one of the world's rich nations" (Canada).

You play with words, Sir. It is my opinion that if 1,000 families, duly warned, want to take their chance on the rigors of this country rather than continue as they are, then we should let them into this great empty wilderness. They should give us opportunity to recall our diminishing neighborliness and to broaden thoughts. To speak of Mr. Green's number as "an example which might inspire similar action in other countries" is frightening in its implications. No other country can act as we could. I don't imply that we should extend a welcome hand to all in the world who desire a new home—to the great danger of creating chaos and savagery—but 30,000 homeless survivors of the European war, if not as many more from the Oriental theatre, seems a modest enough influx to this land in this world of today.

You say, "it's a start." Let us hope it is just that for we must be righteous leaders, not leaders who look for others right behind.

FROM OTTAWA:

Blast at The Banks

By VICTOR MACKIE

PRIME Minister Diefenbaker's blast against the banks was an old political dodge. If in doubt clobber the banks. It has worked before for other politicians in trouble and it may work again. But the prime minister's attack was badly timed. It came when small borrowers are finding it easier to get loans, compared with the difficulties they had been encountering in earlier weeks. At least that is the word from financial experts here. They say that any move by banks to favor the big borrower over the farmer and small businessman had ended some time before the prime minister went on the air to warn the banks to change their lending policies.

Mackie

Better Position

The banks had been putting pressure on the big borrowers to pay up their loans and go elsewhere for credit. As a result of this pressure the general loans of the chartered banks have gone down by more than $70,000,000.

Upshot is that the banks are now in a better position to provide loans to small borrowers, merchants, fishermen and the farmers.

There was a period earlier this year when the banks were in a spot trying to find money to make it available to would-be small borrowers. This came about because they had failed to restrict loans to the big borrowers.

They had taken steps to correct this situation long before the prime minister made his pitch via television and radio warning of counter-action by the government if the banks did not act.

Blame

The financial experts here claim it is not entirely fair to place the blame for tight money on the banks. They say that tight money has come about largely because of the great increase in the demand for credit due to the rapidly expanding economy.

To try and keep the upsurge in the economy from developing into an unrestricted boom the Bank of Canada has been holding down the lid on the amount of money available. The demand for credit has greatly exceeded the supply.

This coupled with the tendency of the banks at first to provide funds for large borrowers had brought about the tight money situation. The banks have recognized now the needs of the small borrowers and are taking steps to meet those needs, the experts say.

Fire Bomb

When the Russian embassy was fire bombed recently as a protest against Premier Khrushchev's visit to the United States some liquid other than high octane gasoline was used. This much the police investigations have disclosed. The flames were so intense that the motors of two embassy limousines were melted out of their chassis.

Six of the embassy staff fought the fire for half an hour. When they finally extinguished it they were suffering extreme nausea and coughing blood. This was due to the extreme heat and the noxious fumes.

The four-car garage in the embassy basement was transformed by the intensity of the fire into what police described as a "huge bomb." It might have blown up the north wing of the building had not the windows burst, releasing the pressure.

Early Morning

The explosion woke the embassy staff remaining on the premises at night. It occurred at 3.45 a.m. Ottawa time. Five or more gallons of a highly volatile and combustible liquid had been poured into a flaming stream under the steel garage doors. But the embassy staff was ready to fight fire. In the garage were 15 fire extinguishers and six bushel baskets of flake asbestos.

The six embassy fire-fighters fought hard to keep the flames from the gasoline tanks of the limousines and they succeeded. If they had not succeeded more than 50 gallons of gasoline would have gone up with an explosion that would have torn that section of the embassy apart.

Mixed Metaphors

The collectors of mixed metaphors like to keep an eye on speeches made by Prime Minister Diefenbaker. He sometimes comes up with a dandy. The most recent was the induction of Governor-General George Vanier. "This ceremony today," said Mr. Diefenbaker solemnly, "Marks another milestone in the unifying crucible of Canadian history."

MORE HASTE LESS SPEED

Of all the countries in Southeast Asia, Malaya, even on the isolated east coast, is outstanding for its roads and garages and the friendliness of its people; it's only that you must have patience, and must avoid this Western vice of being in a hurry, of wanting to finish a set program in a given time. It's the people who always insist on doing that who seem to grow weary in the tropics and suffer the most from prickly heat.

RESTLESS EARTH

Although one thinks of the earth as quite a rigid body, it is, in fact, affected just as the sea is, by the moon and the sun. A sort of daily tide. A very small movement of the earth—a pulsation you might call it—does take place.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

By RUTH ENKE

No Flowers, by Request

MONDAY'S Times had a story about Ross Bay possibly requiring a $2,500,000 fund for maintenance if the Public Utilities Commission gets legislation passed that would force all municipal cemeteries to raise their standards to those imposed on commercial burial parks.

Ruth

The story made me think, not of Ross Bay especially, but of the disposal of bodies in general and of my own in particular.

And today though the disposal of bodies is a dreary subject I want to put down what I feel about the disposal of my body after my eventual death. I do it because I am reasonably certain that my thoughts on this subject are shared by many others of my generation.

As I see it, what's left after my death will only be the familiar hulk of flesh which for years housed the spark of life that was me.

I don't want that hulk preserved. I don't want it disposed of with expensive pomp and ceremony. I don't want friends to grieve for me.

I don't want that empty hulk to cost people money after I myself have left it. I definitely don't want cut flowers withering and rotting on a grave.

If friends want to give flowers, then let them give flowers to hospitals, to "shut-ins," to anyone who'd get comfort, strength or courage from an unexpected gift of flowers.

If they don't want to give flowers especially, then I'd like them to give the flower-money to some worthy cause. The real friends would know which causes I preferred. The others could give to any cause which, in their opinion, helped humanity.

* * *

As to the actual body, I suppose that if we were truly fine we'd will our bodies to a university that has a faculty of medicine. It might be hard on our friends and relatives to think of us being slapped about by a bunch of loud-mouthed medical students. But I feel that is something they should bear for the sake of humanity. Because, even if giving one's body to the department of anatomy were to help make one young doctor to ease pain or save just one life perhaps 30 years from now, the final indignity of the dissecting table would be justified.

If one's courage and humanitarian principles were not great enough for this, however, it seems to me that cremation would be quite the best method of disposal.

With cremation, there would be no taking up of precious ground, and no expensive plot to care for. I'd like to think, though, that a small portion of the cremation charge would be set aside for a quiet, pretty garden unmarked by death. Unlike a burying ground, such a place would do for thousands of us.

* * *

I know that this is a controversial and painful subject. But I also know that most of us have a horror of being a burden or a bother to those who will come after us.

Sensible Reduction Diet

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic
and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

In "The American Heart" for Summer, 1959, Sylvia Schur gave 10 commandments on how to reduce weight. Paraphrased a bit they are, (1) eat each day at least one serving of meat, poultry or fish with some servings of vegetables, a salad, or a tomato, and some fruit. A glass of skim milk and an egg will supply a number of the important elements in the diet. Miss Schur advises some bread and cereal, but I find that the the day I eat some bread and cereal my weight is likely to go up. (2) Eliminate sweets, and so far as is possible, fats. I eat practically no butter and cut all the fat off my meat. (3) In summer, eat often a piece of melon or some berries. It will keep the dieter from getting too bored and unhappy or famished. (4) Don't skip meals. Many a woman who has decided to reduce rapidly, so as to get back a beau or a husband, has cut out breakfast and luncheon only to find that by supper time she is so hungry that she eats enough for two people, and gains weight.

Alvarez

Many a person on a reduction diet is wise to nibble in the middle of the morning and the afternoon on carrot stick or celery stalks or on a pickle or a tomato. She had better not nibble on bread or crackers. A nibbler on bread, or a raider of the refrigerator says, "Doctor, at the table I don't eat much," but she gains weight. (5) Slice foods thin. This causes the ration of meat to look bigger than it is. (6) Miss Schur thinks it well to eat slowly so as to take more time at the meal. (7) Taste and try to enjoy everything you eat; enjoy every scrap of it. (8) Use a small plate so that your portion will look bigger. (9) Don't be too fearful of potatoes; it is the butter and cream and milk put on them that runs up the weight. (10) Keep facing the fact that you must keep dieting for the rest of your days.

I would be inclined to add (11) Don't try to reduce with a drug. If you do, you'll try to cheat, always hoping that the medicine will save you. It won't. Better that you face the fact that if you overeat you will gain. (12) Get on the scales every morning before breakfast. If you have gained a pound, you'll know you have eaten too much, and will just have to cut down. There can be no alibis as to that.

In an effort to find out if the great susceptibility of heavy smokers to cancer of the lung could be related to the inborn characteristics of the patient than to his smoking, Dr. A. M. Lilienfeld studied the reports of a census of a sample of the adult population of Buffalo in which groups of cigaret smokers and non-smokers were matched by age, sex, race and social class. This comparison indicated that smokers differ from non-smokers in that more often they marry, they move their residences, they change their jobs, they go to hospitals, and they participate in sports. Any physician of large experience would expect heavy smokers to be nervous persons of the type who greatly crave relief from their inner tensions. As some heavy smokers say, just to be fiddling with something in their fingers helps them greatly. I remember an executive of 40 who, after having been a chain smoker for most of his life was compelled to quit smoking because of serious disease that had started up in his arteries. While in Japan he bought himself a perfect replica, in ivory, of a cigaret, burning at one end, and he told me that he got comfort from having it always between his fingers.

ONLY ONE PARTY SPOKE

Perrault Scores CCF-Labor Tie

All four major political parties should have been heard at the B.C. Federation of Labor convention before delegates were asked to decide which to support, B.C. Liberal leader Ray Perrault said Wednesday.

Premier Bennett also was critical of the call by George Home, CLC political education director, for labor to defeat the government. The premier said, "Working people who think for themselves will not allow labor bosses who are only thinly disguised politicians, to think for them."

Speaking from Courtenay where he was speaking on the same platform with Paul Hellyer, MP, former Liberal cabinet minister, Mr. Perrault said he was "hot" about the declared CCF-BCFL allegiance.

"This announcement was no surprise to anyone. The convention was rigged by ambitious CCF politicians in the labor movement to swing the trade union treasury behind the CCF," he said.

Mr. Perrault said he had attended some of the BCFL sessions as an observer. "Of course, I was not invited to say one word. It is significant that no other party but the CCF was invited to present its views on the labor problem.

"The convention was carefully stage-managed. Hazen Argue and other CCF speakers monopolized the convention."

The Liberal leader said he felt this action was not in keeping with trade union policies of protecting free speech and democracy. "It is unthinkable that one political party should be allowed to completely dominate an important convention of this kind, to the exclusion of the minister of labor, the Conservative party and our Liberal party.

"All of these organizations should have been heard before the delegates were asked to make a decision." He said he was certain nonetheless, trade unionists will vote as they want, "and not according to the dictates and pressures of power-hungry professional politicians. . ."

Pool Win $705,810

LONDON (Reuters) — Twenty-one RAF men and three civilians at an air base in England learned Tuesday they have won £252,075 ($705,810) in a soccer betting pool.

The air force arranged for the winners to be flown to London to receive their money. All of them invested in a co-operative entry on the pools—turning the trick of picking eight games that ended in ties and coupling them in one bet.

Labor Pledges Support to CCF In B.C. Election

VANCOUVER (CP) — An informal marriage of organized labor and the CCF party in British Columbia has been completed with the pledge of the B.C. Federation of Labor to give full support to the CCF in the next provincial election.

But the 120,000-member labor group, at its convention Wednesday, made it clear the alignment will end with the formation of a new left-of-centre labor party which the Canadian Labor Congress and the CCF now are trying to build.

JOE MORRIS
. . . until new party

In an unrecorded vote Wednesday, about 350 of the 400 delegates approved a committee recommendation of support including a voluntary $1 financial donation from each member for the CCF in the next B.C. general election.

The political education committee made the recommendation "because the national constitution of the proposed new political party cannot be fully ratified before 1961" and because a provincial election will come before the new party could become an effective force.

VOTE NEXT YEAR

CCF leaders expect an election next spring. Premier Bennett, whose Social Credit government's labor legislation seemed the springboard for the federation-CCF marriage, says he prefers 1961.

Approval of the political partnership came after four hours of debate and followed by six months its endorsment by the CCF.

Debate made it obvious that not all trade unionists affiliated with the federation can be expected to subscribe to the $1 financial pledge—no regular union dues will be used for political action—nor to support the party at the polls on election day.

But it also was apparent that trade unionists are almost unanimous in believing their primary task in B.C. is to bring about the defeat of the present government or face legislation which would strangle the trade union movement.

Opposition to the committee recommendation revolved around whether the action was in opposition to the parent CLC's position—to encourage formation of a new party and to encourage participation directly by local unions and individual unionists but to refuse to affiliate, as a body, with one political party.

Bill Black, retiring federation president; Joe Morris, Western Canada head of the International Woodworkers, and Pat O'Neal, federation secretary, were among union leaders who urged full CCF support in the next election.

HALF MEASURES

"If we leave this convention saying the CCF merely warrants our support and we are not prepared to do something about it, then we're facing the task with tongue in cheek," Mr. Black said.

The CCF, Mr. Morris said, is the only party labor can support.

"How long are we going to lie on the ground and get our heads kicked in by the people of the ruling class of this nation?" he asked.

Most opposition came from members of the building trades, which traditionally have opposed direct political action. Speakers for the Carpenters, Tunnel and Rock Workers and Ironworkers unions said their members would not contribute financially.

But Russ St. Elio of the Plumbers union said: "The building trades have to get off the fence."

GREEN ASKS WORLD-WIDE ACTION

Radiation Study Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—External Affairs Minister Green Wednesday outlined Canada's plans for a world-wide study on radiation and its implications for human health.

Stating that the radiation proposal has emerged as one of Canada's main contributions to the 14th United Nations General Assembly, the minister said he hopes for co-sponsorship from 12 or 15 countries in this new move in the problems of the atomic era.

WORLD COLLECTION

Green told Canadian correspondents at a press conference Canada's idea comprises inviting the World Meteorological Organization in consultation with the UN scientific committee to recommend arrangements to ensure the world-wide collection of samples required for determining the amounts and rates of radioactive fallout.

GENUINE CONCERN

Green said in answer to questions it is too early to estimate probable costs but that scientists are generally agreed that the radiation issue is of genuine concern around the world.

In a statement outlining two major objectives, he said the proposal seeks:

"To stimulate worldwide interest in a problem that will be with us through the atomic era and to encourage further scientific investigation into the extent of the hazard it may present.

SOLID BASIS

"To suggest a method by which standardized, comparable data can be acquired to form a solid basis for laboratory research into genetic effects."

Inevitably the proposal was linked to disarmament because of fallout from nuclear tests—now suspended by all the big powers—but Green emphasized it stands alone as an attack on a problem of concern to all mankind.

No Decontamination

WASHINGTON (AP)—Levels of radioactive fallout from past nuclear tests do not justify action to decontaminate milk supplies, the United States agriculture department said Tuesday.

Treasury Bill Intervention 'Justified'

TORONTO (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming said today that events have "fully justified" the government's action in intervening last August in the routine weekly sale of government treasury bills.

He said the "bold and unusual action" by the government on Aug. 20 in rejecting a number of high-interest bids for the bills has been followed by a settling down of the treasury bill market to "a much more rational basis."

Mr. Fleming, in his speech to the Empire Club here, also said there is "no valid foundation for any suggestion" that the Bank of Canada interest rate has any significant relationship to interest rates charged by chartered banks.

banks not enlarged these lines of credit so substantially within the last year, they would not have encountered such sudden and severe pressures as those which developed this spring and summer."

Mr. Fleming also pointed to a sharp reduction this year in the amount of borrowing by corporations through bond issues. Corporate bond financing last year totalled $796,200,000. This year up to Aug. 24 this totalled only $197,000,000.

"Large corporations should be discouraged from using bank credit as semi-permanent capital. Large corporations, unlike small businesses, can and should raise their permanent capital by issuing additional securities into the market."

Mr. Fleming said he is "particularly concerned" that the credit needs of small borrowers should not suffer "in the keen competition which exists for large and very profitable accounts."

He disclosed that he has "strongly pressed the banks, both orally and in writing, to give priority to the credit needs of farmers and of small business within the framework of their resources and good banking practice."

In a television address a week ago Prime Minister Diefenbaker suggested that banks "rearrange their outstanding loans" so that small borrowers wouldn't be "throttled."

Mr. Fleming said he has been shocked to find that "many businessmen are ready to lean on the government."

One complaint had been that someone in authority should have warned the banks and told them to restrict loans.

Mr. Fleming said that when he took office he told the banks he didn't believe in "bureaucratic interference" in their operations.

"The corollary of this belief is that in a free society those who discharge business functions should assume responsibility for their decisions and should not attempt to place responsibility or blame on others."

Dealing with inflation, he said there can be no compromise with it—creeping inflation or otherwise.

"Inflation is the enemy of growth. We should not be deceived when it for a time dons the disguise of growth."

If Canada doesn't maintain a stable currency while other principal countries do so, "we will most certainly be priced out of world markets, with results that will be a catastrophe for Canada."

Mr. Fleming said the rise in interest rates in Canada has resulted from two main influences: A large increase in new borrowings through sales of securities, and a heavy selling of bonds by the banks to get cash for making business loans.

Bank holdings of government bonds had fallen by $1,200,000,000 in the last 12 months. But the "encouraging corollary" was that public holdings of government bonds had risen by $2,000,000,000—up 26 per cent—in the same period.

Mr. Fleming said that as minister of finance he dislikes to pay high interest rates on government borrowings. "But the rates were dependent on the forces of supply and demand.

"It is a fact, however, that the prevailing high interest rates have not interfered with the processes of economic growth either in Canada or elsewhere."

The commercial fishing industry in Ontario provides employment for about 4,000 persons directly and many more indirectly.

FUGITIVES HUNTED IN MONTANA MOUNTAINS

Girls Held as Hostages

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Law officers scoured a snowy mountain area Wednesday for three California fugitives believed holding three teen-age girls as hostages since last Friday.

Sheriff Dave Middlemas described the men as "armed, desperate and dangerous—as bad as they come."

He said the girls, all from Helena, apparently joined the men voluntarily, but were forced to leave Helena with them against their will.

Middlemas said the party's car, a pink 1959 sedan, was last seen Monday between Deer Lodge and Anaconda.

Middlemas said the girls are Cecil Claudia Fuller, 17; Sharron Irene Balazs, 17, and Sherron Lee McDowell, 16.

He said two of the men escaped from a prison in Soledad, Calif., Sept. 11, and from a jail in Lynwood, near Los Angeles, Sept. 15. He said they joined the third man and took a car in Snohomish, Wash., Sept. 29.

In Butte, Harry Maynor, in charge of FBI Montana-Idaho operations, released the names of the three men he said were believed to be the same ones seen in Helena.

They were Frank Erwin Fisher, wanted in San Diego for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for burglary; George Roman Jann, 29, a Soledad Prison escapee, and Frank Henry Spicer, 24, another Soledad escapee.

Middlemas said the men were wearing "fancy cowboy clothes" when they arrived in Helena. He said the girls were horse lovers and apparently were fascinated when they met the men on the street.

RECORD STARS TO SHOW HERE

Modern music lovers can hear current record album favorites Martin Denny and his ensemble of five Friday and assist Boys Town B.C., at the same time.

The Denny group, makers of Quiet Village and Exotica, both best sellers, will appear at Royal Theatre.

Profits go to the new Boys Town B.C. ranch near Hope—a privately operated enterprise for maladjusted youngsters aged 13 to 19.

State Should Aid Major Charities

VANCOUVER (CP) Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, said Wednesday night organized labor thinks the state should eventually take over the majority of services now paid for by united appeals.

But he hastened to add in a talk to directors of 65 Community Chest services here there will always be room for private help.

"We favor state help for those organizations in the united appeal which are for the benefit of everyone.

"However, we know the human heart will always find room to help others. Everyone will always have his own pet charity he wants to give a bit more to."

Mr. Jodoin is here to attend the annual convention of the British Columbia Federation of Labor (CLC).

SKI SECRETARY

PLASTIC MAIL BOX MAY REPLACE METAL

CALGARY (CP) — Chances are you will soon be posting your letters in a plastic mail box instead of the familiar red metal ones.

Postmaster-General Hamilton said today his department plans to try out a "completely different," plastic box by the end of the year.

"If it is as successful as we expect it to be the problem of deterioration in appearance of these boxes will no longer exist," he told the Calgary Chamber of Commerce.

$180,000 Property Deals For Hospital Extensions

A $180,000 property aquisition for eventual expansion of Victoria's two Roman Catholic hospitals was announced today by Mother Provincial, Mother Mary Angelus, Sisters of St. Ann.

Glen Court, at the corner of Blanshard and Humboldt, was purchased last March by St. Joseph's Hospital, which is operated by the Sisters.

Negotiations are underway for purchase of the Angela Hotel on Burdett Avenue. Each property sale is reported to be in the neighborhood of a $90,000 transaction.

Glen Court will be demolished when leases expire at the end of this year and the property will be converted for parking. Eventually the site is expected to be used for construction of a new hospital wing.

The Angela property will form an extension of Mount St. Mary a hospital for the elderly bed-ridden operated by the Sisters on Burdett at Vancouver Street. This also is a $90,000 transaction. A house, also owned by the Sisters, separates the Angela Hotel from the present hospital.

Glen Court was opened in 1865 as the White Horse Hotel and Saloon. With prohibition in 1917, the hotel became a rooming house and changed its name.

The Angela was opened the same year as the White Horse, but it was an Anglican girls' school, named after Baroness Burdett Coutts who endowed it. It became a hotel after the turn of the century.

Vancouver Firm Wins Tax Appeal

OTTAWA (CP)—A Vancouver firm, Terminal Dock and Warehouse Co. Ltd., has won a tax appeal against the revenue department before the income tax appeal board.

The board reversed a department ruling and held that Robin Hood Flour Mills Ltd. is not a company "related" to the Vancouver firm for tax purposes, though holding 167,500 of its prior preference shares.

Pipe Line Company Wins Tax Battle

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada Tuesday allowed Interprovincial Pipe Line Company a Canadian tax credit of more than $1,000,000 paid in taxes to the United States treasury.

The Exchequer Court of Canada and the revenue department had disallowed the tax credit, for the years 1950-54, for taxes paid in the U.S. by Lakehead Pipe Line Company Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Interprovincial.

New Wage Proposal To Mine Strikers

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The strike-bound Kennecott Copper Corporation has offered the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union a wage package including a five-cent-an-hour increase.

Albert Skinner, Mine-Mill district director, said he presented the contract proposal Tuesday night to Local 392 in Magna, Utah. The local took no action.

The union had asked for an hourly wage increase of 15 cents and a package increase which the company said would cost 45 cents an hour.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Shows Drop Third Straight Day

Among industrials papers showed the best gains while most other groups were mixed. International Paper added 3¾ at 123¾, while Consolidated Paper and Price Brothers were ahead more than one point.

Strength in a few issues gave a speculative air to a narrowly mixed market at New York. Airlines rallied with gains of more than a point made by Pan-Am, American Airlines and Eastern Airlines. American Motors showed a two-point gain.

At Toronto — Senior base metals turned mixed after a poor start. Noranda and International Nickel were up ¼. Consolidated Denison lost ¼ at 21¾, while Falconbridge, Gunnar, Quemont and Steep Rock were down ⅛.

Among golds giant Yellowknife added 20 cents at $9.50, but Kerr-Addison dipped ⅛ at 20⅞ and several juniors lost pennies.

Canadian Husky slipped 25 cents at $9 and Dome was off 30 cents at $9.50 among Western oils. A number of seniors gave up small fractions.

At New York — Aluminium Ltd. and International Nickel lost ⅛ each, Distillers Seagrams, Hudson Bay Mining and Walker Gooderham lost ¼ each. Canadian Pacific rose ⅛ and Dome Mines ¼.

On the American Stock Exchange Canadian Marconi, Jupiter Oils and Scurry Rainbow Oil gained ⅛ each, while Shawinigan lost ⅛.

AT MONTREAL prices today were fractionally higher in quiet trading on the stock exchange. Industrial volume was the smallest in five weeks.

Banks were stronger, with ½-point gains by Nova Scotia at 73½ and Commerce at 60½. Montreal made ¼ at 55¼ and Toronto-Dominion improved ⅜ at 59⅞.

AT LONDON a heavy demand produced gains on the stock market today. Industrial equities were extremely active. There was a tremendous turnover in steel shares.

Some selective buying appeared in gold shares but the market generally was irregular. Copper and tin issues were higher and leading oil shares improved. Dollar stocks were lower.

PERISCOPE FOR CARS TO END BLIND SPOTS

OTTAWA (CP) — One of the next big developments in the design of automobiles may be better rear-view vision through the use of a special type of periscope.

W. Lewis Hyde of the American Optical Company, Southbridge, Mass., told the Optical Society of America here today that application of the idea to passenger cars now is being discussed with several large automobile companies.

BECOMES REGULAR CUSTOMER

Japan Sales Will Boost Coal Industry in West

OTTAWA (CP) — Japan has decided to become a regular customer for Western Canada coal.

W. E. Uren, chairman of the Dominion Coal Board, said in an interview Wednesday that representatives of three or four coal companies from Alberta and British Columbia will open negotiations in Tokyo late next month.

He said the new found market will give the sagging industry "a big lift." The federal government Monday set up a royal commission to investigate difficulties being experienced by coal producers throughout Canada.

The Tokyo talks will decide the amount of next year's sales. There is no indication yet of how much this will be, although Mr. Uren said it will be considerably more than Japan imported from Canada this year.

"VERY PLEASED"

The first shipment of Western coal went to Japan this year on an experimental basis. She took 100,000 tons of coking coal and 60,000 tons of anthracite to test their suitability for use in Japan's big and growing steel mills.

Mr. Uren said "they were very pleased."

The coal board chairman estimates that withing the next 10 years Japan's coal import requirements will grow to 1,000,000 tons annually.

However, he said, orders for next year may not meet initial hopes for two reasons:

1. Japan is just emerging from an economic recession;

2. United States producers are selling coal at bargain prices because their foreign sales are at a low ebb and their domestic market has been affected by the current long U.S. steel strike.

The steel strike also has affected sale of Western Canada coal in the U.S., but Mr. Uren said producers are optimistic and some miners are on a full five-day week while others are working abbreviated two or four-day weeks.

"If they ever settle the steel strike down in the States, they won't be in too bad shape," said Mr. Uren.

"I'm sure we'll get increased orders from Japan. Our coal is favorable and pretty cheap."

The Canadian government helped western producers go after the Japanese market last spring by increasing the federal subvention—or transportation subsidy on Crowsnest Pass coal by 50 cents to a maximum $4.50 a ton.

Companies to be represented at the Tokyo talks are Crows nest Pass Coal Company, Fernie, B.C.; Coleman Collieries, Coleman, Alta., and West Canadian Collieries, Blairmore, Alta., all producers of coking coal. A representative of an anthracite producer also may attend.

B.C. Cement Will Convert To Oil Use

Vancouver Island's waning coal industry came a step nearer to extinction when B.C. Cement Co. announced plans for conversion to oil at its large Bamberton cement plant.

The company said it will spend $350,000 to change its operations for use of a high residual oil which will be brought from California.

The move followed an announcement by Canadian Collieries that it will shut down its Tsable coal mines next year. Canadian Collieries has supplied Bamberton with coal for 40 years.

In announcing the changeover, B. F. Cox, general manager of B.C. Cement, said his firm may still use natural gas if it becomes available at competitive rates.

"Presently," he said, "the price of natural gas quoted by the two firms interested in bringing it to Vancouver Island (Magna and Island Transmission) can't compete with the price of oil we will use."

Mr. Cox said B.C. Cement would need oil as a standby source of fuel, even if natural gas comes to VI, since the gas would be provided initially on an interruptable basis.

The comapny has been awarded a contract to build two steel tanks, 120 feet in diameter and 42 feet high.

B.C. Cement plans to begin using oil about April 1, 1960, a month before its coal contract expires.

Mr. Cox said B.C. Cement is buying oil from California because no B.C. refineries manufacture the high-residual type of oil needed.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Continuing unfavorable harvest weather, including rain and snow prompted further aggressive demand for all grains today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Prices advanced in early tracing but eased off with selling at the top. No export business in Canadian flax was reported.

There was broad buying of barley, believed from shippers, and good demand for oats. Prices showed a firm tone. Rye trade was mostly of a commission house nature and prices were steady.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat were confined to 45,000 bushels to West Germany.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged from Wednesday.

CHICAGO (AP) — Profit takers moved into the grain futures market today, cashing in on recent strength in most board of trade commodities.

Early gains, especially in wheat and soybeans, were cut back late in the session on offerings attributed to profit taking.

Soybeans have advanced 10 cents or more a bushel recently as a result of unfavorable weather for harvesting.

U.K. Ford Profits Show 35% Increase

LONDON (Reuters) — The Ford Motor Company of Britain has announced that its profits for the first six months of this year had reached £9,000,000 after taxes.

This was a 35-per-cent increase over the preceding six months. The total net profit for 1958 was £13,300,000.

Sask. Helium Gas May Play Role in World Missile Race

NEW YORK (UPI) — The discovery of helium gas in south Saskatchewan may have a bearing on the missile race between the free world and the Communists, scientists said today.

Two major oil companies, British-American Petroleum of Canada and Sun Oil Co., already are in the helium exploration field in Saskatchewan and oil circles in New York hear another big oil company is about to seek helium exploration rights.

So far only "sizeable shows" of helium have been found on British-American's 171-thousand acre tract, but the company is stepping up exploration. Sun Oil Co. has just obtained the right to look for helium in 266 thousand acres at Swift Current, near the B-A tract.

Chief M. J. Ankeny of the U.S. bureau of mines says the shortage of helium has been a serious factor in both missile development and the further development of nuclear energy.

Helium gases are used in these programs for several purposes. They are used to make light alloys for jet planes and rockets and are essential to the production of zirconium and titanium, light metals used in missiles.

Helium gases also are important in the electronics industry where they are used as a refrigerant to cool "hot" metals used in making complex electronic devices. Liquefied helium gas also is used to keep oxygen, hyrogen and other gases in liquid state at extremely low temperatures.

This year, the bureau of mines estimates, the world use of helium gases will top 470-million cubic feet.

The new Canadian discovery of helium was accidental. Until it is brought into production, more than 90 per cent of the free world's production will continue to come from a field around Amerillo, Tex.

Tattoo Parlors Hit

NEW YORK (AP) — The city's six tattoo parlors were closed Tuesday as a possible source of the liver ailment, hepatitis. A 17-year-old boy died of the disease last week, some time after he underwent tatooing at Coney Island.

Victim Groaned, Died Accused Youth Relates

When 17-year-old Ronald William Webber fired a rifle at James C. Lusse, 55, the man groaned and gasped "I've had it!" Then he collapsed on the floor.

Webber said this on oath in Assize Court Wednesday when he left the prisoner's dock to give evidence in his own trial. He is charged with murdering Lusse at his mother's home at 1417 Camosun Street, on May 23 last.

Before he fired at Lusse, Webber said his mother had told him, repeatedly: "He is going to kill me, he is going to kill me."

He added that he told his mother to come into his bedroom in order to be safe from Lusse, who had been drinking.

LOCKED IN ROOM

They locked themselves in the room, hoping Lusse would leave the house. But he came up the stairs and started pounding on the door.

"If you don't open this door I will kill you," he shouted.

"I know he's going to kill me," Mrs. Webber said to her son.

WARNED OF RIFLE

"After that," Webber told the court, "I took my .22 rifle from the closet and put two shells in it. . . . I warned him I had my rifle. I turned out the light and sat on the bed.

"Then the door burst open. . . . I couldn't see anything. The gun went off."

Webber said at first he thought he had missed Lusse. Then Lusse groaned and said "I've had it" and slumped to the floor.

Crown prosecutor Robert A. Wootton reminded Webber that he had put two shells in the rifle.

"You intended to shoot again if necessary, didn't you?" he said.

Webber hesitated a moment before replying:

"Yes, I expect so."

Spectators in the court craned forward as the youthful, smartly dressed high school boy gave evidence. He was calm and composed and answered most questions clearly and precisely.

"LIKED" VICTIM

He said he "liked" Lusse, who had lived in his mother's house for two years previously. He had been out with him and Lusse found him a part-time job during the school holidays.

Accused referred to Lusse repeatedly as "Jim." He said Jim wanted him to quit school and look for a regular job.

"Did Jim Lusse ever strike you?" asked Gerald Lauder, Webber's defence counsel.

"Not that I can remember," Webber replied. He identified the .22 rifle produced in court as one given him by his mother as a birthday present.

He said when Lusse and his mother returned home they were arguing. He thought it was about him.

"Did they often argue?" asked Mr. Lauder.

"Quite often," Webber said.

WINDOWS NAILED

Webber told how, after Lusse assaulted his mother and city police told the man to leave the house, he (Webber) locked the doors, nailed some windows shut and put an extra hook and eye catch on the basement garage doors.

Then he went upstairs and locked all the doors and windows he could.

"But I could not lock the door coming up from the basement—the lock was painted over. I tried to wedge a chair against it but couldn't."

REVOLVER FOUND

Webber also identified a revolver found in the basement concealed behind a washtub. He said he had seen Lusse load this revolver on one occasion.

Two city photographers, James and Donald Ryan; told of finding the revolver in the washtub. Later they found some .35 and .22 shells in a drawer.

James Ryan said the police had engaged him to take pictures at the house following the shooting.

"We were told there was possibly a revolver on the premises and we agreed to look for it. My brother pushed the washtub and this gun fell out."

The 12-man jury is expected to give a verdict in the trial this afternoon.

MENTAL PLEDGE

Citizens Asked to Stop Fires

A mental pledge by every citizen to help fight death and losses by fire is the target of Greater Victoria fire fighters during Fire Prevention Week this week.

Art Leason, spokesman for Local 730 International Association of Fire Fighters, said firemen hope a newly-inaugurated challenge trophy competition among Victoria and Oak Bay schools will rivet the attention of pupils, teachers and parents on the tragedy of fire.

"Parents accompany their wee ones to school to assure them of safety from traffic, getting lost, or even wet feet. These same parents assume their children are quite safe in school rooms.

THE RECORD

"The record disproves this, and we of the fire service feel it is most essential that all possible means be employed to reduce and eliminate every possible risk in our schools.

"Death by fire is a horrible way to die, and survivors are permanently scarred, in mind and body."

The competition, for which trophies will be given at the end of October, deals with fire inspections, fire drills and lectures on a point system and covers kindergartens, elementary and high schools and private institutions in the two municipalities.

"It is doubly tragic," Mr. Leason said, that so many victims of fire are little children unable to protect themselves and who must rely on adults to preserve their safety."

REMEMBER CHICAGO

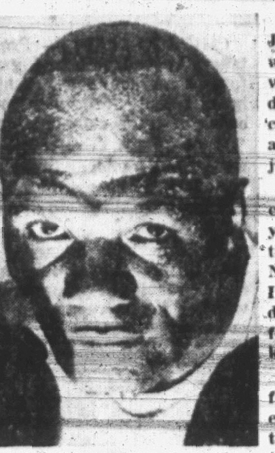
No one wants a Chicago fire here, he said, referring to the loss of 93 lives, nearly all children, when a parochial school burned last year.

"There was no loss of life by fire during the past year in any school, public or private, in Victoria or Oak Bay, nor in the Greater Victoria area. Other cities were not so fortunate. As a matter of fact there were 12 school fires every day in Canada and the United States."

He offered these mottoes to guide citizens: "Make Sure of Their Tomorrows," and "Don't Give Fire a Place to Start."

Members of View Royal volunteer fire department will conduct a spot door-to-door check of homes in their area tonight and Thursday night to check gasoline storage facilities, rubbish storage, chimneys and wiring, starting at 7.

'PARENTS TO BLAME'



JERSEY JOE WALCOTT

MONTREAL (CP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, former heavy-weight boxing champion of the world and now a policeman dealing especially in juvenile cases, said Tuesday parents are to blame in every case of juvenile delinquency.

"I have studied hundreds of cases during the last six years," said Walcott who is on the police force of Camden, N.J., "and in every instance I found the parents to be either directly or indirectly to blame for the misdeeds of their kids."

In an interview Walcott, father of six, said that in every case of trouble parents try to put the blame on something or someone else.

TV TIPPLERS AT HOME 'MILKING' B.C. PUBS

VANCOUVER (CP)—J. J. Custock, president of the British Columbia Hotels Association, said Wednesday more and more of B.C.'s drinkers are apparently staying home to watch television.

In an interview Mr. Custock, who says he has been observing drinkers for 50 years, said drinking habits are no worse today than in the past.

"In fact, I think there is a little less drinking in the taverns annd more social drinking around the TV at home."

On other liquor matters Mr. Custock said he does not think the cosy corner English-style pub is possible in B.C.—there is not enough profit in them.

"I've seen them in California and they're starving to death."

He said he would like to see the liquor laws changed so people outside can see through beer parlor windows.

And the association would like to replace the present licensed premises signs with ones that say what is sold inside.

Red China Sends 'Mash Note' To Labor Progressive Party

The message was timed to coincide with the Canadian Communist Party's seventh national congress, to be held in Toronto Oct. 9 - 12.

If Hal Lacks Confidence, There's Always Marcel

POTENT PORTSIDERS

Counted on to carry big part of Victoria scoring load in Western Hockey League season is this trio of southpaw snipers, who accounted for total of 88 goals last season. All-time goal leader of WHL, Gordie Fashoway (centre) collected 37 tallies, Al Nicholson (right) accounted for 36 and Arlo Goodwin, missing part of campaign, notched 15.

Four Not Signed But Hal Names Starting Lineup

The World Series, which should be over by Friday night, will be the signal for Victoria Cougars and Vancouver Canucks to get down to business in their own little series.

The Cats and Canucks kick the lid off the Western Hockey League season at Vancouver Forum Friday night. They match muscles again in Memorial Arena Saturday night and will be back at it again in the arena Monday afternoon.

League president Al Leader didn't intend for the Cougars and Canucks to try and settle their long-standing feud in such a hurry. Monday's game was tossed in because it was originally scheduled on a December night that Memorial Arena was booked up for bingo. In this case, bingo came first and hockey had to come on Thanksgiving Day.

CHAPMAN CONFIDENT

Speaking of their chances in a league which appears to be considerably stronger than a year ago, Vancouver coach Art Chapman is confident, as usual, and Victoria manager-coach Hal Laycoe is cautious, also as usual.

But there wasn't much caution in the words of Marcel Pelletier, the exuberant French-Canadian who has been given the nod over Reno Zanier to start in the Cougar goal.

Perhaps the best goaltender in the league when he is at his best, and always one of the loop's most colorful performers, Marcel has never lacked for confidence.

GOOD OMEN

Hampered by a thumb injury in training, Marc is now ready to go, which may be a good sign for the Cougars.

One of the main reasons for Pelletier's cheerful outlook is the big defence, where Jim Hay, Jack Bionda, Ron Matthews and Pete Wright, all robust and proven performers, have been selected by Laycoe to guard the Victoria blue line.

HAL ON SPOT?

Laycoe, who has selected Seattle Totems, last year's champions, and the Canucks as the teams to beat, has put himself on a bit of a spot.

"We have the material to be right in the thick of things," Laycoe said this morning. "If we're not, it will be the fault of either the players or the coach."

However, Laycoe did admit, "When the team is in shape, we should be hard to beat. Right now only about four players are not in top condition. Our forwards may be a bit light, but the Cougars are a well-balanced club."

Although the Cougars are still in danger of losing clever Gordie Wilson, the club could turn into a good scoring outfit.

STILL TALKING

Wilson, who has been considering retirement, has not been on skates for several days and definitely will not be starting Friday. He was slated to talk with Laycoe today in a conference which could decide his status.

Laycoe has nominated Art Jones, Gordie Haworth and Doug Anderson to handle pivot positions on his three forward lines.

Haworth will work between wingers Al Nicholson and George Ford. Jones will make passes for Gordie Fashoway and Arnie Schmautz, while Anderson will work with Arlo Goodwin and Doug Macauley.

FOUR UNSIGNED

There is one little thing that could throw Laycoe's proposed starting lineup out of kilter. Four players were still unsigned this morning.

AN EASY LIFE, MAYBE?

Things won't be as easy as Marcel Pelletier pretends here, but Victoria goalie is looking forward to pleasant season. Pelletier is confident this collection of rugged defencemen will lighten his netminding chores and make life miserable for opposing forwards. Named by manager-coach Hal Laycoe to start on Cougar defence for opening game of WHL season at Vancouver Friday are (left to right) Jim Hay, Ron Matthews, Jack Bionda and Pete Wright. Laycoe can also count on Carl Kaiser and Don McLeod if necessary. Cougars host Canucks at Memorial Arena Saturday night. (Halkett photo.)

CATS READY TO FEED LARGEST PUCK FAMILY

When they play Vancouver Canucks in a Western Hockey League game at Memorial Arena Monday afternoon, Victoria manager Hal Laycoe will reward the largest family group in the arena with a hamper of groceries.

The game, No. 2 in the Cats' home schedule, was originally slated to be played Dec. 16. A conflict with a bingo game that night, however, caused Cougars to re-schedule the game. It starts at 2 p.m.

Iaukea Was First, Now Quilter Quits

VANCOUVER (CP) — First-string tackle Chuck Quilter and British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union have parted company.

But for how long was a question.

Coach Wayne Robinson said Quilter, 31, in his fifth year with Lions, was suspended for not turning up to practice Wednesday night.

Quilter says he has retired for the remainder of the season because of an injured knee, an injury which caused the club to bench him for last Monday's game against Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Quilter, a B.C. original, is the second first-string tackle to run afoul of club management in less than one week. Curt Iaukea quit the club last Friday after Robinson went through a series of experimental moves in a practice session which saw the second-year lineman giving up his regular position.

Iaukea, who intriguingly was Quilter's roommate on road trips, was later sent to Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four.

It is not the first time Quilter and the B.C. club have had strained relations.

Last July, he quit the Kelowna training camp, returned here for a day, then returned to the Okanagan. Since then he has told the club several times he was quitting. Each occasion he was talked out of it.

MIKITA SPARKS VICTORY

Hawks Unveil Hot Prospect

By The Canadian Press

A young Chicago Black Hawks' centre has served notice he'll be a strong contender for National Hockey League rookie-of-the-year honors this season.

The youngster is Stan Mikita, jumping into the big time straight from St. Catharines' juniors. He scored one goal, collected one assist and centred the line that led Black Hawks to a 5-2 victory over New York Rangers Wednesday night in the opening game of the 1959-60 NHL season.

The winners' other goals, scored before a Chicago crowd of 9,136—surprisingly good for a city far more interested in baseball at the moment—were by rearguards Al Arbour and Elmer Vasko and winger Ron Murphy.

Ranger goals were scored by captain Red Sullivan and Larry Popein. Three of New York's big men last year—Andy Bathgate, Camille Henry and Andy Hebenton, picked up single assists.

Hawks outshot Rangers only 33-32 but looked every bit as good as the team that finished third last season and gave the powerful Montreal Canadiens a scare in the Stanley Cup semifinals.

ICE CHIPS: Billy Hicke, whon won just about everything offered in the American League last year and who should be Mikita's strongest opposition for rookie honors, makes his league debut when Canadiens face Boston Bruins tonight . . . Toronto Maple Leafs signed four players but three others were still holding out . . . Ron Stewart, Bob Pulford, Al MacNeil and Tim Horton agreed to terms . . . holdouts, despite threatened suspension by manager-coach Punch Imlach, are Dick [illegible] Billy Harris and Larry Regan.

Fog Horns Replacing Whistles in Hershey?

(By The Canadian Press)

Indoor fog halted the opening American Hockey League game of the Cleveland Barons and Hershey Bears Wednesday night.

The teams were tied 1-1 at the end of 30 seconds of play in an overtime period when the fog halted play.

Providence Reds edged Quebec Aces 4-3 in the other league game for their second straight win over the AHL's newest entry. The Aces, first Canadian team in the league, lost 5-2 Tuesday night in the league opener.

Greg Hicks scored at 18.41 of the first period and the Barons held that lead until only 14 seconds of play remained.

At this point Dunc Fisher came through the dense fog hovering over the ice and fired the tying goal.

Heavy humidity which hung over Hershey, Pa., caused the fog to form in the arena. At times players could be seen other times they couldn't be seen at all. Play was halted a dozen or more times until the fog cleared sufficiently.

Paul Larivee, Stan Baliuk, Larry Hillman and Earl (Dutch) Reibel scored for the Reds, Reibel potting the winner at 13.05 of the third period.

Quebec scorers were Bob Barlow, Jimmy Moore and Michel Harvey.

Nobody Can Hit Early And Get Away With It

By OSCAR FRALEY

CHICAGO (UPI) — Al Smith, an outfielder for Chicago White Sox, was sitting in the locker room when he pointed a positive finger at a meaty, heavily-muscled man with dark hair and a seemingly perpetual scowl.

Smith's voice held a strong conviction as he said:

"If I was a manager and there was one game I had to win, I'd pick that guy right there."

Al Lopez, who happens to be the manager of the White Sox, feels exactly the same way. Because the man at whom Smith pointed—Early Wynn—was Lopez' choice today to pitch the game which the White Sox had to win as they went out into Comiskey Park against the Los Angeles Dodgers in the sixth world series game.

NO SPRING CHICKEN

Wynn is 39 years old. He has gone to the mound twice already in this series and younger men aided by the elasticity of lesser years were ready to take dead aim on the aging guy they call "Gus."

But Lopez and Smith know that nobody is going to outfight Wynn or out-tough him. And this is a day they needed all their aggressiveness and toughness.

"I remember," said Smith, "when I first came up with Cleveland. Wynn was pitching batting practice and I hit a couple of good ones off him. The players around the batting cage started to laugh and nudge each other. I didn't know what was up. But I soon found out. You know what that Wynn did?

"WELL, I'LL BE! . . ."

"First," added Al in awe, "he hit me on the foot. Then he threw at my head. And you know what happened then? I got out of there and started jogging down to first base and damned if he didn't throw a ball at me while I was running."

It makes Wynn mad when they hit his pitches. He is proud that with 271 victories, he is the biggest winner among active Major League hurlers. But it goes even beyond that for the man from Alabama. You can sum it up in one word: Money.

"It's easy to understand," he explains. "Every time they beat me, it means $1,000 off my salary when I go to bargain for next season's contract."

Over the two seasons before this one, Wynn faded and it was thought in some quarters that he might be over the hill. But he came back to capture 22 games and, in pitching the White Sox to the flag, was the American League's only 20-game winner.

Wynn won the opening game of this World Series and pitched without decision in the fourth game at Los Angeles on Monday. When he returned to his locker at Comsikey Park Wednesday he found a cable of congratulations from Rome. It was from an old friend, singer Mario Lanza, who died of a heart attack even before Wynn received the cablegram.

"I'm completely shocked," he said.

But then he laid aside his woes, his weariness and his perennial money worries as he prepared to go out against those Dodgers.

U.S. to Lead Campaign For 'Common Surface'

MELBOURNE (AP)—Donald M. Ferguson, president of the Australian Tennis Association, said Tuesday the United States would head a campaign within a year to have Davis Cup matches played on a surface common to all nations.

Grass is the official surface in competition for the international tennis trophy. However, another surface may be used in the preliminary rounds if both teams agree.

Only Australia, present holders of the cup, Great Britain, Canada, France and the United States are "grass" court nations and they have dominated the challenge round without interruption since 1921.

Italy, European zone winner the past two years, and the Scandinavian countries oppose the present rule because their players use hard surfaced courts the year around except for their Davis Cup excursions.

10 HOLDOVERS WITH WARRIORS   ROLLINS STEADYING INFLUENCE

Count on Pike for Contender

WINNIPEG—Working with green material is nothing new for coach Alf Pike of Winnipeg Warriors. He's been doing it almost every year since Warriors got into the Western Hockey League in the 1955-56 season.

It was the same story when he coached junior teams. And it was Pike who started such players as Andy Bathgate, Dean Prentice, Lou Fontinato and Harry Howell on their way to stardom with New York Rangers in the National League.

But this year's crop of rookies looks like one of the best ever to report to Warriors' training camp. And to top it off, Pike has 10 returnees from the club which finished third in the Prairie Division last year.

One of the 10 is veteran netminder Al Rollins. Rollins, who joined Winnipeg late last season, originally was going to call it quite after 13 years in the game.

Winnipeg's 14-2 defeat to Detroit Red Wings in an exhibition contest two weeks ago convinced both Pike and Perrin that Rollins was needed.

"Rollins will be a steadying influence out there," Pike says. "It's awful tough to start out a season with an inexperienced goalie."

Three of last year's defencemen—Bill Folk, Ed Zemrau and Don Johns — also are back. Pike hopes to round out his blueline corps with Teddy Green and Gary Bergman, both of whom played with the Memorial Cup champion Winnipeg Braves.

Returning forwards are Barrie Ross, Gerry Brisson, Ray Brunel, Dick Lamoureux, Pete Kapusta, Red Johansen and Steve Witiuk. Witiuk, however, was sidelined for six weeks with a shoulder separation suffered in the Red Wing game.

Warriors' management, however, hasn't been sitting idle. They snapped up two high-scoring forwards — Paul Masnick and Elliot Chorley — from the defunct Saskatoon club, and obtained winger Gordie Redahl from Boston Bruins.

To fill out the lines, Pike will have to pick from rookies Wayne Larkin, Al Baty, Bobby Leiter, Howie Hughes and Marcel Rochon.

Dead Heat, Williams Hog Sandown Spotlight

By HAL MALONE

TIME OUT! By JEFF KEATE

"Sorry to bother you at this hour, sir, but I accidentally shot one pheasant over the limit today and would like to know about my fine!"

The autumn air was nippy, the favorites lukewarm and Balach-Dorch was hotter than a Hallowe'en explosion Wednesday at Sandown.

Balach-Dorch sounds like a smorgasbord dish. He's not. He's a well-bred son of Wonder Why II and Miss Honor. To John Nimmo, Balach-Dorch is a sight for sore eyes.

Mr. Nimmo, a Richmond, B.C., optician with good optics, wasn't at the track to watch Balach-Dorch perform. Had he been he would have seen his color-bearer steam to the front and win the feature handily without Ronnie Williams having to galvanize him with his whip.

The victory was Balach-Dorch's fourth of the year. It was also Williams' third of the afternoon, his best day since Sandown pulled the drawstrings.

As skillful a rider as there is in B.C. when he puts his mind to it, Williams collared the winner's circle with Jane Grey and shared it in the second race aboard La Viscaina. The latter put her snout on the finish line exactly at the same moment as Lady Sadie R and the judges couldn't part them. The dead heat, first at Sandown, made no difference to those who embraced them in the quinella, worth a tidy $20.80.

Two races vied for "best-of-the-day" honors.

At the tape Jane caught the fancy of the eye-in-the-sky. Sleepy Star was second, Signalad who carved the early pace, took third money.

BY THREE LENGTHS

The second cliff-hanger was perpetrated in the fifth heat. Pickle Boy, fancied at 9-5, disposed of his friends along the backstretch and entered the lane three lengths in front.

People with tickets on Arioso began mumbling to themselves for having supported such an apparent flop as a spectacular last. Suddenly, as if the idea of running just occurred to him, Arioso set sail on the outside and won it all in the last few leaps.

Master Clark (remember him?) finished second on Baby Rose and made it four seconds in the next race with Akin.

The day wasn't a total loss for the talented California reinsman. He triumphed with Summer Star and steered home Keats Island in the finale.

The victories were No. 37 and 38 leaving Clark two shy of the 40 mark when he will be divorced from his apprentice status and the attractive five-pound allowance that goes with it.

Had he lost on Keats Island, there would have been a quantity of wounded bettors winding their way home from Sandown. The filly was bet to 2-5 and paid a paltry $2.90.

MUTUEL MURMURS . . . Apprentice Jimmy McLeod put on a stirring display to break his Sandown maiden with Davendel, juiciest bet of the day at $38.10 . . . In this race Bro. Chas. ran as if he was a little sour at the whole business and wound up second at 1-3 . . . The mutuels inhaled $48,395 compared with $50,947 the same day last year.

SHUDDA HADDIM GETS ONE!

It's Not Much, But It's Money!

Shudda Haddim doesn't want anybody to think he's not grateful after finally crashing the winner's circle, but the truth of the matter is that he has seen better returns from sick pin-ball machines than the one that Keat's Island offered Wednesday.

Jockey Peter Clark is too much of a good thing.

But $2.90 is $2.90. More important, it's the first winner for Shudda in seven straight tries to take a fortune away from Sandown's mutuel windows.

Shudda's stake now is $14.90, down $10.10 from his original bundle of $25. That includes the $4 that went on the nose of Loretta's Babe today and the deuce that Haddim is going to put on No Alarm to win in the fourth on Friday.

BROWN THIRD IN SCORING

'Peg's Payoff Pair Romping for Records

(From CP Reports)

Winnipeg Blue Bombers' passing-catching combination of quarterback Jim Van Pelt and end Ernie Pitts are breaking or close to breaking several Western Interprovincial records as they battle for the individual scoring title.

Pitts, who leads the league scoring with 78 points, already has set a record for touchdown passes caught in one game five and is only one off the season record of 14 set last year by Saskatchewan's Jack Hill.

Van Pelt, runner-up with 63 points, broke the record of six touchdown passes thrown in one game set by Winnipeg's Jack Jacobs in 1952 by tossing seven against Saskatchewan in Regina, Aug. 29. Now, with four games left, he needs 11 more to break Jacobs' record 34 touchdown passes in one season, also set in 1952.

BROWN IS THIRD

Statistics show that Calgary's Doug Brown holds third place behind with 59 points, one better than Jackie Parker of Edmonton, who has moved up rapidly in the scoring race since returning to action from an injury.

Toronto's Cookie Gilchrist, whose piledriving line cracks and thumping tackles have made him one of the most feared men in [illegible]dian pro football, is le[illegible] the Big Four point scra[illegible]e with 57 points.

Otis Cracks Whip In Stamps' Corral

CALGARY (CP)—Coach Otis Douglas Wednesday fired a heated verbal blast at his sagging Calgary Stampeders Football Club, released one player for disciplinary reasons, fined several others, and threatened a further shakeup.

Released was Canadian end Hal Newton. Douglas fined several others for similar reasons but declined to mention names or the amount.

"There has been a couple of incidents which have come to my attention," the usually mild-mannered coach said. "This is the first time I have ever made a public statement in connection with releasing players for disciplinary reasons.

"Until they give me a 100 per cent effort I don't feel I need to protect any ball players. I know it won't get me off the hook, but in the ball games that remain I want and intend to get a 100 per cent effort."

Douglas' reference to getting himself off the hook lent weight to reports that the club executive has already made up its mind, regardless of what happens in the remaining games, not to rehire him next season.

*The criticism was the strong*est Douglas has made of his players in public since he came to Calgary three years ago. He has been on the hot seat all year, knowing he must produce a winning club or get out. His team, after a fast start, has won only five of 12 games and hope is fast fading for a playoff berth.

Newton, used mainly on defence, was in his second year with the club. Previously he was with Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four.

Orel, Maurice In Title Sweep

The brothers Orel and Maurice Morneau scored a sweep in taking all three prizes available in the annual Victoria "B" horseshoe pitching championships recently.

Orel defeated Maurice 50 points and 11 ringers to 36 points and nine ringers in the singles event. They teamed up to score 54 points and 12 ring*ers against Johnny Collins* and another brother, Paul Morneau, in winning the doubles.

NAVY SATURDAY HOSTS

Crucial Games For City Clubs

The football fraternity will keep a close eye on a pair of weekend games that could set the playoff pattern in the Pacific Coast Intermediate Football Conference.

Navy will take on Surrey Rams at Royal Athletic Park on Saturday while Victoria Drakes trek to Vancouver Sunday for a contest against Vancouver Columbians.

And did you get that new name? Formerly nicknamed Wildcats, the Vancouver squad came up with the new handle this week.

Navy will be shooting for possession of the third and last playoff spot and Drakes for the league lead. Navy and Surrey have both lost all four games played to date while Drakes and Columbians have unblemished marks in four starts.

Both Victoria teams will be missing some front-line talent at the weekend, but neither Navy coach, Chaplain Ivan Edwards, nor Jack Patrick, the playing-coach of the Drakes, has expressed undue concern.

"We've been working hard on both our pass offence and defence all week," the Navy coach reported Wednesday.

The Padre said halfbacks Red Larsen and Dave Burck will both be missing from Navy's lineup. Larsen suffered a recurrence of a leg injury while Burck will be away on sea duty.

Patrick will still be without the services of lineman Gordie Gordienko and backfielders Pat Moon and Don Hendry.

Patrick also announced that tickets for the Oct. 17 exhibition game between Seattle Ramblers and Drakes went on sale at Eaton's today.

Mayor Becomes Jaycee 'Senator'

Mayor Percy Scurrah was presented with a Jaycee senatorship, highest award of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday night.

The presentation was made by Charles Blais, national Jaycee president from Montreal, after president Peter Forward had said of the mayor:

"He is the best friend any junior chamber could ever have."

Mr. Scurrah said the award came as a complete surprise and he was "overwhelmed" by the honor.

Mr. Forward, speaking for delegates from Victoria, Duncan and Nanaimo, said although the mayor is not a Jaycee he had "the best interests" of the organization at heart.

'WEEK' RECOGNIZED

Occasion for the meeting was recognition of Jaycee Week.

Mr. Forward announced that the first major step towards a junior achievement program for city high schools will be taken Oct. 23.

On that date Victoria businessmen will gather at a luncheon briefing sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Pacific Club at 12.15.

Guest speaker at the meeting will be Roy P. Twyman, executive director of the B.C. junior achievement program. Under this program students in the various schools form small corporations, each sponsored by a city firm.

Letters have been sent to city businessmen asking them to attend the meeting when Mr. Twyman will explain the plan in detail and answer questions.

There are three junior achievement programs in operation in Canada in Vancouver, New Westminster and Windsor, Ont.

U.S. Nuclear Experts Off To Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of top U.S. nuclear experts leaves today for Russia, starting an exchange of visits and information with Soviet scientists.

The visits may be the forerunner of an increased exchange to non-military atomic information between the two big nuclear powers. But neither country is expected to disclose any new information.

Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission will head a delegation of six experts leaving for Moscow late today.

McCone stressed Wednesday the tours will not involve military installations or operations or the production of weapons.

But the Americans may take a look at the Soviet atom-driven icebreaker, the Lenin, if it is in port while they are in Russia.

BLAMES MR. K FOR UNREST

Thailand Prince Here as Tourist

Prince Viwat of Thailand was not impressed by Premier Khrushchev's peace overtures during his recent visit to the United States.

"He is responsible for most of the unrest in the world today," said the 60-year-old prince interviewed in his suite at the Empress Hotel. "I think the American people were somewhat sceptical of his disarmament proposals."

The prince pointed out that Thailand is close to Laos which is currently an Asian "hot spot" of Communist infiltration and unrest.

"But we are not overly concerned about Red aggression," he said.

Today they are sightseeing in the Victoria area before flying on to Vancouver and the Orient.

"We are here as tourists," Prince Viwat said. "All over the world people told us we must see British Columbia. It is famous for its natural beauty as well as its industry."

He regretted there is "not much ground" for trade between Canada and Thailand.

"We export rice and you do not eat rice or, when you do eat it you make it into some horrid rice pudding.

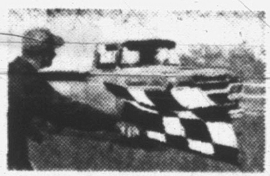
Introducing 1960 MERCURY TRUCKS the BIG advance in durability

MORE PROVEN FEATURES! NEW RUGGED STYLE!

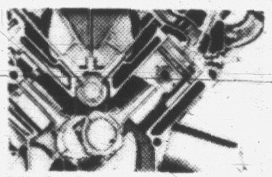
Built-in durability has always been a Mercury Truck plus. And now, new improvements throughout offer you still greater "stay-on-the-job" might. Under Mercury's modern new styling lie stronger frames with greater rigidity to better resist the torsional strains of top payloads, rugged routes. Improved springs last longer while providing a better ride. New electrical wiring gives greater reliability—lasts up to three times longer. New engine durability features include new crankshaft knurling for better oil retention—and new neoprene seals to add to drive line center bearing life by keeping out water and dirt more effectively. On top of this, independent tests certified that the design of Mercury's Six gave 25.2% better gas mileage than the next leading make, in every kind of driving.

Longer truck life, less downtime and greater gas savings are just a few of the reasons why it will pay you to "Work-a-Merc", Six or V-8, on your job. More are listed on the left—but your Mercury Truck dealer can tell you about all the new and proven features. See him soon.

Certain features illustrated or mentioned are standard on some models, optional at extra cost on others



PROVEN ECONOMY: Recent U.S. tests certified Mercury's Short-Stroke Six averaged 25.2% better gas mileage than all competitive Six engines.



PROVEN SHORT STROKE DESIGN: Develops high horsepower with less effort and wear—gives greater durability for longer engine life.

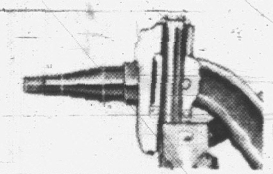
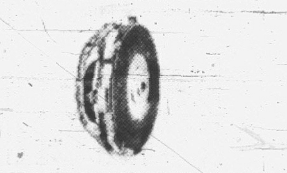
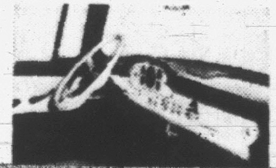
IMPROVED ELECTRICAL WIRING: New insulation gives better protection against oil, gas and abrasion—triples electrical reliability.



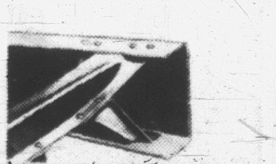
NEW NYLON KING PIN BUSHINGS: Provide longer wear, require no special tools or line reaming to replace, as do conventional bushings.



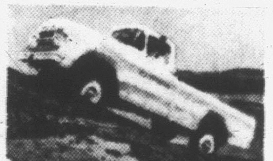
PROVEN 13-IN. TWO-PLATE CLUTCH: Large facing area with solid discs gives high torque capacity to stand up on rugged extra heavy duty service.



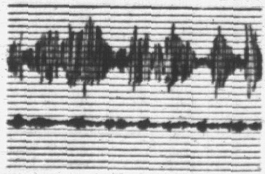
PROVEN DRIVERIZED CABS: Strong, more durable cabs stand up to rugged service. New heater keeps cab up to 10° warmer, defrosts better.



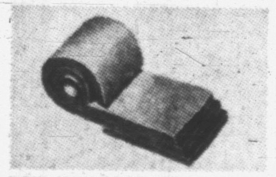
NEW STRONGER FRAMES: Wider, heavier gauge crossmembers provide 23% greater frame rigidity on Light Duty models, adds to smooth ride.



PROVEN 4-WHEEL DRIVE: Shift from 2-wheel to 4-wheel direct drive without stopping or clutching. Transfer case has two PTO openings.



PROVEN MOST COMFORTABLE RIDE: Impact-O-Graph test with Light Duty models proves Mercury is the smoothest riding of all.



NEW MILITARY WRAP REAR SPRINGS: Spring eye is double wrapped to provide extra strength and greater durability on Super Duties.

NEW NON-SLIP DIFFERENTIAL: Transfers power to rear wheel with traction, reduces chance of bogging down or skidding on slippery surfaces.

BOYS ON CRIME SPREE 'JUST FOR FUN'

Comic Book Bandits Captured

MONTREAL (CP) — Two young crime comic book readers are in police cells in the wake of a crime wave in the Eastern Townships.

Provincial police said the boys—brothers—are being held for six car thefts, armed robbery, seven burglaries, threats uttered at gunpoint and illegal possession of weapons.

They are 16 and 11 years old.

Provincial police Detective Yvan Lasnier quoted the healthy, well-mannered youngsters as saying they read numerous crime comics and decided to "get a racket of our own going."

Police said the boys stole cars last week in a half dozen communities southeast of Montreal. They drove the cars until they ran out of gas, then abandoned them.

"Just for the fun of it," they stole about $2,000 worth of goods from summer cottages, police said.

The boys, surprised by the owners during the weekend, came down from the attic, rifles in hand. They loaded the cottage owner's car with loot and then drove away.

They were later captured after driving at 50 miles an hour over narrow dirt roads.

ANTI-K SIGNS DRAW $5 FINES

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man and two women were fined $5 each in police court here Wednesday for posting signs on city lamp poles which read: "Red dog! Khrushchev go home!"

The signs were posted during the recent U.S. visit of the Russian leader. Charges were laid under a city sign bylaw.

CANADIAN AIRFIELDS LACK EMERGENCY GEAR

VANCOUVER (CP) — Emergency equipment at Vancouver, Toronto and Montreal airports could not cope with a major aircraft crash, the Canadian Air Lines Pilots' Association said in a letter here Wednesday.

The letter, one of several submitted by F. G. E. Stevens to the city's airport board, said existing fire fighting equipment cannot handle crashes of aircraft larger than twin-engine DC-3's or Convairs.

"It would be impossible to deal successfully with any major fire," the CALPA letter said.

The organization said it has asked Transport Minister Hees to take over control of fire fighting measures at the three airports. It said fire fighting and rescue should be the responsibility of the department, which already has control of flight operations.

The letter said Vancouver, Toronto and Montreal airports should have at least one heavy foam tender carrying 1,000 gallons of water and 200 gallons of foam, two water foam tenders of 2,500 gallons of water and 250 gallons of foam, and a speed wagon which could carry men and chemicals at speeds up to 100 miles an hour.

Ald. Halford Wilson, chairman of Vancouver's airport board, said the board plans to improve its firefighting and rescue facilities but denied that existing facilities are inadequate.

ISLAND DIGEST

AROUND THE ISLAND

First and High Favored For Ladysmith Post Office

LADYSMITH A new post office is to be built here, it was reported to the Chamber of Commerce this week by Postmaster Carl Walker.

An inspection of the present post office resulted in a decision that it would be a waste of money to renovate the old building, he said.

Members of the chamber inspected a site on the corner of Fifth Avenue and High Street following their meeting Monday, and a brief in favor of this site for the new post office will be prepared.

A resolution was passed by the chamber objecting to any changes in the Customs Act as proposed by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. The resolution was passed following a brief talk by Bryce Page, manager of the Chemainus Division of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd.

Mr. Page spoke on the importance of the export markets for B.C. products and said the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association is concerned that the import restrictions proposed by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce may lead to retaliatory action by other countries.

SIDNEY Commissioners T. A. Alers and J. E. Bosher have placed before the village commission a list of Sidney street names which are duplicated elsewhere in Greater Victoria, and alternate names for the streets here.

They suggest changing Henry Avenue to Elmdale, Kings Avenue to Regal, Queens Avenue to Sovereign, Oakland Avenue to Oakdene, Orchard Avenue to Applegarth, Admiral Road East to Arbourfield, and Admiral Road West to Clarendon.

Princess Avenue in North Saanich should be changed to Acacia, they said.

SAANICHTON — Proposed municipal water system will be the chief topic of discussion at an open meeting of Central Saanich municipal council, to be held Friday at 8 p.m. in Mount Newton High School.

Water system plan includes taking over the Elk Lake system from the federal government, and building a reservoir to cost $83,150 with necessary equipment.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Norman Garry McKee, 18, of Nanaimo Wednesday pleaded guilty to escaping from the young offenders unit at Oakalla prison farm last Thursday and was sentenced to one year.

McKee must also serve the balance of a sentence of six months definite and nine months indeterminate which he was serving when he escaped.

(From Duncan Bureau)

CROFTON — The volunteer Fire Department here is still eight men short of a full fire-fighting crew, Fire Chief Gordon Vye said today.

"It will probably take a big fire to make people realize the seriousness of the situation," he said. "It is a terrible thing to say that the people in this district need a fire to make them volunteer."

There are 12 men serving with the volunteer department at present.

Chief Vye said volunteers must be able bodied, between 18 and 40 years of age, and willing to give up to three hours a week for practice, drill and general brigade duties.

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — The Alberni District Labor Council in supporting a brief from the West Coast Allied Tribes urging natives be given authority to administer their own property and business affairs.

SHAWNIGAN LAKE — Award of the British Empire Medal to Const. Hugh Bowyer, 26, in charge of the RCMP detachment here, was announced Wednesday in Ottawa by RCMP Commissioner C. E. Rivett-Carnac.

It was made in recognition of Const. Bowyer's contribution to the rescue of Albert Portman, buried under 13 tons of gypsum at Windermere, B.C., on Nov. 29, 1955.

Const. Bowyer was married in April, and was transferred here shortly after.

JUST A STAR —NO SAUCER

CHEMAINUS Flying saucers? Well, not exactly. George Beaubier said his son saw something flying around in the sky above their property one night recently.

"However, he watched it for a while and then figured out it was only a bat." And, George added, "it wasn't carrying a lantern either."

(From Duncan Bureau)

DUNCAN Richard Farrell, 18, pleaded guilty in police court Wednesday to having beer in his possession and was fined $10 and $5.50 costs by Magistrate A. C. Sutton.

He said he obtained the beer from a man behind the Tzouhalem Hotel here on the night of Sept. 12.

Two juveniles with him at the time appeared in juvenile court on the same charge. One pleaded guilty and was put on six months probation while the other, who pleaded not guilty, was remanded until the arresting officer becomes available.

Police Ready To Crack Down On Speeders

DUNCAN — RCMP here intend to "crack down" on speeders violating the 20-mile-per hour zone through Cowichan Bay after receiving complaints from residents of the area.

Children play near the street.

Cowichan Trustees At Victoria Meeting

DUNCAN Trustees of Cowichan School District 65 will attend the British Columbia School Board convention at the Empress Hotel in Victoria, October 19, 20 and 21.

'Study Canada' National JC Leader Urges

(From Duncan Bureau)

Charles Blais, Quebec City, national president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, told Duncan Jaycees Wednesday "it is much easier to sit in an easy chair and watch television than to attend meetings and do something for your community."

The luncheon meeting marked the first time the Duncan Jaycees have hosted a national president.

"It is the first time you have ever had French pea soup as your national president," Mr. Blais said.

He told the local members his trip to the three western provinces is to "promote Canadianism and find out something about the Canadian national sentiment."

"I've found out about the vast distances of our country, and that western Canadians have pride and hospitality," Mr. Blais remarked.

Dave Kirk, Courtenay, district president of Vancouver Island, and Wilf Dowad, Burnaby, president of the B.C. and Yukon Jaycees, also were guests.

They were introduced to Mayor J. T. Dobson and Reeve C. A. P. Murison at the City Hall by Duncan Jaycee president Horst Nowrath, and signed the visitors' book.

Cowichan Teachers Ask Boost

(From Duncan Bureau)

Cowichan School District teachers are negotiating for a salary increase of 18.6 per cent over the 1959 scale.

They won a seven per cent increase over the 1958 scale through arbitration early this year. If the new request were granted it would bring the school district teachers' salary bill to $733,632 annually, adding $115,020 to the salary bill, or the equivalent of three mills on the tax rate.

Trustee Wilf Peck, chairman of the board's finance committee, said the present teachers salaries scale in the district "compares most favorably" with any on Vancouver Island.

Lumber Shipments At Chemainus-Crofton

CHEMAINUS A total of 3,953,000 board feet of lumber was taken by 12 foreign ships from Chemainus and Crofton ports last month, customs figures show.

Of the total number of exports, 2,041,000 feet went to the United Kingdom, 1,326,000 to the United States and 586,000 to South Africa.

B.C. Forest Products Ltd. pulp mill at Crofton shipped 6,602 tons of pulp to various overseas markets.

NEW MOTOR FOR 1960, designed especially for fishermen, has low profile with less chance of fouling lines. Weighing only 34 pounds, it will deliver 7½ horsepower.

PLEASURE AFLOAT

1960 Outboards Pack More Power

Once again more power is in prospect for the outboard motor boatman, with the 1960 models ranging from 1½ to 80 horsepower, but also more choice of power and more versatility.

The outboarding part of boating has become so large and such a year-around activity that outboard motor manufacturers now announce new lines in the fall.

For a number of years major emphasis has been on larger and more potent motors. But the biggest news is a light little job with the push of 7½ horses packed into 34 pounds.

* * *

It's designed for the fisherman and camper who wants a model to take to the lake, clamp on the stern of a boat for the day, and then put back in the trunk of the car with room to spare for fishing tackle, bait box and the rest. The top of this motor has been flattened and lowered to allow less chance of fouling fishing lines when trolling.

The horsepower leader again next year will be Kiekhaefer with the Mercury 800. Eighty horsepower is to be delivered by a new six-cylinder model, 10 more than this year, and the line lowers through eight additional motors to a 6 h.p. unit.

* * *

Evinrude and Johnson have gone into power output. Each has a 75-horse motor as the power leader, 25 more than 1959 when 50 was the top.

Designers have finally admitted that a 200-pound unit is not precisely portable, and the Evinrude 75 no longer has the familiar wing clamps for securing the motor to the transome. Instead it bolts into place—still easily removable if necessary, but more firmly attached.

Noise level appears to be no higher than in this year's 50-horse unit. Johnson and Evinrude will have a 40 as the next largest motor, then a range down through 18, 10 and 5½ to 3.

Gale motors will run from a new V60, 35 and 25 down to a little 2-horse model.

SHIP'S OFFICER FINED FOR POLLUTING HARBOR

NANAIMO (CP) — First Officer of a Liberian tanker was fined $250 in police court here Wednesday when convicted of polluting the harbor with oil.

Magistrate Harold Hine ruled George Schnurrer, chief mate of the Kiaora, was responsible for bunker oil which was spilled into the harbor.

The water was polluted after the ship discharged 27,000 gallons of fuel oil into storage tanks Feb. 26.

The 7,972-ton Kiaora is registered at Monrovia to Torres Shipping Company Incorporated.

WILL YOU THINK OF SOMEONE?

Tonight I'll sit by a fireside,
In a warm and cozy home . . .
Count my many blessings,
And set my thoughts to roam.

I'll think of Charlie Thompson,
I saw him just today . . .
But Charlie didn't see me
As he White-Caned on his way.

I'll think of little children,
Who need some love and care . . .
And wonder what can happen
When Mom and Dad aren't there.

I'll think of Granny Miller,
The lonely life she leads . . .
The little but the vital things
That would ease her list of needs.

I'll think of many others,
Some old, some young, some maimed.
People whom I've never met
But know misfortune claimed.

These will fill my thoughts tonight,
I won't be wondering "whether" . . .
When neighbor Don knocks on my door
Proudly wearing a Red Feather.

WORK IN TOWN, LIVE IN COUNTRY

'City Farmers' Booming

CALGARY (CP) — Agriculture Minister Harkness Wednesday predicted a large increase in the number of small farms operated part-time by city folk seeking a country home.

"We see all around us a constant increase in the number of small holdings," he told the Men's Canadian Club. "This phenomenon is taking place around nearly every city of any size in Canada."

The federal minister, speaking in his home riding of Calgary North, attributed this exodus from the city to the automobile "which has made it possible for a man to work in the city and have a country home with a few head of livestock or a small amount of acreage under crop."

He said he foresaw the day when small holdings will surround the cities and the area now regarded as "the country" will become an area of large consolidated holdings.

FOUGHT BY FARMERS

"Farmers and farm organizations have looked with increasing concern on this change in the rural pattern. They have fought against it in various ways from time to time.

"During the last two or three years many of them have held up vertical integration as the chief villain. Actually, I think vertical integration is a symptom of the changes which have taken place rather than a major cause of them."

The minister said the urban population is loath to accept the concept that farmers "must be protected and assisted by the government to enable them to secure higher than world prices for their products."

WILLIAM HAMILTON

'Educated' Tourists Won't Beef

EDMONTON (CP) — Postmaster General William Hamilton says one answer to the problem of poor tourist accommodation is to educate tourists to avoid it.

He said in an address to the Canadian Tourist Association meeting here Wednesday:

"With a little planning it is possible to travel almost anywhere in Canada and find top-notch accommodation and meals; it is also possible to travel the same routes and live miserably."

Substandard operators would be with us for a long time, he added. "One of the most effective ways the tourist industry can deal with the problem is to better educate the tourist, encouraging him to plan his trips well in advance."

Arctic Striptease for Science

OTTAWA (CP) — An international scientific team headed by a 43-year-old Canadian biologist will spend six weeks in the Arctic next spring making a special study of the ability of Eskimos to adapt themselves to frigid temperatures.

The research will form part of an international study to determine the range of climatic adjustment of which the human species, particularly whites, is capable.

Leader of the eight-man team will be Dr. J. S. Hart, head of the animal physiology section of the division of applied biology of the National Research Council. Composition of the rest of the team has not yet been completed but it will include biologists and physiologists from Norway and the United States.

The scientists will establish a research laboratory near Pangnirtung on the north coast of Cumberland Sound, Baffin Island.

Dr. Hart said in an interview that eight Eskimo seal hunters from the Cumberland Sound area have been hired for the tests.

"The Eskimos who will be involved in the research will not be those who live at the Pangnirtung post and eat the white man's food," Dr. Hart said. "We are interested in Eskimos who live by hunting and fishing in their own historic environment."

The study will be similar to one in which Dr. Hart took part in remote central Australia two years ago.

The eight Eskimos and members of Dr. Hart's party will attempt to sleep in the nude in below-freezing temperatures sheltered by a windbreak and flanked by two small fires. They will then attempt to sleep in the nude under the same weather conditions covered only by a light blanket.

In the Australian tests the aborigines apparently were able to allow their bodies to cool without discomfort as the temperature dropped. However, the whites attempted to increase their heat production by shivering, making sleep impossible.

Rear-Engine Debate Rages

The sponsorship of a rear-engined, air-cooled car by one of the great American industrial concerns has sparked an explosive, if pointless, controversy, to wit—which is better, a front-engined car with rear-wheel drive, a rear-engined car with rear-wheel drive, a front-engined car with front-wheel drive—perhaps even a rear-engined car with front-wheel drive?

Hans

The answer, of course, is that there are many ways to slice a cake. In the annals of automotive history we have known bad designs of every description—and brilliant ones. That the Corvair clearly belongs to the brilliant variety no one can doubt after the most cursory acquaintance.

Up to Engineers

In the hands of engineers who know what they are doing, any combination of engine location and driving wheels can result in a car with first-class road manners. We hope soon to see a beautifully-conceived little British car with front engine and front-wheel drive—but with a new and unique twist: the engine is placed cross-wise across the front, instead of longitudinally.

Now the sensational success of several very small rear-engined cars since the war may have led us to at least two false conclusions: that to place an engine in the "trunk" is a relatively new idea, or that a location is efficacious only in respect o ftiny mini-cars. Not so.

While the Corvair may be much larger than the most famous rear-engined cars from overseas, it is by no means the largest car upon which a rear-engine location has successfully been tried, nor is its engine of under 2½-liter displacement by any means the largest successfully cooled by air.

Czechs Were on Top

In the 1930's, Czechoslovakia was a Western-orientated model democracy, a little "America" in Europe in respect of its modern industrial capacity, as well as possessing a surplus of agricultural wealth; it had a government of absolute integrity, its people lived under justice and equality, while enjoying a standard of living very far above the European average.

Today, of course, the Russians, in their all-encompassing mercy, have extended to the Czechs their "protectorate" in the name of the big Slav Brother, and before that they fell victim to the scarcely more palatable Nazi hordes. One of the Nazi's victims was Dr. Hans Ledwinka, the guiding genius of the great pre-war, Czech Tatra cars. One of his last achievements was the large, stream-lined, rear-engined, air-cooled Tatra V-8—a car years, even decades, ahead of anything else made anywhere in the world.

This was a larger car than our new Corvair, both as to physical size as well as in respect to engine displacement, the Tatra V-8 having had a capacity in excess of 3½ liters, or somewhat more than the present Jaguar.

Dr. Ledwinka's most famous disciple was Dr. Ferdinand Porsche, the creator of the marvelous Volkswagen. His son, Dr. Porsche, Jr., builds today the car that bears his and his father's name, and which is, pound for pound and inch for inch, one of the world's greatest sports-racing machines, where handling and general road-manners are a matter of life and death. The engine? In the back—and air-cooled.

Today, the man who is the chief executive of the Chevrolet Division was before that its chief engineer, and before that chief engineer at Cadillac, Edward N. Cole is responsible for the Corvair, technically, as well as commercially. Cole worked nine years on his latest brainchild, for he was not unaware its commercial success must depend on its technical perfection.

AMERICANS KIDNAP BEAR CUBS

HAILEYBURY, Ont. (CP)—Folks around this Northern Ontario town are talking about the four American bearnappers.

The hunters braked their car to a stop near here last Friday and grabbed a bear cub waddling along the highway.

They pulled into the Haileybury service station for minor repairs. Sitting on the back seat eating green vegetables was the bear.

The station attendant, who related the story today and asked that his name not be used, said the Americans, believed from Ohio, told him they wanted the bear as a household pet.

DeB. G. Waldriff, chief conservation official for the Swastika branch of the Ontario lands and forests department, said he heard of tourists taking bears in cages but "I've never heard of them crossing the border on the back seat of a car."

He said it is not illegal to take a live bear out of the country. This is covered by a hunting licence.

HBC Parkade Preview

It's Out of This World . . .

Well, not really, but the difference that the Bay's NEW Parkade has made to the store is quite remarkable!

First of all, the New Parkade entrance on the Fashion Floor, 2nd, has let the soft Fall sunlight stream into the store to flood adjacent departments with the lovely shades of Autumn. Then many of the departments have been re-located in more convenient positions, have had new fixtures added for better selection, and have been redecorated for more eye appeal!

Visit the Bay's NEW second floor during your next shopping trip to town. Park in the New Parkade and walk directly from your car into our bright new world of fashion . . .

Bright new entrance on the second floor

Not ONE, but TWO

That's right, nowhere in Canada is there a parking area like the BAY'S NEW Parkade . . where you can walk directly from your car into two main entrances of the store. Some stores have streets in between, some even have blocks between their small lots and their store . . . but NOT at the BAY . . . You park within a few feet of the building and can enter directly into the main or second floor! How's that for convenience!

Sportswear Dept., new in every way!

Carport Facilities Are Better Than Ever!

For the past few months our Carport facilities have been — to say the least — unsatisfactory, because of the new Parkade construction that was under way. NOW the Carport facilities are better than ever! Your parcels are delivered directly from the counter to your car—and fast, too! Ask for this handy service NOW and see how well a carport can operate!

. . . HERE AND THERE . . .

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Coals of fire have descended on my greying head for quoting a statement that animals have "no sympathy" for fellow creatures in distress.

"Human beings have far too much conceit," says Mrs. Elsie Ridgeway. "They think they are God's chosen creatures when, in actual fact, they are more cruel to one another than any jungle beast could be . . ."

Mrs. James Barr a splendid champion of animal welfare, recalls watching a tiny squirrel pulling its companion off the road in the path of an oncoming car.

"I could mention many cases of sympathy between animals," she said. "Have you never seen a dog sharing its basket with a cat?"

Yes, and sometimes under protest.

This reminds me of those odd neighbors: James Hilton Smith and his classical bookshop on Fort Street—and the pet shop next door.

Mr. Hilton Smith is well used to customers entering his store carrying bowls of green turtles under one arm and asking if there is anything "new" in the way of Dickens and Macauley.

"Scholarship and love of pets often go together," he remarks.

Two Injured As Cars Skid On Wet Paving

Naval seaman George B. Walker of Patricia Bay naval air squadron was treated at HMCS Naden Hospital for deep face and head gashes after his small car was wrecked in collision with a large flat deck truck on rain-slick Montreal and Superior intersection today.

Two city police ambulances and a fire truck rushed to the scene at 10.10 a.m. as gasoline from the truck flowed into the street, creating a flash fire hazard.

Police said Walker's northbound car on Montreal was in collision with the rear side of a Heaney's Cartage truck driven east on Superior by Warren Taylor, 990 Jasmine, who escaped injury.

The impact spun the car around into a power pole and threw Walker into the street.

At 8.25 a.m., also on rain-wet pavement, Thelma Campbell, 37, of 2853 Graham, was in collision with a car driven at Hillside and Prior by Margaret Parkhouse, 4032 Shelbourne, and was taken to Jubilee Hospital with a suspected broken leg.

Two other mid-morning accidents were reported to police, both on Douglas Street in Saanich, in which heavy damage resulted.

Shooting Justified Jury Told

Lawyer Pleads For School Boy

(Earlier story page 10)

Ronald William Webber, 17, was "well justified by all standards of English law" in shooting a man to defend his mother, Gerald E. Lauder told a 12-man jury in Assize Court here today.

The jury was expected to give its verdict this afternoon in the murder trial of Webber, charged with shooting Victoria city fireman James C. Lusse, 55, at his mother's home at 1417 Camosun on the night of May 23 last.

Defending Webber, Mr. Lauder emphasized that Lusse, who lived with Mrs. Webber as man and wife, was a powerful man and a trained fireman who knew how to break into houses.

He had broken into the Webber household after Mrs. Alice Olive Webber, mother of the accused, had asked city police to remove him from the premises.

FIRED IN DEFENCE

He had threatened to kill Mrs. Webber and Ronald, her son, had fired in her defence, killing him.

Mr. Lauder asked the jury to accept three grounds of defence:

1. Ronald was defending himself.

2. Ronald was in peaceful occupation of his home. Under English law, a man's home is his castle and Ronald had every right to defend his castle.

3. By all standards of English law Ronald had the right to defend his mother.

MOTHER IN COURT

Mr. Lauder emphasized that Ronald had seen Lusse strike his mother and push her down onto a chesterfield. He also knew Lusse had put her head under the bathroom tap and had threatened to kill her.

BEDROOM WAS HIS

"He had taken her into his bedroom for protection," Mr. Lauder said, "and even if the whole home wasn't his, his bedroom certainly was.

"Lusse beat down the door of the bedroom by sheer physical force and Ronald was in a panic. He fired his rifle to protect her."

Mr. Lauder emphasized that Lusse was intoxicated and a man intoxicated was actually in a state of delirium.

TEMPER STIMULATED

"If he has a violent temper, alcohol will inflame and accelerate it," counsel continued. "It is a stimulant to violence in a man who is angry . . ."

Ronald had stated on oath that he liked Lusse when he was sober. When he got intoxicated he retired to his bedroom.

"Ronald got along well at school," Mr. Lauder said. "He did a lot of reading, and there was a difference between his mother and Lusse about him continuing at school."

Counsel emphasized that Ronald's fears for his mother had been aggravated by the fact that Lusse found a revolver in the house a few days before.

"He had every reason to fear that Lusse would kill his mother."

Mr. Justice Harry J. Sullivan began his address to the jury soon after noon.

BOBBY HELMET
. . . U.K. tourist draw?

WHAT AGAIN?

That Hat To Return For One Day

A policeman in a bobby helmet, once a Victoria landmark, will reappear on city streets Nov. 4.

But anti-bobby helmeters needn't fret—he'll be here only for a day or so.

The bobby, Const. Norman Niblo, 45, will make Victoria the first stop of a Canada-wide tour designed to encourage Canadians to visit the United Kingdom.

"It should awaken Victorians to the fact that we are becoming more and more Americanized while losing our attachment to the old country," he said.

"More and more tourists are pouring into Great Britain each year. Things like the British bobby and his helmet are the main reason."

Mr. Lane failed in an attempt earlier this year to get city police to abandon peak caps in favor of the helmets once worn on city streets.

Today he admitted he doubted that "our police would ever put on a helmet again."

"But I think," he said, "CPR police should wear them. People coming here look for them and are disappointed when they don't see them."

Mr. Lane said tourist brochures showing Victoria police in bobby helmets attracted a "great deal of interest" among Canadians as well as Americans."

Veteran Pastor From Alberta Dies

Rev. Frederick Forster, 74, who served the Methodist Church and United Church in Alberta for a total of more than 40 years, died in hospital here Wednesday after three years of residence in Victoria.

Born in England, he lived in retirement at Ganges, Salt Spring Island, before moving here. He was a member of Lodge No. 76, AF & AM, Bashaw, Alta.

Surviving are the widow, May, at home, 3060 Wascana Street; four sons, David, Victoria; Arnold and Arthur, Edmonton; and Robert, Calgary; 11 grandchildren, and two sisters and two brothers in England.

Funeral services will be announced later by McCalls.

Daylight Saving VoteRequested

City Socred Group Wants Plebiscite

Victoria association of the B.C. Social Credit League will press for a new province-wide plebiscite on daylight saving time, when the annual convention of the party opens in Vancouver Oct. 30.

A plebiscite was last held in the provincial election of 1952. At that time city dwellers defeated the opposition to daylight saving, which mainly was centred in rural areas.

Farm residents say the "fast time" upsets production schedules and required farmers to arise too early in the morning to meet market requirements and has an adverse effect on cows and milk production. Some school-parent groups opposed the daylight time schedule on grounds children cannot be easily sent to bed while it is still daylight although the hour may be late.

RESOLUTION IGNORED

The Social Credit convention of 1955, also at Vancouver, passed a resolution calling for abolition of fast time by the government. The vote was unanimous. At the same time, a resolution was passed indicating irritaion by party members with the cabinet for failing to follow through on earlier convention resolutions.

It said, "whereas there has been no information forwarded in regard to action taken by the government on resolutions passed at previous provincial conventions, therefore be it resolved a report from the provincial executive be sent to all constituencies on all resolutions passed at political conventions."

Daylight saving time is observed in summer months in most sections of Canada. In British Columbia this year it was in effect from April 26 to Sept. 26.

Chambers of commerce in the province, who feel longer summer evenings assist the tourist trade, have made several requests to the government for an extension of the fast time period. Municipal Affairs Minister W. E. Black told the Victoria Chamber last January that the cabinet would give consideration to the request.

NARROW MARGIN

Results of the plebiscite held in connection with the election of June 12, 1952 "are you in favor of day-light saving?" were. Yes, 290,353, and No, 231,008.

In Greater Victoria the yes-voters outweighed the no-voters 39,412 to 20,159 when votes cast in Oak Bay, Victoria City, Saanich and Esquimalt were counted. Each section strongly favored the present system.

It was learned the Victoria Social Credit Association will name delegates to the convention this Friday. The matter was left in the hands of the executive when it was brought up at the annual meeting recently.

A second resolution of major importance to be put forward by Victoria will deal with pension plans. It recommends a central government agency be established with control over pension plans operated by private firms.

A spokesman said there are too many cases today of employees who have served about 20 years with a firm, being let go just before they would be eligible for pension benefits.

The central agency would police pension operations in this regard and in other respects. It would operate in much the same manner as the Workmen's Compensation Board.

"Maggie" and her mistress, Mrs. Bessie Fowler.

EYE-FILLING SEEING-EYE

Famous Beauty, Maggie in City

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A sprightly female who has won international fame as a beauty is visiting Victoria this week.

Maggie is her name, and she will be doing a fair amount of sightseeing in the next few days, so you may have an opportunity of admiring her good looks.

But don't bother whistling, as we said before, because Maggie won't pay you any attention.

Mrs. Fowler, who has been blind since 1934, is visiting Victoria with Maggie and Mr. Fowler. They have relatives here and will be going to Nanaimo next week to stay with more relatives.

On Friday they will attend the weekly luncheon meeting of Victoria Lions Club. Mr. Fowler is a member of Lions International. And Maggie will "tell" her story.

In 1954 she was an unwanted refugee in a Michigan pound and was doomed to die. But a kindly warden gifted her to Mrs. Fowler, who had lost her seeing-eye dog. Maggie was 11 months old then.

The Fowlers were able to train her as guide dog in the short space of three months which convinced them that Maggie was far above average dog intelligence.

Then as Mr. Fowler explained: "We decided to place her in a dog show, just for fun. We didn't think she had a chance. We didn't even tell anyone that she was trained only as a seeing-eye dog."

HOLDS 80 RIBBONS

From then on things began to happen to Maggie. She won prize after prize in dog shows throughout the United States and Canada.

She reached the height of her fame when she took first prize at the Doberman Pinscher dog show in Chicago. She was competing then against the best dog of her breed in North America.

She created such a sensation that one man offered to buy Maggie for $5,000.

Today she has gathered 80 ribbons and 43 trophies at shows in Canada and the United States.

Mrs. Fowler, who teaches braille, said she has never owned a seeing-eye dog like Maggie.

"I've had two other dogs who were first class," she said. "But Maggie is the tops."

RITES SET FOR J. T. PAXTON

Funeral Friday for Marine Hero

Funeral services will be held Friday at 3 p.m. at Sands Funeral Home for John Thomas Paxton, 70, retired B.C. civil servant and recipient of the Stanhope medal, rarest award of the Royal Humane Society, who died Monday in the Veterans' Hospital.

The medal is given annually in recognition of the bravest deed of the year. One recipient, for instance, was the city of Springhill, following its tragic mine disaster.

Mr. Paxton was the 1916 winner of the medal, which he received from the hands of the Lord Mayor of Liverpool in that city May 2, 1917.

His deed of bravery occurred Aug. 17, 1916, when, as a fireman aboard an ancient tramp steamer, he saved the lives of three other crew members.

The ship had come under fire of a German submarine in the Mediterranean, and Mr. Paxton and a friend helped the on-duty firemen to keep up steam. Suddenly a coal trimmer told them they had been deserted by the rest of the crew.

Mr. Paxton saw the captain close by in a skiff, and managed to tow the other fireman, the trimmer, and a gunner, all non-swimmers, through a heavy sea to the skiff. The feat was performed under shellfire. The Germans later took the captain and gunner aboard and left the other three to row to shore. They reached safety under Paxton's leadership.

Born at Derbyshire, he followed the sea for most of his early life, and made his home here 32 years ago.

Surviving are the widow, Louise, at home, 1357 Pandora Avenue; two sons, Jack, in Victoria and George, Nova Scotia; six daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Wilander and Mrs. Joan Genet, Vancouver; Mrs. Audrey Walsh and Mrs. Mary Campbell, Victoria; Mrs. Sheila Bolianatz, Saskatchewan, and Mrs. Kathleen Matheson, Los Angeles, and 16 grandchildren.

Interment will take place at Royal Oak.

Carrying Cots for Dolls Will Charm Wee 'Mother'

By PENNY SAVER

What little "mother" wouldn't love a real, honest to goodness carry-cot in which to take her best doll along in the family car or a walk around the block? I saw some this week that are a perfect replica of the real thing.

In baby pink, blue, yellow and coral plastic, they are lined with white plastic and have two carrying handles and zippers for easy handling of that precious "baby." The cot and clip-on cradle-type hood are both trimmed in rick-rack braid. Very important, the whole thing is easily sponged clean!

Your little daughter will fall in love with this cot. In two sizes, her 12-inch or 14-inch doll will fit perfectly in one priced at $1.98. If the doll is larger, say 20-inch, there's a cot at $2.98.

Of course, if her doll has reached the walking stage, she'll need a tiny handbag in which to carry all the essentials of a young miss. The same store had "mother and doll" sets that would appeal to any style-conscious young lady.

There are two styles. The first with tiny flowers trim comes in black, red or beige plastic. The other is in a satchel style—very good with tailored clothes! The price is a mere $1.

With Thanksgiving weekend almost here you'll want lots of little things for your guests to munch on, whether they're young, or slightly older. Sitting around watching TV or just enjoying good conversation, you'll find that a few nuts won't go amiss.

If your housekeeping money is a little strained why not try freshly roasted peanuts? You can get a pound for only 39 cents. Phone Penny at EV 2-3131 for the name of the shop that carries them.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Extra Curricular Campaign: Is there anything at all that can be done to help "thankless brides?" Nothing is more disheartening than to spend my hard-to-come-by money for a gift for someone who hasn't the decency or manners to write a thank you note. With a daughter in college and many of her friends getting married, the wedding gift expense falls on us. I hope you can say something in your column about this. It might help future brides and it might spur their mothers to teach them the meaning of gratitude.

Louise Davis Answers:

You've said it, and I need say little more except that about all we can do is to grin and bear it. If your daughter is fully aware of this breech of good taste and manners, she might do some good among her college friends by conducting a subtle crusade.

Wanna Pick a Bone?

Do you approve of serving bone dishes for chicken or fish? I have noticed a revival of them lately, both in new china and antiques.

Louise Davis Answers:

That is a matter of personal opinion. I am one who would prefer to put them to other uses, such as for nuts, olives, celery or snacks. No matter how elegant bone dishes might look in design and texture, or how valuable they may be as antiques, there is something about them that is slightly unappetizing, especially as the bones begin to pile up! Cast off fish and chicken bones unobtrusively pushed to one side of the dinner plate would be much less conspicuous to others.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Experts View Problems Of Aged and Aging

I received a very interesting pamphlet today. It is a summary of views given by experts in the field of aging. In part it says:

Josephine

A man of 65 today has a life expectancy of another 13 years. A woman of 65 may expect to live another 15½ years. Since women have a greater life expectancy at birth and usually marry men older than they, a married woman today, as an average, can expect to be a widow for 10 years.

The average age at death in North America is now 70. The way things are going it will be 82 in the year 2000. If the medical profession continues to progress as it has in recent years it is entirely possible that persons will be living to the age of 125. I wish I were a little younger so I could have a shot at that. I would love it!

If medical research ever conquers the vascular diseases (and it doesn't seem too far away from it now) in 1970 we will have about 30 to 40 million people in the United States 65 years or older as compared to the present estimate of 20 million.

In testimony it was brought out that a large percentage of mental breakdowns can be traced to retirement and the resulting feeling of being removed from a life with meaning.

This hits every one of us in our homes and personal lives! It is now your personal problem or will be, because of the older members of our family and because, like it or not, some day we will get there ourselves!

DEAR ABBY . . .

Love— With No Strings Attached!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with this man for 11 years. He was married when I met him but his wife was sick. He asked me to move into his house and be his housekeeper and take care of his wife and four children. I did.

All this time we were sweethearts. He said he'd marry me in time. His wife passed away two years ago. Since then, he hasn't mentioned one word about marrying me, but he says he loves me. Do you call that love? HOUSEKEEPER.

DEAR HOUSEKEEPER: It's love all right! He loves your company, but he loves his freedom. He loves your housekeeping, but he would love to keep things exactly as they are. If you want a husband, I suggest you move your loving self out of his house and find a nice single man who is satisfied to love his own wife.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I know that parents are supposed to treat all their children alike, but we can't help favoring our middle child. Our oldest (a girl, 16) is selfish and mule-headed and we can't do a thing with her. The baby (a boy, 8) won't let us kiss him or touch him. He lies and is a real little troublemaker.

But the middle child is the kind all parents dream of having. He is truthful, loving and helpful. Everyone notices that he is our favorite. We know it isn't right, but how can we change the situation?

PRAYING FOR HELP.

DEAR PRAYING: Since all children do not behave the same way, they don't deserve the same treatment. Treat each child as an individual. When a child is mule-headed, deceitful and generally disagreeable, there is usually a reason for it. Professional help (starting with your family physician) could unearth those reasons, and possibly remove them.

DEAR ABBY: After being married to this woman for 17 years I guess maybe I don't have too much to complain about. But here is my problem: She never uses our out-sized living room except for showers and a visit from our minister.

All the other company she squeezes into our kitchen or den.

I told her I don't know what we needed this nice house for if she was only going to use half of it. It makes me so mad when she crowds everybody into the smallest rooms in the house. CRAMPED.

DEAR CRAMPED: Don't ask me why, but most people enjoy crowding into a small den or kitchen. If they enjoy the cosiness—relax and accept it.

DEAR ABBY: You often refer to a female woman with loose morals as a "dog." This, in my opinion, is an insult to any dog. Mongrel or pedigreed.

In a female dog, it is twice a year, and once mated she will refuse all other males. Show me a woman with such standards and I will marry her.

WALTER L.

WOMAN TOPS IN A NEW FIELD

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Helen R. Belyea of Calgary is making a name for herself in a traditionally male field, says the labor department's women's bureau.

Dr. Belyea, a geologist with the federal mines department in Calgary, has a gold medal to mark her place in the profession.

This year she was awarded the Barlow Memorial Medal, the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy's top annual award for a paper on economic geology. She is the first woman to win the medal.

Floral Setting, Autumn Tones at Recent Wedding

Autumn flowers formed a colorful setting in St. John's Anglican Church for the Saturday evening wedding of Dorothy Jean Louise Porter, daughter of Mrs. Frances Porter, 1101 Hillside Avenue, and Gary William Barlow, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Barlow, 1098 Stoba Lane.

The bride's ballerina length gown, sabrina necklined and with lily point sleeves, was of nylon sheer. A braid of iridescent sequins bordered the neckline of the fitted bodice and appliques of sequins studded the full hoop skirt which was complemented with a panel train.

Lace heirloom veil, waist length, was held by a coronet of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The bride carried trailing mauve chrysanthemums and a mauve orchid on a white prayer book.

Matron of honor, Miss Deanna Medland, wore a ballerina length blue net-over-taffeta gown, trimmed with lace. Her headband was blue flowers and she carried a crescent-shaped bouquet en tone.

Miss Wendy Burbidge, bridesmaid, wore a matching ensemble in pink. The flower girl, Miss Linda Shortridge, was dressed in a party length dress of pale orange nylon trimmed with white lace. She wore a floral headband to match and carried a colonial bouquet of vari-colored chrysanthemums.

Raymond Sugden was best man and Roger Barlow and Michael Porter acted as ushers. A. Noel Cox proposed the toast to the bride at a reception in Holyrood House.

Relatives of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Heaton and their two sons, David and Noel, all of Alberta, attended the ceremony.

A fitted royal blue and black looped mohair dress was worn by the bride for a honeymoon trip to Lake Louise and the United States. The newlyweds will make their home at 796 Portage Road.

Cathie and Alastair are dreaming of the day when they will be able to go dancing like their mothers who will attend the Fall Frolic arranged by the Women's Auxiliary to the Cerebral Palsy Clinic in the upper ballroom at the Crystal Garden, Friday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Mrs. Jack Neilsen, at left, and Mrs. Ralph Singleton, right, are convening the affair. HOTELS GOING AUTOMATIC

SERVICE WITHOUT TIPS

VANCOUVER (CP) — You drive into the hotel through your own private entrance. An elevator carries your car and baggage to your room upstairs.

In your room, a control panel enables you to regulate heat, light and the firmness or softness of your mattress.

That's how it will be in the hotel of the future, 150 delegates to the 35th annual convention of the B.C. Hotels Association were told today.

J. R. Corbett, managing director of the association, said the hotel of the future will also have these features:

Pneumatic tubes that don't suggest tips will carry food, beverages, newspapers and other small items to every room.

Telephone calls will be accompanied by a television picture of the party at the other end. But the picture transmission will be subject to individual control and if your party has just stepped out of the shower, you won't even get a test pattern.

Hotel detectives will be replaced by television cameras hidden in decorations at the end of hotel corridors.

ANDREW DALTON

ASK ANDY WINNER

Science Career Aim Of City Schoolboy

A career in science leading to work as a meteorologist is planned by Andrew Dalton, 14, most recent winner of a prize offered through the "Ask Andy" column seen daily in the Times.

He won a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America for having his question, "What Is a Toucan?" chosen as a subject for the popular feature. It is answered in the column on this page today.

Andrew is a bit of a traveler, having been born in Truro, N.S., and lived in several other cities in Canada before settling here with his family. He is the son of Rev. W. L. Dalton, naval chaplain here, and Mrs Dalton, and the oldest of five children, living at 870 Hotham Road, Esquimalt.

He has been here two years, and is in grade 10 at Esquimalt High School, where he is a member of the drama club. Outside activities include membership in the Inter-School Christian Fellowship and Gorge Vale Boy Scout troop.

His question on the toucan was prompted by nothing but curiosity, he said.

"Science subjects are my favorites at school," he said. "I've picked them all with meteorological work in mind."

A combination of a shift system at Esquimalt High and major league baseball on the west coast for the first time allowed him to enjoy the world series games at Los Angeles. Other hobbies include assembling and collecting model aircraft.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15 volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Cannadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Andrew Dalton, aged 14, of Esquimalt, B.C., for his question:

What Is a Toucan?

The toucan is an American tropical bird where he has the reputation of being the noisiest chatterbox in the treetops. He is usually smaller than a crow and his sleek plumage is almost always adorned with patches of brilliant colors. You may not notice this at first glance because he has one remarkable feature which takes your entire attention. It is his bill.

The toucan's bill is at least half as big as his body and looks like a banana stuck on the front of his face. If it were made of heavy material, he could not hold up his head. However, it is very light.

The toucan turns his head around and lays his bill along his back when he sleeps, after he has flipped over his tail feathers to cover it up. Apparently he is very proud of his remarkable bill and does not want anything to happen to it while he is asleep.

How do tree frogs differ from other frogs?

Most frogs spend their lives in and around their favorite swimming pools. After they become adults, we find them among the grass and weeds near a creek or pond, swimming, dozing on a lily pad or just squatting at the bottom of the water. Tree frogs also like and need moisture, but after they are grown they rarely dunk themselves in the water.

A tree frog, like any other frog, spends his fishy tadpole stage in the water. In a month or so he is a miniature frog, ready to venture onto dry land. You can tell at once whether he is a true frog or a tree frog. Mother Nature has fitted the tree frog with special fingers and toes for climbing trees.

Suction Cups

There are small round discs on the four fingers of his tiny hands and on the five toes of his tiny feet. These discs are suction cups which help the small tree climber to cling. He can climb straight up a trunk, hold onto a swaying branch or even hang comfortably upside down.

As soon as he is ready, the tree frog leaves the old swimming pool where his cousins, the true frogs, will live all their lives. But as a rule he does not travel very far. He goes to the shrubs, the tall grasses and the low hanging branches near the water. Here the air is moist and the leaves are often splashed, for the tree frog is an amphibian and the skin of an amphibian needs moisture. Our tree frog is always most happy to welcome a dewy morning and he spends many hours just squatting in the crotch of a twig, thinking froggy thoughts and smiling his big froggy smile.

His thoughts are most likely about insects, his favorite food. He keeps his big mouth shut until a fly wings by. Then in a flash, out whips his long, sticky tongue. Unlike most tongues, a frog's is rooted to the centre of the lower jaw. It is a very accurate weapon and in no time at all the fly is caught, curled back into the mouth and swallowed.

The tree frog has another gift to help him enjoy life among the leaves and branches. He can change color to suit his surroundings. He may wear pearly grey, brown or almost any shade of green depending upon where he is squatting. This helps him to become invisible to his enemies the racoons, the snakes and the meat eating birds.

MORE THAN MET THE EYE

Just a Shiner . . .

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — A 42-year-old man was jailed on a drunk charge here Sunday and, except for the fact he had a very black eye, nobody paid any attention.

But Wednesday, amazed sheriff's officers said they have found out what caused the black eye: a fresh wound from a .22 calibre bullet which was still lodged in the back of his head.

The man, Andrew Knapp of nearby Potlatch, hadn't said anything about it and for two days had walked around and acted like there was nothing on his mind.

Knapp was rushed to a Spokane hospital and apparently has lost the sight of the right eye. His speech may also be affected.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Garry Moore's having some fiendish fun doing the Candid Camera gimmick on his new TV show — playing, for example, a bank vice-president gypping a depositor out of his money.

"In one sequence," Garry told me, "a man who come into an actual bank to make a deposit is shown into my office — I'm at the vice-president's desk—so he won't have to wait in line.

"He gives me the money. I put it into my pocket and say 'I'll give you a receipt'. The telephone rings. (I ring it with my foot.) I say 'Pardon me', and leave. Another man comes in and sits at my desk.

"He says to the depositor 'Yes'? The depositor says 'The other gentleman was going to give me a receipt'. The real vice-president says 'What other gentleman? This is my office!'"

Garry grinned. "The depositor starts screaming, he yells for the guards. We've got it all on Allen Funt's CBS Candid Camera."

Why isn't he recognized? I disguise myself—I wear a four-in-hand tie and glasses. The big thing is, people don't look at public servants. Or recognize people out of context. We talked to a dry cleaner about cleaning and pressing money. We said some people liked their money neat. He agreed to give us a discount if we would stamp on it, 'Dry Cleaned by Delancey Dry Cleaners'."

Bert Wheeler's got a funny line in "The Gang's All Here" (about the Harding administration). Passing around some Havanas to the boys, he says: "Compliments of yesterday's Cuban government." The unsung hero or heroine of the hit drama (by Ohio playwrights Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee) was the makeup genius who made Melvyn Douglas look startlingly like Harding. Wheeler said in Sardi's: "I'm not worried about the notices; I'm just happy to be working."

I asked Miiko Taaki in El Morocco the name of her escort. "I don't know," she said. "All American and English names sound alike to me." ('Twas Lord Hardwicke) . . . Jackie Miles is up for the movie "The Crowded Sky" . . .

Betty Hutton, whose new CBS-TV series was unveiled last week, has been so busy filming she hasn't had time to battle with her husband, Allen Livingston, over their financial settlement. "When threatened with court, I say, 'O.K., Buddy, go to court. I hope I can get time to be there.'"

Shapely ex-stripper Ann Corio, oozing up 5th Avenue in a tight red outfit, spied Richard Nixon. Undulating up to him, she congratulated him on "becoming our next President," adding, "I'm sure you can outstrip all your opposition and if you can't, I can!" . . . Debbie Reynolds jetted Hollywoodward after explaining that she's coming back soon "to have some REAL fun." (Like Wow.)

The Midnight Earl . . . Danny Thomas called the White Sox "the Batniks" . . . The head of Seagram's couldn't get a table at the Four Seasons in the Seagram's Building—it was merely his building . . .

Carroll Baker cancelled her "But Not for Me" tour and rushed back to N.Y.—nervous exhaustion . . . Marlon Brando dated Faith Dane, the bugle-blowing stripper of "Gypsy."

Joe Louis will tour with Roy Campanella to sell Campy's book, "It's Good to Be Alive" . . . Christine Jorgensen will play the California cafe circuit . . . Ida Puente, whose Ida's Hangup cafe is shuttered here, will open one in Miami Beach . . . Henry Fonda waited four hours at Idlewild airport for his wife to arrive from Europe and was almost unrecognized . . . The husband of a famed singer gets loaded in a nearby bar during her TV rehearsals, then interrupts everything to talk to her.

Today's Best Laugh: Lisa Kirk knows a teen-age girl who's planning to run away from home — as soon as she figures out how to take the telephone with her.

Wish I'd Said That: The new Italian pointed shoes are very comfortable if you happen to have one toe.

They tell of the guy who retired after 30 years. Instead of a gold watch the boss gave him the water cooler . . . That's earl, brother.

TIME FOR CONSOLIDATION

Movie Industry Leaves Doldrums

The decline of the motion picture industry in Canada is over, Ron Leonard, director of advertising and publicity for Odeon Theatres in Canada, prophesied in an interview in Victoria, Wednesday.

Mr. Leonard is in town at the end of a western Canadian tour. His headquarters are in Toronto. He was accompanied to Victoria by Guy Upjohn, supervisor and booker, Vancouver.

Mr. Leonard said that he felt a static state had been reached and it was generally agreed that now was the time for consolidation. Teenagers, who had stood by the industry through its retreat in the face of TV's impact, were now being joined by the film industry's once trusted ally, the housewife, who was slowly returning to her once beloved matinee.

FAMILIES WOOED

The industry now, he continued, was seeking a reliable story formula through which it could lure the entire family back, to make movie going the popular family treat it was until the TV era set in.

Asked why motion picture advertisements so often misrepresented the film to the public by showing a drawing of something sexy or bloodthirsty — sometimes minor points of the film, sometimes non-existent — Mr. Leonard admitted that it would be preferable not to do so but claimed that the studios often had discovered that such ads were the most reliable methods by which to trigger interest in a film.

He admitted, also, that there were instances when such exploitation harmed the film rather than aided it.

He stressed the difficulties that beset the studios in selling their wares after millions of dollars had been invested. One example he offered was "Twelve Angry Men," hailed by critics and all those who saw it as an outstanding motion picture and yet, for some vague reason unknown, failing to do better than average business.

Another example was the current pet of the critics, "Anatomy of a Murder." Only now, more because of mouth-to-mouth praise rather than through the film's advertising campaign, the show is beginning to draw the public in increasing numbers to the box office window.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court Wednesday:

Marcel V. L. Molin, 638 Battery, $35 for weaving in traffic.

"MOUNTAIN MAN" sought for murder of his wife is Charles Lelo, who got that nickname because of his ability to live off country. Motorists in the Cascades have been asked to look out for Lelo, sought for shooting his wife in Seattle Sunday.

NEW HELP FOR ALCOHOLICS

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Hotels Association will consider a plan to help the province's alcoholics.

Retiring president J. J. Cusstock told the association's convention this following a talk by Rev. William Hills, rector of St. George the Martyr Anglican Church in Victoria.

Mr. Hills said: "You have a tremendous responsibility, because you can do a job in aiding those who drink in excess. I hope you can help these unfortunate individuals."

Mr. Cusstock said the incoming executive will discuss details of a program to help alcoholics.

Mr. Hills also said hotel operators should do their best to ensure their patrons behave themselves.

"Be good disciplinarians. You may lose 25 cents or a dollar by refusing a glass to a customer, but you'll save a lot of glass and toilet amenities."

Hotel keepers were "indispensible in the cultural life of the province."

9 IN MEMORIAM

BROWN—In loving memory of Chris Brown, who passed away Oct. 8, 1958.

The one I loved is now laid low,
His loving voice is still.
The hand so often clasped in mine,
Lies now in death's cold chill.
I often sit and think of him
When I am all alone;
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.

—Ever remembered by your loving wife Edith.

PARKINS—In loving memory of Mum, who passed away October 8, 1953, and Dad, May 1, 1931.

"In memory's garden we meet every day."

—Nellie.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

The better you play the better you will do in the long run but on any one hand a little bit of luck will go a long way to producing a winning result.

North and South vulnerable

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	1 ♠
2 ♥	2 ♠	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♥ 2

East and West can make five diamonds but duplicate players shy away from these minor suit games and in the Masters' Pairs at Jackson only a couple of teams got there. All the rest but one landed at various part scores.

This particular pair had been experimenting with various unusual types of takeout doubles. Hence, when East doubled two spades he thought he was making a so-called responsive double to ask his partner to consider some other suit.

West took it as a good old-fashioned business double and was delighted to pass. Of course, he did not know where all the bidding was coming from, but everything looked rosy.

North and South held 10 trumps and the ace of diamonds but there was no cross ruffing power. East and West picked off three clubs, two hearts and a diamond and a 200-point penalty for a very good match point score.

Western RED CEDAR "Bevel" SIDING

"Keystone" clear kiln dried siding is the finest available — a quality material for all applications where perfection is required.

With its "grow-in" workability, weather resistance and lasting good looks, "Keystone" clear Western Red Cedar Siding has long been recognized as the standard of quality home construction.

It has a distinctive "shadow line" which enhances any architectural style in any setting, and is used to create a variety of interesting decorative effects on indoor surfaces as well as exterior.

5 GRADES

"CLEAR" Bevel SIDING

Siding of this grade is designed for use where perfection is demanded. It is well milled on face and edges, making a smooth surface usable full length without waste. 6" and wider siding is vertical grain (V6) for ¾ the width or more from thick edge.

"A" Bevel SIDING

Siding of this grade is selected for use where exceptionally fine appearance is desired. It is usable full length without waste and may be mixed grain (MB).

"B" Bevel SIDING

Appearance closely approaching that of the higher grades is often achieved with siding of this grade, which contains slightly more characteristics and some cutouts in longer pieces. Craftsmen of even moderate skill find it easy to apply. It may be mixed grain (MG).

"RUSTIC" Bevel SIDING

Siding of this grade is recommended for use on sidewall covering where the distinctive charm of rustic appearance is desired. Pieces are graded from the resawn or rough side which is exposed. Thick edge may be rough or surfaced.

"C" Bevel SIDING

Pieces of this grade have one or more characteristics which are such size or number that the piece is not of a higher grade. Lengths are random with no specified percentages.

T.V. with Lee

Bob Hope at 8, Rock Hudson's 'Party' at 9, Kiwanis Auction at 10

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

AN UNFORGETTABLE 90 MINUTES—In the field of musical revues it is unlikely that television will be able to equal Tuesday night's "The Wonderful World of Entertainment" during the entire new season. Indeed I can think of only one or two that might be categorized in the same breath without blaspheming in the almost five years that I've been conducting this column.

Much of the success had to do with the principals involved. There was everyone's "Auntie Mame," Rosalind Russell, who was a hostess that made you forget all other TV hostesses you've ever seen. There was the true pros of the profession, entertainers who had cut their teeth on vaudeville, radio, movies and early-day TV. I mean, of course, pros like Eddie Foy, Jr., Kate Smith, the inimitable Maurice Chevalier and Arthur O'Connell. Then there were the latter day favorites such as Polly Bergen, young Eddie Hodges, Jack Paar and Ernie Kovacs.

TV TEE-HEES

"We'd like to go where they don't have any TV!"

But entertainers are not enough to spell success in this form of presentation. Therefor executive producer Hubbell Robinson should be asked to take a deep bow for the overall venture. Under his anxious eye the pace was so swift that the 90 minutes passed as though they totalled only 45. Each act was as clean and uncluttered as the Sahara desert. Choreography by Bob Fosse held to this spartan outline with the costuming, lighting and sets meticulously measured to match.

Certainly if sponsoring Ford's new automobiles equal the show then they should be in for a most happy and prosperous new year.

* * *

THE THEME OF THE SHOW, considering the talent, couldn't have been a happier choice—the tracing of showbusiness through the 20th Century. Skilful use of film clips allowed viewers to witness such historic tragedies as the burning of the dirigible Hindenburg and hearing the actual account of it by the on-the-spot radio announcer. But laughter, fortunately, played the better part of the show.

There were the cheerful, zany ditties of the 1920's, of the depressed thirties, clips from old Keystone Cops, from old westerns. Arising from these was possibly the show's highlight, a tremendous spoof in ballet featuring Tommy Rall as the invincible cowboy hero.

Then there was the take-off of Miss Russell's old movies with Ernie Kovacs, a moving scene from her part in the motion picture "Picnic," with Arthur O'Connell, the marvellous dancing of Eddie Foy, Jr., in the "Ain't We Got Fun" number and TV's making of a star via "The Helen Morgan Story" and the beautiful Polly Bergen who won an Emmy for it.

And who can forget the songs of Kate Smith, or of gay Paree's Maurice Chevalier at 71—or is it 72—doing his own version of "You Made Me Love You?" Of Jack Paar's sniping at the officers before the GIs in the Pacific? Of young Eddie Hodges sitting high on a piano through one of the exhilarating numbers?

As a matter of fact, who can forget "The Wonderful World of Entertainment?"

May it be repeated for all those who may have missed it.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1959

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Do not get upset in the morning regarding anything that associates or higher-ups say or do, that might appear to be stumbling blocks in your path. Be steadfast. During early p.m. you can increase prestige by performing some public office.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Be most careful in all that you do in a.m. or there is a definite possibility of causing damage of some sort. Get out into the bustling world of activity and meet people, learn new methods, get ideas that will be helpful in the future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Take care you do not invest unwisely this a.m. simply because one who is forceful does not have an accurate picture of what you truly desire. Later, put abode in pink of condition. P.M.: study relationships with others; make changes needed.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—Situation at residence could be very disturbing, so it behooves you to be off with enterprising associate and work towards mutually beneficial aims. P.M. better understanding can later be yours in civic or intimate affairs.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Any careless remarks in a.m. could be very detrimental, so think before you speak. Also, take care in motion. Later in the day you will have much energy to perform tasks which require your personal attention. Roll up your sleeves and go to it.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Considering tasks you must perform worriedly can only cause you to err in a.m. Relax and carry through methodically and carefully. P.M. is then fine for social pleasure that will increase popularity and prestige.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23)—Being upset, you want to take your ire out on a family tie. Get hold of your emotions or there could be a serious rift. Then all will be O.K. P.M. have fun at own fireside.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Spend a.m. constructively working at what is most vital to your aims instead of wasting time with unimportant people or unwise activities. Latter part of day is then good for catching up on important correspondence, social affairs.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Remain loyal to good comrade who can always be relied upon for assistance and devotion. Later, get any monetary or property affairs handled properly. See where and how you can increase abundance. P.M. look after health problems.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—While a civic or public affair is really a problem in a.m., don't let it bother you unnecessarily. Attend to health matters. Later in the day you will be able to impress some big executive. Be adroit and wise, full of life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Endeavoring to delve into new ventures before present ones are caught up on could bring a good deal of confusion. Plan your time wisely so that you get work or obligations met and done and still have time for making new plans.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Rather than waste time with detail-conscious individual who misses the bus where important points are concerned, remain steadfast to loyal and wise comrade who gives best advice. P.M. very fine for social affairs.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY . . .

The fine child born Friday will have a natural sense of how and where to co-operate with others, plus an ability to think positively about own wants and desires. However, you must early teach to look at the other person's position or much time can be spent arguing unnecessarily. A fine chart here for the builder, architect, real estate operator or for anything connected with phonetics or production.

LOT CENTRE

We have specialized in obtaining better lot listings. If you are going to build a new home there is nothing that will protect your investment more than the proper lot and its location.

From our experience in the development of better areas in Victoria we are in a position to advise you of better building sites and their future, e.g. Some of our developments are Sherwood Oaks, Alpine Crescent, Camelot, San Juan, Huntington Park, Shorncliffe, Bywood, Montclair Park, Rolling Hills.

From the results of independent surveys that have been taken we have a good idea of the probable increase in values of land. This increase in value [illegible] built on a good lot is even greater, e.g. Houses built in Sherwood Oaks have increased in price as high as 30% of cost.

We refrain from handling lots in the poorer districts because a home built on these lots will not hold its value. This has been borne out by the difficulties people are having in selling their homes in subdivisions located in poorer areas. We sincerely hope that the public is aware of the importance of their future home as an investment.

Terror Campaign Reported Against Indians in Tibet

By RUKMINI DEVI
Canadian Press Correspondent

BOMBAY (CP) — An organized campaign by Red Chinese authorities to terrorize the Indian population in Tibet has been reported.

Indian traders arriving in Sikkim, the Himalayan border state, say stabbing and looting of Indian businessmen in such well-known trading centres as Yatung has become the order of the day.

The Red Chinese have forbidden the Tibetans from fraternizing with Indians. A total commercial and social boycott of Indians has been organized. No one is allowed to buy from Indian shops.

A prominent Indian trader is reported to have been set upon by a mob and slain. The mob looted his business premises.

SIMILAR SITUATION

A similar situation is said to prevail in Lhasa, the Tibetan capital, where so far Indian traders had been permitted to carry on their commercial activities within prescribed areas.

The standard modus operandi is as follows: Chinese agents spread rumors that Indian traders are "fleecing" Tibetans. A demonstration is organized before a selected Indian-owned shop. When excitement runs high pro-Chinese Tibetans call for looting and violence. Police do not intervene.

Indian traders in Tibet are said to be in a state of panic. Many would like to leave the country but the Chinese authorities are reported to have told them they may leave if they wish but they will not be allowed to take even a yard of cloth with them.

The Chinese have already taken measures to prevent Indian traders from sending money out of the country.

Six leading Indian firms in Tibet have suspended operations but, their owners have been waiting in Lhasa for permission to take out their assets.

Not Another Step Nehru Warns Peking

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru warned Peking today that India will resist any further moves across the Tibetan border by Chinese Communist troops.

But for the time being, he said, India will not try to eject the Chinese from disputed outposts they have seized.

"We do not intend to start military operations against these places at this stage when we are dealing with the situation on a political level," he told his monthly press conference.

"If any change is made from existing positions, that certainly will be resisted."

Nehru met reporters a day after disclosure of a letter to him from Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai calling the border dispute "merely an episode in our age-old friendship."

Nehru said Chou's message indicated some improvement in the tense relations between the two countries but added: "How far that is an improvement on the situation I cannot say."

2 Drivers Freed In Auto Deaths

Drivers involved in two Malahat auto accidents in which fatalities occurred have been freed by the attorney-general's department of charges of criminal negligence.

Stays of proceedings were entered because of lack of evidence, according to a department spokesman.

Both drivers concerned are Victorians.

James McNulty, 29, a lacrosse player, was charged following an accident May 3 in which a fellow lacrosse player, James Richard "Peewee" Bradshaw, suffered fatal injuries. He died in hospital in Duncan 3½ hours after the accident, and McNulty was committed for trial after a preliminary hearing June 3.

PINNED BY WRECKAGE

The tragedy occurred when the car, owned by Bradshaw and driven by McNulty, went out of control, crashed over a guard rail, and plunged 140 feet down a bank. McNulty was not injured, but Bradshaw was pinned under the wreckage.

Francis Gilbert, 19, of 1250 Palmer Road, was charged as a result of an accident March 22 in which Linda Henly, 17, of 1722 Bay Street, was injured fatally. They were part of a group of young people returning from an outing in three cars, and Gilbert had just passed one of the cars when his car struck a rock wall.

Gilbert received only minor injuries, and four others in the car were kept in hospital for about one week each.

Wild blueberries are harvested commercially in Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Quebec.

SIMCOE, Ont. — Norfolk County's newest Canadian citizen will die happily because Judge G. A. P. Brickenden bent the law a bit.

PRINCESS ALEXANDRA . . . home again

County court convened beside the man's bed in the Norfolk General Hospital Wednesday to declare him a citizen. The rest of his life is measured in hours.

The man and his wife, whose names were not disclosed, were scheduled to appear before the court for their citizenship certificates Monday. Only the wife showed up.

Her husband, he said, was dying in the hospital.

Canadian law says citizenship certificates must be presented in a qualified court. Judge Brickenden picked up his court, officials and all, and moved it to the man's bedside.

Never in his life, the judge said Wednesday night, had he seen a man so happy. He was overjoyed to know he would die as a Canadian.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa — Temperature readings here for a 56-hour period registered 56 degrees.

The weather bureau said it probably was some sort of a record, but was at a loss as to what kind.

OMAHA, Neb. A city inspector, following up a complaint, today asked Mrs. John Herman just why she was running an unregistered nursery.

Mrs. Herman explained that the six children all under six — scampering about the house were all hers.

Lloyd F. Bonner, 21, was walking along a busy highway firing an army rifle at passing autos and into the air.

But no one was injured. The bullets were blanks.

Bonner was charged with robbery after admitting to police that he broke into a Veterans of Foreign Wars hall and stole two cases of beer, two rifles and 200 rounds of ammunition used in ceremonies.

LONDON — Tall, green-eyed Princess Alexandra of Kent arrived home Wednesday night from her 35,000-mile, nine-week tour of Australia and the Far East.

The 22-year-old princess, Queen Elizabeth's first cousin, visited India, Cambodia, Thailand and Turkey and spent six weeks in Australia to help Queensland state mark its centenary.

MOSCOW — The Russian navy is having troubles.

A Soviet navy commander wrote the services' newspaper Soviet Fleet to complain about young officers sporting "fancy sidewhiskers, semi-female hair styles, huge buckles on shoes and short trousers which don't cover their shoes."

$1,000 LIKELY VALUE

Only 300 Copies Issued Of Upside Down Stamps

OTTAWA (CP) — The post office department estimated today that 300 misprinted copies of Canada's five-cent seaway stamp have reached the public.

On this estimate, the first official one since the celebrated misprints originally were discovered in Winnipeg six weeks ago, may ride their final market value to stamp collectors.

Until now, with the "imperfects" turning up also in three Ontario centres, the number at large had been estimated variously at from 100 or so to about 2,000. Reports on their value ranged from $100 to more than $1,000 apiece.

Winnipeg dealer Kasimer Bileski has stuck to his original buying price of around $1,000. He said recently he had negotiated the purchase of 58 of the seaway misprints for a total of $50,000.

Philatelists in Ottawa say that with 300 such stamps sold by the post office, their value may be slightly less than $1,000 each. A used stamp, on a good envelope and bearing a clear cancellation mark, would be worth 15 to 25 per cent more than an unusued one.

Since the imperfects were found in Winnipeg by a woman Aug. 20, similar stamps have turned up in Ottawa, Peterborough and Picton, Ont. The post office department now is convinced that few, if any, additional misprints will be found.

The misprints were part of a 40,000,000-stamp June 27 issue to mark the formal opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway by Queen Elizabeth and President Eisenhower.

In the misprinted batch, the central blue design on the stamp — a symbolic seaway link of the American eagle and Canadian maple leaf—was inverted in relation to the red printing at the top and bottom of the stamp.

It was the first such Canadian misprint since this country began issuing stamps in 1851. In a statement released here today Postmaster-General William Hamilton said he hopes it is the last.

It is obvious, he explained, that a new program of producing more two-colored stamps brings with it the risk of inverted misprints.

Responsible for the error was the Canadian Bank Note Company in Ottawa, the firm that produces much of Canada's currency in addition to stamps.

NUMBER NOT CERTAIN

There is no "certain way" of knowing exactly how many inverted stamps were issued, Mr. Hamilton said.

However, the stamps were printed in sheets of 200, with each sheet cut into "panes" of 50 stamps for distribution. It now was estimated that three sheets or 12 panes of 50 stamps each were misprinted. Half of these were recovered in post office stocks before sale.

Of the rest, only two panes have not been accounted for. It is believed they may have been bought and used by the public without the misprint being noticed.

Nfld. Loggers Seeking CLC Affiliation

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — An independent loggers' union formed to replace locals of a Canadian Labor Congress affiliate will seek affiliation with the CLC's Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, it was announced Wednesday.

Members of the 13,000-member Newfoundland Brotherhood of Woods Workers (Ind.) authorized their executive to seek affiliation in a resolution passed at the union convention in Grand Falls last week. The 14 resolutions approved by the 90 NBWW delegates were made public Wednesday.

The NBWW was promoted last March by Premier Smallwood during a violence-marked strike by the International Woodworkers of America (CLC) against the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company. The two IWA locals in the province were decertified by the legislature.

Five Months For Police Assault

Roger Lindal, 5191 Gordon, was sentenced in Saanich police court Tuesday to a total five months definite and three months indeterminate in young offenders' unit for assaulting a policeman and prowling by night Aug. 17.

He was found guilty of the offences after trials were held and he was remanded to Tuesday for sentence.

Police charged Lindal after he struck Cons. Charles Trueit, who was arresting him. The officer found the accused crouched in a field near a home on Haliburton Road about midnight.

Magistrate William Ostler imposed four months definite and three months indeterminate on the assault charge and one month, consecutive, for prowling by night.

REPORT IN SPRING

Delinquency Study Ends in December

A legislative committee on juvenile delinquency aims to wind up two years of studies by December and make a report to the Legislature at the spring session, it was learned today.

The committee, made up of members from all parts of the province, has met for three days this week in a caucus room at the Legislative Buildings.

A plan for delinquency prevention, controlled by the province but shared in by the churches and municipalities and welfare groups, was outlined to the committee Tuesday.

Ray C. Votaw, field service head California Youth Authority, described a community program which he felt could be adopted in B.C. Early detection is a major factor in prevention of delinquency he said. Once detected, the entire community must work together to correct it.

UNDER FIRE

The committee came under fire at the last session of the house for alleged delay in completing its studies. Later Mrs. Buda Brown (SC-Point Grey) resigned because "we are getting nowhere."

Chairman of the committee is Health Minister Eric Martin. His office reported at the time of Mrs. Brown's resignation that the reason she quit was ill health.

"That is not right," she said. "I was not well but more important, I decided the committee could do nothing to help in the juvenile delinquency problem."

The committee deliberations are being carried out behind closed doors. Local MLAs taking part are John Tisdalle (SC-Saanich) and Herbert Bruch (SC-Esquimalt).

LEGISLATION

A second committee is meeting in the legislative buildings on matters which also might be reflected in spring legislation.

This is a group of 15 mines department and electrical manufacturers' representatives from all parts of Canada. They meet annually in connection with legislation governing electrical work in mines. They seek a uniform safety code and safety improvements in electric equipment used in the industry.

Chairman of the committee is Leslie Wardman, senior electrical inspector for the B.C. mines department. Last year the group met in Toronto. Their discussions are expected to last all week.

480 Rebels Purged In Algeria

ALGIERS (AP) — The French Army Tuesday claimed that the nationalist rebels have executed 480 members of their own forces for plotting against rebellion.

French headquarters released photostats of what it said was an official rebel report of the purge of "counter-revolutionary elements" in Rebel Region 4, south of Algiers.

The army claimed the document confirmed earlier reports of a growing tendency among rebel leaders to eliminate the "intellectuals" among their original followers. The French said the rebels believe these elements are more susceptible to doubts about the success of the revolt, now in its fifth year. Only certain sections of the purported document were shown to reporters.

The army also announced that 495 rebels were killed and 153 captured in various actions last week.

Local Yards Unlikely To Get Navy Contract

Higher labor and freight costs are expected to spoil chances of B.C. shipyards in bidding for an RCN 22,000-ton tanker.

Defence production department has invited tenders from Canadian shipyards. Previously naval contracts have been allocated to various yards.

He said B.C. average shipyard wage was $2.42 compared to $1.80 in yards on the St. Lawrence. At the same time, B.C. builders have the added cost of higher cross-mountain freight rates on steel and other materials.

VMD and Burrard Dry Dock in Vancouver both have indicated a willingness to bid for the new vessel, but unless there is a differential allowed western yards, bids might not be submitted.

Canada Dominated by U.S. CCF House Leader Claims Here

Canada should give the U.S. two quick kicks in the teeth and assert its independence.

That, in effect, was the advice of Hazen Argue, CCF house leader in the Commons, at a press conference here Tuesday.

Mr. Argue, decrying "foreign domination of Canada," said the nation should:

1. Withdraw from NORAD, to turn over defence of the Canadian north to a NATO command;

2. Slap controls on the flow of U.S. investment capital.

"We're getting the worst of two worlds in defence. The Americans are running our defence system yet we have to pay a big chunk of it," he said.

"I think it was a mistake to join NORAD because it brought American domination. I would have preferred to see a NATO command undertake defence of our north.

"That way, we would at least have had more of a voice in our own defence than the present unequal partnership."

Mr. Argue also pointed out that since 1952 Canada has had an annual net capital deficit if $1,000,000,000 in dealings with the U.S.

"I think the Canadian public has the ability to produce most of the development capital we need. The day is coming when some form of control, or regulation, must be made on the flow of capital from outside."

Mr. Argue said he was sure Canadians could be encouraged to invest in their own development, to obviate the need for some of the foreign capital.

In addition, he said, the federal government easily could put up $500,000,000 a year as a development fund which would be used to strengthen industry.

He said the fund could be used to make loans to companies "and also to buy stocks in various industries to give the Canadian people a real partnership in their economy.

"I don't believe that there is only a choice between public or private development — there is also room for co-operation between the two."

ALASKA INDIANS TO GET MONEY FOR LOST LANDS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. court of claims decided Wednesday that a small group of Alaskan Indians are entitled to be paid for more than 20,000,000 acres of land taken from their ancestors by the white man.

Millions of dollars could be involved.

The Indians—about 7,000 of the Tlingit and Haida groups—had sued for compensation for fishing and hunting rights and for the value of the land their antecedents lost.

The five-judge court unanimously agreed with their claim.

The amount of money will be determined within the next year or two by a court commissioner.

Vote Ordered for Seamen

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canada Labor Relations Board Wednesday announced certification votes have been ordered among employees of 12 west coast shipping companies and that the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC) has been certified as bargaining agent in a 13th.

Certification is being sought by the Brotherhood in all cases. It is opposed by the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.), which now holds contracts, without certification, with some of the companies. About 300 employees are affected.

The brotherhood was granted certification for Monarch Marine Products Limited of Vancouver.

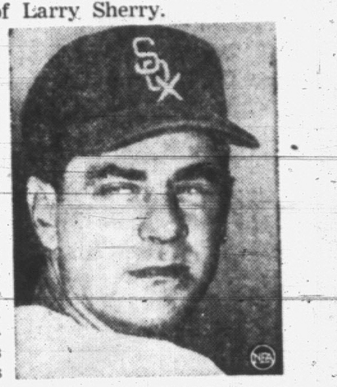
Capture Series On 9-3 Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — Los Angeles Dodgers won the world series, 4 games to 2, today by crushing Chicago White Sox 9-3 in the sixth game on the home run blasts of Duke Snider, Wally Moon and Chuck Essegian and the sharp relief pitching of Larry Sherry.



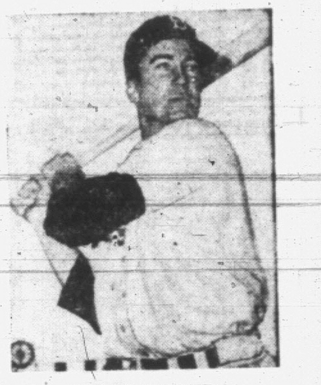
TED KLUSZEWSKI
. . . dying bid

The White Sox' three runs came on a tremendous home run by Ted Kluszewski in the wild fourth inning in which nine of the game's 12 runs were scored.

THIRD HOMER

It was Kluszewski's third home run of the series. He hit two in the opening game won by the White Sox, 11-0.

The winning pitcher was work horse Larry Sherry, who relieved Johnny Podres with one out in the fourth and allowed four hits and no runs the rest of the way for his second series' victory. He also saved the other two Dodger victories.



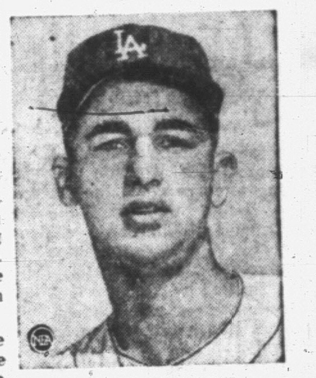
DUKE SNIDER
. . . equals record

The loser was Early Wynn, Chicago's 22-game winner, who was belted from the box after 3⅓ innings during which time he gave up five hits and five runs. The White Sox used six pitchers.

SECOND SERIES

This was the second world series triumph for the Dodgers in 10 appearances in the post-season classic. The other championship was won in 1955 against the New York Yankees, with Podres the pitching hero, when the club was in Brooklyn.

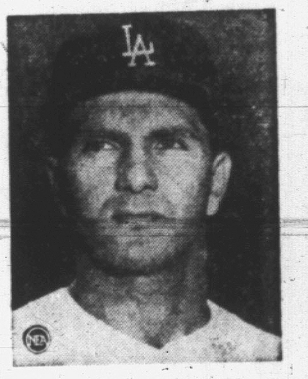
Snider's home run came in the third inning with one on and Moon matched the feat in the wild six-run Dodger fourth. Essegian hit a solo homer in the ninth as pinch-hitter for Snider, becoming the first player in history to hit two pinch-hit homers in a single world series. Chuck also hit a pinch homer in the second game.



LARRY SHERRY
. . . pitching hero

The game was marked by sharp tempers, and Los Angeles coach, Charlie Dressen, was tossed out of the game in the fourth inning for yelling at plate umpire Frank Dascoli. Manager Walt Alston of the Dodgers put up arguments on some calls.

Snider, who had asked to be returned to the line-up despite a sore knee because he had a "hunch" he might get a big hit, came through in the third inning with a 390-foot homer which scored Moon ahead of him.



CHUCK ESSEGIAN
. . . home run record

This started the Los Angeles landslide, which reached destruction proportions when the Dodgers scored six runs on six hits in the fourth.

WYNN CHASED

During this spree, Wynn was chased from the mound, replaced by Dick Donovan, who himself was followed by Turk Lown, Gerry Staley, Billy Pierce and Ray Moore finished up.

Norm Larker started the six-run rally with a single into center but went out for pinch-runner, Don Demeter. Demeter went to second on a sacrifice and scored on a sharp single through the middle by Maury Wills.

Podres scored Wills all the way from first with a booming double that hit the centre field fence, 400 feet away, on

FLEMING RAPS BANKS FOR BIG-LOAN SPREE

TORONTO (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming said today the current credit squeeze wouldn't be so tight if banks had not extended so much credit to their large borrowers.

DONALD FLEMING
. . . credit for little man

He also suggested that large corporations look to the bond market — and not to banks — for their long-term money needs, thus freeing funds for loans to small borrowers. Long-term corporate borrowing from banks "should be discouraged."

Mr. Fleming, speaking before the Empire Club here, also hit at those who blame "Ottawa" for bank credit restrictions.

The banks were "acting on their own initiative" when they restricted lending operations in May and again in August, he said.

"In doing so there was no need for any of the banks to blame anyone else . . The situation was the result of unprecedented demand for credit, and the lending resources of the banks were not unlimited."

The minister, in his first major speech since the credit squeeze reached its peak in late summer, made these other points:

Ottawa Won't Ease Inflation Battle

1. There has been "no freezing of the money supply" although total supply has been relatively stable for the last 12 months.

2. It is "a fallacy of the deepest dye" to say that a measure of inflation would reduce interest rates. It would only push them higher.

3. The government is not letting up in its anti-inflation battle to preserve the dollar's value.

4. It is a "deliberate aim" of the government to move toward a situation where it will require no new borrowings from the market. Achievement of that goal would help provinces, municipalities and business in meeting their borrowing problems.

5. "It now seems clear" that Canada's gross national product for 1959 — value of all goods and services produced — will exceed the estimate in his April 9 budget speech of a seven-per-cent rise to $34,500,000,000.

Too Much Credit for Big Customers

Mr. Fleming titled his speech "expansion without inflation" and in it he dealt at length with current problems of high interest rates and the problems of would-be borrowers in getting loans.

He repeatedly emphasized that the credit shortage is due to "the extraordinary intensity of demand" for commercial bank loans arising out of Canada's rapid economic expansion. General business loans by banks now were 17 per cent above the previous peak in 1957.

Referring to the restrictions on loans applied by chartered banks, he said "It is essential that the public should clearly understand where responsibility rests."

There had been an increase in bank credit put at the disposal of the banks' big customers—those with lines of credit exceeding $100,000. The total of these "lines of credit" had risen to $4,763,000,000 last June up $442,000,000 from a year earlier and $899,000,000 higher than in June, 1957.

These commitsments have greatly exceeded actual loans made, he said, but the banks have had to keep available additional reserves to meet "these very large lines of authorized credit."

"It is evident that had the

Bank Rate Declines

400 Flee Explosive Gas Leak

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A propane gas pipeline blew up on the outskirts of Austin early today and quickly spread an explosive and toxic blanket of fumes over a three-mile area.

Policemen, firemen and airmen from Bergstrom Air Force Base, some wearing gas masks, rushed through the streets, pounding on doors to awaken endangered families.

Four hundred families fled. Although the danger of an explosion was limited to a radius of three miles, the sickening fumes spread over the whole city.

Hundreds of persons reported headaches and nausea. The danger of a widespread explosion lingered for nearly 3½ hours—until the bulk of the gas had been diluted by the atmosphere.

STILL DANGEROUS

Engineers from the Phillips Pipeline Co., which owned the ruptured line, warned, however, that gas was still lying in low places and basements.

The nature of propane is such that it could lie in low places and basements for months unless it is found and blown out.

Propane can be transported and stored as a liquid but becomes a gas as soon as it touches air. It is both toxic and highly explosive when it gets out of control.

As the policemen, firemen and servicemen warned the families to get out of their homes, they told them not to turn on the lights, lest sparks from light switches set off an explosion.

Tide Swings to Tories As Britons Jam Polls

Prime Minister Macmillan was among the throng of early voters. He exuded optimism as he stepped from a polling booth near his official residence at 10 Downing Street.

Hugh Gaitskell, Labor leader, toured his home district of South Leeds in an industrial area of Yorkshire. He had voted earlier by mail.

Thick fog that hung over much of the country burned away as the sun rose, raising expectations of a heavy vote. Some polling stations said the early voting was double that in the last general election in 1955. In London's Chelsea district, 20 per cent of those eligible had voted in the first three hours.

The polls opened at 7 a.m. local time (11 p.m. PST) and close at 9 p.m. (1 p.m. PST). First results were expected about an hour after polls close. The outcome may be known about three hours later.

TORIES FAVORED

Eleventh-hour public opinion polls, the stock market and the bookmakers all indicated that the Conservatives would win a majority of the 630 seats at stake in the House of Commons, and with it another five-year mandate.

After a final canvass of 100 key seats, Conservative leaders predicted that their majority would be about 50 seats—three less than when Parliament was dissolved Sept. 18.

The Labor party also foresaw victory, by a margin of 15 seats. Three last-minute polls indicated a rise in Conservative popularity but they still reported a massive 16 per cent of "don't knows"—people who hadn't decided which way to vote or wouldn't say.

FINANCIERS CONFIDENT

On the stock exchange, steel shares made substantial gains Wednesday, indicating that Britain's financiers are confident of a Conservative win. The Labor party has promised to put the industry under government ownership if elected to office.

There are 35,400,000 men and women eligible to vote in the election. With all-parties calling for a record turnout, early predictions were that 80 per cent would do so.

LONDON (Reuters) — A London strip-tease club plans a special election show for tonight. LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's campaign manager, Lord Hailsham, refused to make any prediction on the outcome of today's general election.

'K Plan' Wins Debate By UN Committee

Priority for the Khrushchev plan was proposed by the chairman of the 82-member committee, Ambassador Franz Matsch of Austria, after private consultations. His proposal was accepted without debate.

Matsch announced that discussion of the Soviet plan will begin Friday. Other disarmament proposals will be taken up in sequence after the examination of the plan offered by the Soviet leader before the General Assembly Sept. 18.

In suggesting priority for the Soviet proposal, Matsch recalled that both Khrushchev and President Eisenhower had agreed that general disarmament is the most important issue facing the world today.

The committee also had on its docket an Irish appeal to restrict the "nuclear club" to Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union; an Indian call for a permanent ban on all nuclear weapon tests, and Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's report on current international efforts at disarmament.

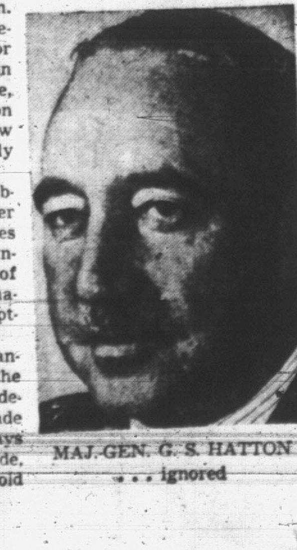
CD 'Totally Inadequate' Charges Chief Who Quit

OTTAWA (CP)—Maj.-Gen. George S. Hatton, who resigned last month as the senior federal government officer in charge of civil defence, charged that the organization set up to implement the new civil defence policy "is totally inadequate."



MAJ.-GEN. G. S. HATTON

His criticism was made public today by Health Minister Monteith who released copies of Gen. Hatton's letter resigning the $11,500-a-year post of deputy civil defence co-ordinator and his own letter accepting the resignation.

"In my opinion, the organization set up to implement the new policy is totally inadequate, as I have often made clear to you; in many ways we are worse off, nation-wide, than we were under the old organization, as explained later in this letter," Gen. Hatton said.

This referred to a change-over Sept. 1 under which responsibilities, for various aspects was spread over four government departments — health, national defence, justice and the prime minister's office. Until then federal responsibility for civil defence had been under the sole authority of the CD co-ordinator in the health department.

Gen. Hatton's letter says his proposals to brief the cabinet in 1958 on civil defence and his suggestion that he be recognized as civil defence co-ordinator—a post he had filled in an acting capacity since the 1957 resignation of Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington were not accepted by the government.

Vancouver Firm Wins Tax Appeal

OTTAWA (CP) A Vancouver firm, Terminal Dock and Warehouse Co. Ltd., has won a tax appeal against the revenue department before the income tax appeal board.

The board reversed a department ruling and held that Robin Hood Flour Mills Ltd. is not a company "related" to the Vancouver firm for tax purposes, though holding 167,500 of its prior preference shares.

Pipe Line Company Wins Tax Battle

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada Tuesday allowed Interprovincial Pipe Line Company a Canadian tax credit of more than $1,000,000 paid in taxes to the United States treasury.

The Exchequer Court of Canada and the revenue department had disallowed the tax credit, for the years 1950-54, for taxes paid in the U.S. by Lakehead Pipe Line Company Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Interprovincial.

New Wage Proposal To Mine Strikers

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The strike-bound Kennecott Copper Corporation has offered the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union a wage package including a five-cent-an-hour increase.

Albert Skinner, Mine-Mill district director, said he presented the contract proposal Tuesday night to Local 392 in Magna, Utah. The local took no action.

The union had asked for an hourly wage increase of 15 cents and a package increase which the company said would cost 45 cents an hour.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Shows Drop Third Straight Day

Among industrials papers showed the best gains, while most other groups were mixed. International Paper added 3¾ at 123¾, while Consolidated Paper and Price Brothers were ahead more than one point.

Strength in a few issues gave a speculative air to a narrowly mixed market at New York. Airlines rallied with gains of more than a point made by Pan-Am, American Airlines and Eastern Airlines. American Motors showed a two-point gain.

At Toronto — Senior base metals turned mixed after a poor start. Noranda and International Nickel were up ¼, Consolidated Denison lost ¼ at 21¾, while Falconbridge, Gunnar, Quemont and Steep Rock were down ⅛.

Among golds giant Yellowknife added 20 cents at $9.50, but Kerr-Addison dipped ⅛ at 20⅞ and several juniors lost pennies.

Canadian Husky slipped 25 cents at $9 and Dome was off 30 cents at $9.50 among Western oils. A number of seniors gave up small fractions.

At New York — Aluminium Ltd. and International Nickel lost ⅛ each, Distillers Seagrams, Hudson Bay Mining and Walker Gooderham lost ¼ each. Canadian Pacific rose ⅜ and Dome Mines ¼.

On the American Stock Exchange Canadian Marconi, Jupiter Oils and Scurry Rainbow Oil gained ⅛ each, while Shawinigan lost ⅛.

AT MONTREAL prices today were fractionally higher in quiet trading on the stock exchange. Industrial volume was the smallest in five weeks.

Banks were stronger, with ½-point gains by Nova Scotia at 73½ and Commerce at 60½. Montreal made ½ at 55¼ and Toronto-Dominion improved ⅜ at 59⅞.

AT LONDON a heavy demand produced gains on the stock market today. Industrial equities were extremely active. There was a tremendous turnover in steel shares.

Some selective buying appeared in gold shares but the market generally was irregular. Copper and tin issues were higher and leading oil shares improved. Dollar stocks were lower.

PERISCOPE FOR CARS TO END BLIND SPOTS

OTTAWA (CP) — One of the next big developments in the design of automobiles may be better rear-view vision through the use of a special type of periscope.

W. Lewis Hyde of the American Optical Company, Southbridge, Mass., told the Optical Society of America here today that application of the idea to passenger cars now is being discussed with several large automobile companies.

Notice to Holders of Bearer Share Warrants

POWELL RIVER COMPANY LIMITED

The proposed plan of amalgamation with MacMillan & Bloedel Limited was approved at the Extraordinary General Meeting of the shareholders of the Company on the 28th September, 1959. The meeting also approved the subdivision of the existing shares of Powell River Company Limited on a two-for-one basis. The subdivision is effective October 5, 1959.

Holders of bearer share warrants are required to exchange their present share warrants and coupons for new ones by delivering or forwarding their share warrants and coupons to The Royal Trust Company at Vancouver, Montreal or Toronto on or after October 15, 1959, at which time the new share warrants and coupons will be available. However, as a convenience to share warrant holders, share warrants and coupons can be delivered to any other office of The Royal Trust Company in Canada or to the offices of Agency, Bank of Montreal, New York, or Bank of Montreal (San Francisco), San Francisco, or the First National Bank of Chicago, Chicago, for forwarding to either of the three exchange points.

Coupon No. 60A and all subsequent coupons must remain attached to share warrants presented for exchange. Coupons numbered 28A to 59A inclusive should be detached before presentation if not already detached.

The directors have declared a regular dividend of 15c per share and an extra dividend of 7½c per share (both on the subdivided basis) payable December 15, 1959, to shareholders of record November 16, 1959.

Dividends payable on and after December 15, 1959, applicable to share warrants, including the above mentioned dividends, will be paid only to the bearers of the coupons attached to the new share warrants. For this reason all share warrant holders should act promptly in surrendering their present share warrants and coupons in exchange for new share warrants and coupons.

Share warrants and coupons, both of the old and new issue, will be transmitted solely at the risk of share warrant holders, and neither The Royal Trust Company, Bank of Montreal, First National Bank of Chicago, nor Powell River Company Limited shall be responsible for loss in transit of share warrants and coupons transmitted for exchange or of new share warrants and coupons issued in replacement thereof.

It is suggested that share warrants and coupons not delivered personally should be forwarded by registered mail and be fully insured while in transit. New share warrants and coupons will be returned by registered insured mail.

If desired, forms for the exchange of share warrants and coupons may be obtained from any of the offices of The Royal Trust Company in Canada and Agency, Bank of Montreal, New York, Bank of Montreal (San Francisco), San Francisco, or the First National Bank of Chicago, Chicago.

POWELL RIVER COMPANY LIMITED
J. A. Kyles, Secretary.

Vancouver, B.C.
October 5, 1959

NOTE: Holders of registered share certificates are not required to send in their certificates for exchange and those whose names were standing on our records at the close of business October 2, 1959, will be forwarded an additional certificate within the next few weeks for the same number of shares they held on that date.

. . . HERE AND THERE . . .

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Coals of fire have descended on my greying head for quoting a statement that animals have "no sympathy" for fellow creatures in distress.

"Human beings have far too much conceit," says Mrs. Elsie Ridgeway. "They think they are God's chosen creatures when, in actual fact, they are more cruel to one another than any jungle beast could be . . ."

Yes, and sometimes under protest.

* * *

This reminds me of those odd neighbors: James Hilton Smith and his classical bookshop on Fort Street—and the pet shop next door.

Mr. Hilton Smith is well used to customers entering his store carrying bowls of green turtles under one arm and asking if there is anything "new" in the way of Dickens and Macauley.

"Scholarship and love of pets often go together," he remarks.

* * *

Highways Minister Phil Gaglardi says he wishes all the champagne in British Columbia could be spilt over the bow of a ship.

Some of us wish that all the ill-feeling and bigotry that exist in the world could be drowned in a shipload of champagne.

* * *

When 10,000 gullible Scotsmen gathered on the banks of the Clyde to welcome a "Miss Dupenny" alleged to have swum the Atlantic.

They learned, too late, that Miss Dupenny was a male student who had donned an orange wig and entered the Clyde a few hundred yards down the river.

Humble Donkey To Help Chest

"I'm giving a bale of hay. How about you?"

This is just another gimmick to attract attention to the current Community Chest campaign for a total of $325,000.

"People who are tired of listening to us may take more notice of a donkey," a Community Chest official said.

Two Injured As Cars Skid On Wet Paving

Naval seaman George B. Walker of Patricia Bay naval air squadron was treated at HMCS Naden Hospital for deep face and head gashes after his small car was wrecked in collision with a large flat deck truck on rain-slick Montreal and Superior intersection today.

Two city police ambulances and a fire truck rushed to the scene at 10.10 a.m. as gasoline from the truck flowed into the street, creating a flash fire hazard.

Police said Walker's northbound car on Montreal was in collision with the rear side of a Heaney's Cartage truck driven east on Superior by Warren Taylor, 990 Jasmine, who escaped injury.

The impact spun the car around into a power pole and threw Walker into the street.

At 8.25 a.m., also on rain-wet pavement, Thelma Campbell, 37, of 2853 Graham, was in collision with a car driven at Hillside and Prior by Margaret Parkhouse, 4032 Shelbourne, and was taken to Jubilee Hospital with a suspected broken leg.

Two other mid-morning accidents were reported to police, both on Douglas Street in Saanich, in which heavy damage resulted.

Shooting Justified Jury Told

Lawyer Pleads For School Boy

(Earlier story page 10)

Ronald William Webber, 17, was "well justified by all standards of English law" in shooting a man to defend his mother, Gerald E. Lauder told a 12-man jury in Assize Court here today.

The jury was expected to give its verdict this afternoon in the murder trial of Webber, charged with shooting Victoria city fireman James C. Lusse, 55, at his mother's home at 1417 Camosun on the night of May 23 last.

Defending Webber, Mr. Lauder emphasized that Lusse, who lived with Mrs. Webber as man and wife, was a powerful man and a trained fireman who knew how to break into houses.

He had broken into the Webber household after Mrs. Alice Olive Webber, mother of the accused, had asked city police to remove him from the premises.

FIRED IN DEFENCE

He had threatened to kill Mrs. Webber and Ronald, her son, had fired in her defence, killing him.

Mr. Lauder asked the jury to accept three grounds of defence:

1. Ronald was defending himself.

2. Ronald was in peaceful occupation of his home. Under English law, a man's home is his castle and Ronald had every right to defend his castle.

3. By all standards of English law Ronald had the right to defend his mother.

MOTHER IN COURT

Mr. Lauder emphasized that Ronald had seen Lusse strike his mother and push her down onto a chesterfield. He also knew Lusse had put her head under the bathroom tap and had threatened to kill her.

BEDROOM WAS HIS

"He had taken her into his bedroom for protection," Mr. Lauder said, "and even if the whole home wasn't his, his bedroom certainly was.

"Lusse beat down the door of the bedroom by sheer physical force and Ronald was in a panic. He fired his rifle to protect her."

Mr. Lauder emphasized that Lusse was intoxicated and a man intoxicated was actually in a state of delirium.

TEMPER STIMULATED

"If he has a violent temper, alcohol will inflame and accelerate it," counsel continued. "It is a stimulant to violence in a man who is angry . . ."

Ronald had stated on oath that he liked Lusse when he was sober. When he got intoxicated he retired to his bedroom.

"Ronald got along well at school," Mr. Lauder said. "He did a lot of reading, and there was a difference between his mother and Lusse about him continuing at school."

Counsel emphasized that Ronald's fears for his mother had been aggravated by the fact that Lusse found a revolver in the house a few days before.

"He had every reason to fear that Lusse would kill his mother."

Mr. Justice Harry J. Sullivan began his address to the jury soon after noon.

BOBBY HELMET
. . . U.K. tourist draw?

WHAT AGAIN?

That Hat To Return For One Day

A policeman in a bobby helmet once a Victoria landmark, will reappear on city streets Nov. 4.

But anti-bobby helmeters needn't fret he'll be here only for a day or so.

The bobby, Const. Norman Niblo, 45, will make Victoria the first stop of a Canada-wide tour designed to encourage Canadians to visit the United Kingdom.

"It should awaken Victorians to the fact that we are becoming more and more Americanized while losing our attachment to the old country," he said.

"More and more tourists are pouring into Great Britain each year. Things like the British bobby and his helmet are the main reason."

Mr. Lane, failed in an attempt earlier this year to get city police to abandon peak caps in favor of the helmets once worn on city streets.

Today he admitted he doubted that "our police would ever put on a helmet again."

"But I think," he said, "CPR police should wear them. People coming here look for them and are disappointed when they don't see them."

Mr. Lane said tourist brochures showing Victoria police in bobby helmets attracted a "great deal of interest" among Canadians as well as Americans."

Veteran Pastor From Alberta Dies

Rev. Frederick Forster, 71, who served the Methodist Church and United Church in Alberta for a total of more than 40 years, died in hospital here Wednesday after three years of residence in Victoria.

Born in England, he lived in retirement at Ganges, Salt Spring Island, before moving here. He was a member of Lodge No. 76, AF & AM, Bashaw, Alta.

Surviving are the widow, May, at home, 3060 Wascana Street; four sons, David, Victoria; Arnold and Arthur, Edmonton; and Robert, Calgary; 11 grandchildren, and two sisters and two brothers in England.

Funeral services will be announced later by McCalls.

Daylight Saving Vote Requested

City Socred Group Wants Plebiscite

Victoria association of the B.C. Social Credit League will press for a new province-wide plebiscite on daylight saving time, when the annual convention of the party opens in Vancouver Oct. 30.

A plebiscite was last held in the provincial election of 1952. At that time city dwellers defeated the opposition to daylight saving, which mainly was centred in rural areas.

Farm residents say the "fast time" upsets production schedules and required farmers to arise too early in the morning to meet market requirements and has an adverse effect on cows and milk production. Some school-parent groups opposed the daylight time schedule on grounds children cannot be easily sent to bed while it is still daylight although the hour may be late.

RESOLUTION IGNORED

The Social Credit convention of 1955, also at Vancouver, passed a resolution calling for abolition of fast time by the government. The vote was unanimous. At the same time, a resolution was passed indicating irritaion by party members with the cabinet for failing to follow through on earlier convention resolutions.

It said, "whereas there has been no information forwarded in regard to action taken by the government on resolutions passed at previous provincial conventions, therefore be it resolved a report from the provincial executive be sent to all constituencies on all resolutions passed at political conventions."

Daylight saving time is observed in summer months in most sections of Canada. In British Columbia this year it was in effect from April 26 to Sept. 26.

Chambers of commerce in the province, who feel longer summer evenings assist the tourist trade, have made several requests to the government for an extension of the fast time period. Municipal Affairs Minister W. E. Black told the Victoria Chamber last January that the cabinet would give consideration to the request.

NARROW MARGIN

Results of the plebiscite held in connection with the election of June 12, 1952 "are you in favor of day-light saving?" were. Yes, 290,353, and No, 231,008.

In Greater Victoria the yes-voters outweighed the no-voters 39,412 to 20,159 when votes cast in Oak Bay, Victoria City, Saanich and Esquimalt were counted. Each section strongly favored the present system.

It was learned the Victoria Social Credit Association will name delegates to the convention this Friday. The matter was left in the hands of the executive when it was brought up at the annual meeting recently.

A second resolution of major importance to be put forward by Victoria will deal with pension plans. It recommends a central government agency be established with control over pension plans operated by private firms.

A spokesman said there are too many cases today of employees who have served about 20 years with a firm, being let go just before they would be eligible for pension benefits.

The central agency would police pension operations in this regard and in other respects. It would operate in much the same manner as the Workmen's Compensation Board.

"Maggie" and her mistress, Mrs. Bessie Fowler.

EYE-FILLING SEEING-EYE

Famous Beauty, Maggie in City

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A sprightly female who has won international fame as a beauty is visiting Victoria this week.

Maggie is her name, and she will be doing a fair amount of sightseeing in the next few days, so you may have an opportunity of admiring her good looks.

But don't bother whistling, as we said before, because Maggie won't pay you any attention.

Mrs. Fowler, who has been blind since 1934, is visiting Victoria with Maggie and Mr. Fowler. They have relatives here and will be going to Nanaimo next week to stay with more relatives.

On Friday they will attend the weekly luncheon meeting of Victoria Lions Club. Mr. Fowler is a member of Lions International. And Maggie will "tell" her story.

In 1954 she was an unwanted refugee in a Michigan pound and was doomed to die. But a kindly warden gifted her to Mrs. Fowler, who had lost her seeing-eye dog. Maggie was 11 months old then.

The Fowlers were able to train her as guide dog in the short space of three months which convinced them that Maggie was far above average dog intelligence.

Then as Mr. Fowler explained: "We decided to place her in a dog show, just for fun. We didn't think she had a chance. We didn't even tell anyone that she was trained only as a seeing-eye dog."

Maggie won a prize.

HOLDS 80 RIBBONS

From then on things began to happen to Maggie. She won prize after prize in dog shows throughout the United States and Canada.

She reached the height of her fame when she took first prize at the Doberman Pinscher dog show in Chicago. She was competing then against the best dog of her breed in North America.

She created such a sensation that one man offered to buy Maggie for $5,000.

Today she has gathered 80 ribbons and 43 trophies at shows in Canada and the United States.

Mrs. Fowler, who teaches braille, said she has never owned a seeing-eye dog like Maggie.

"I've had two other dogs who were first class," she said. "But Maggie is the tops."

RITES SET FOR J. T. PAXTON

Funeral Friday for Marine Hero

Funeral services will be held Friday at 3 p.m. at Sands Funeral Home for John Thomas Paxton, 70, retired B.C. civil servant and recipient of the Stanhope medal, rarest award of the Royal Humane Society, who died Monday in the Veterans' Hospital.

The medal is given annually in recognition of the bravest deed of the year. One recipeint, for instance, was the city of Springhill, following its tragic mine disaster.

Mr. Paxton was the 1916 winner of the medal, which he received from the hands of the Lord Mayor of Liverpool in that city May 2, 1917.

His deed of bravery occurred Aug. 17, 1916, when, as a fireman aboard an ancient tramp steamer, he saved the lives of three other crew members.

The ship had come under fire of a German submarine in the Mediterranean, and Mr. Paxton and a friend helped the on-duty firemen to keep up steam. Suddenly a coal trimmer told them they had been deserted by the rest of the crew.

Mr. Paxton saw the captain close by in a skiff, and managed to tow the other fireman, the trimmer, and a gunner, all non-swimmers, through a heavy sea to the skiff. The feat was performed under shellfire. The Germans later took the captain and gunner aboard and left the other three to row to shore. They reached safety under Paxton's leadership.

Born at Derbyshire, he followed the sea for most of his early life, and made his home here 32 years ago.

Surviving are the widow, Louise, at home, 1357 Pandora Avenue; two sons, Jack, in Victoria and George, Nova Scotia; six daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Wilander and Mrs. Joan Genet, Vancouver; Mrs. Audrey Walsh and Mrs. Mary Campbell, Victoria; Mrs. Sheila Bollanatz, Saskatchewan, and Mrs. Kathleen Matheson, Los Angeles, and 16 grandchildren.

Interment will take place at Royal Oak.

Campbell to Settle Leaf Contracts

TORONTO (CP)—General manager and coach George Punch Imlach has announced he is willing to let National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell settle the issue over three Toronto Maple Leaf players and their demands for more money.

Two of the Leaf holdouts, left winger Dick Duff and centre Billy Harris, have until Friday night to sign their contracts for the 1959-60 season while the third, forward Larry Regan, has until his groin injury heals to make up his mind.

Jury Out Half-Hour On Verdict

Webber showed no emotion when Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan smiled and said: "You are now free to go."

Soon after the former Victoria High School student left the court house with his mother and several friends. He shook his head and walked away when asked if he had any comment.

Mr. Justice Sullivan told the jury in his summation that it had three alternatives. It could find Webber guilty of murder, guilty of manslaughter, or not guilty.

"If I were trying this case alone without a jury, I would feel that the Crown has failed to prove an unlawful act on the part of the accused," he said.

400 Flee Explosive Gas Leak

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — A propane gas pipeline blew up on the outskirts of Austin early today and quickly spread an explosive and toxic blanket of fumes over a three-mile area.

Policemen, firemen and airmen from Bergstrom Air Force Base, some wearing gas masks, rushed through the streets, pounding on doors to awaken endangered families.

Four hundred families fled, although the danger of an explosion was limited to a radius of three miles, the sickening fumes spread over the whole city.

Hundreds of persons reported headaches and nausea. The danger of a widespread explosion lingered for nearly 3½ hours—until the bulk of the gas had been diluted by the atmosphere.

STILL DANGEROUS

Engineers from the Phillips Pipeline Co., which owned the ruptured line, warned, however, that gas was still lying in low places and basements.

The nature of propane is such that it could lie in low places and basements for months unless it is found and blown out.

Propane can be transported and stored as a liquid but becomes a gas as soon as it touches air. It is both toxic and highly explosive when it gets out of control.

Families in the danger area were warned not to smoke and to turn out pilot lights in stoves and water heaters as soon as they could.

Fleming Blasts Big-Loan Spree

TORONTO (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming said today the current credit squeeze wouldn't be so tight if banks had not extended so much credit to their large borrowers.

He also suggested that large corporations look to the bond market — and not to banks — for their long-term money needs, thus freeing funds for loans to small borrowers. Long-term corporate borrowing from banks "should be discouraged."

Mr. Fleming, speaking before the Empire Club here, also hit at those who blame "Ottawa" for bank credit restrictions.

The banks were "acting on their own initiative" when they restricted lending operations in May and again in August, he said.

"In doing so there was no need for any of the banks to blame anyone else . . . The situation was the result of unprecedented demand for credit, and the lending resources of the banks were not unlimited."

The minister, in his first major speech since the credit squeeze reached its peak in late summer, made these other points:

1. There has been "no freezing of the money supply" although total supply has been

Home Run Blasts Smother Sox, 9-3

CHICAGO (AP) — Los Angeles Dodgers won the world series, 4 games to 2, today by crushing Chicago White Sox 9-3 in the sixth game on the home run blasts of Duke Snider, Wally Moon and Chuck Essegian and the sharp relief pitching of Larry Sherry.

The White Sox' three runs came on a tremendous home run by Ted Kluszewski in the wild fourth inning in which nine of the game's 12 runs were scored.

THIRD HOMER

It was Kluszewski's third home run of the series. He hit two in the opening game won by the White Sox, 11-0.

The winning pitcher was work horse Larry Sherry, who relieved Johnny Podres with one out in the fourth and allowed four hits and no runs the rest of the way for his second series' victory. He also saved the other two Dodger victories.

The loser was Early Wynn, Chicago's 22-game winner, who was belted from the box after 3⅓ innings during which time he gave up five hits and five runs. The White Sox used six pitchers.

SECOND SERIES

This was the second world series triumph for the Dodgers in 10 appearances in the post-season classic. The other championship was won in 1955 against the New York Yankees, with Podres the pitching hero, when the club was in Brooklyn.

Snider's home run came in the third inning with one on and Moon matched the feat in the wild six-run Dodger fourth. Essegian hit a solo homer in the ninth as pinch-hitter for Snider, becoming the

TIDE SWINGS TO TORIES

Britons Jam Polling Booths

LONDON (CP) — Britons turned out in large numbers today to elect a new government. Late predictions forecast a return to office of the Conservative government.

Labor party leaders, however, continued optimistic about their chances.

Prime Minister Macmillan was among the throng of early voters. He exuded optimism as he stepped from a polling booth near his official residence at 10 Downing Street.

Looking up at the sky, he remarked jauntily: "Warm and fine all day, with very good prospects later."

Hugh Gaitskell, Labor leader, toured his home district of South Leeds in an industrial area of Yorkshire. He had voted earlier by mail.

Thick fog that hung over much of the country burned away as the sun rose, raising expectations of a heavy vote. Some polling stations said the early voting was double that in the last general election in 1955. In London's Chelsea district, 20 per cent of those eligible had voted in the first three hours.

Macmillan travelled by open car to his home riding of Bromley, 10 miles from London, after voting.

As the car passed through a square, a bus driver leaned out of his cab window, gave a thumbs-up sign and shouted:

"It's okay, it's in the bag, Mac."

The polls opened at 7 a.m. local time (11 p.m. PST) and close at 9 p.m. (1 p.m. PST).

FIRST RESULTS INDICATE TORY GAIN

LONDON (Reuters) — Reuters election analysis desk reported on the basis of the first three results declared in Britain's general election tonight that it appeared a fairly firm prediction the Conservatives would win the election with an increased majority of seats.

Tory candidates had won two seats and Labor one.

CD 'Inadequate' Charges Ex-Chief

OTTAWA (CP)—Maj.-Gen. George S. Hatton, who resigned last month as the senior federal government officer in charge of civil defence, charged that the organization set up to implement the new civil defence policy "is totally inadequate."

His criticism was made public today by Health Minister Monteith who released copies of Gen. Hatton's letter resigning the $11,500-a-year post of deputy civil-defence co-ordinator and his own letter accepting the resignation.

"In my opinion, the organization set up to implement the new policy is totally inadequate, as I have often made clear to you; in many ways we are worse off, nation wide, than we were under the old organization, as explained later in this letter," Gen. Hatton said.

This referred to a change-over Sept. 1 under which responsibilities for various aspects was spread over four government departments — health, national defence, justice and the prime minister's office. Until then federal responsibility for civil defence had been under the sole authority of the CD co-ordinator in the health department.

Gen. Hatton's letter says his proposals to brief the cabinet in 1958 on civil defence and his suggestion that he be recognized as civil defence co-ordinator—a post he had filled in an acting capacity since the 1957 resignation of Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington were not accepted by the government.

'K Plan' Wins Debate By UN Committee

Priority for the Khrushchev plan was proposed by the chairman of the 82-member committee, Ambassador Franz Matsch of Austria, after private consultations. His proposal was accepted without debate.

Matsch announced that discussion of the Soviet plan will begin Friday. Other disarmament proposals will be taken up in sequence after the examination of the plan offered by the Soviet leader before the General Assembly Sept. 18.

In suggesting priority for the Soviet proposal, Matsch recalled that both Khrushchev and President Eisenhower had agreed that general disarmament is the most important issue facing the world today.

The committee also had on its docket an Irish appeal to restrict the "nuclear club" to Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union; an Indian call for a permanent ban on all nuclear weapon tests, and Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's report on current international efforts at disarmament.

Dodgers scored six runs on six hits in the fourth.

During this spree, Wynn was chased from the mound, replaced by Dick Donovan, who himself was followed by Turk Lown. Gerry Staley, Billy Pierce and Ray Moore finished up.

Norm Larker started the six-run rally with a single into center but went out for pinch-runner, Don Demeter. Demeter went to second on a sacrifice and scored on a sharp single through the middle by Maury Wills.

Podres scored Wills all the way from first with a booming double that hit the centre field fence, 400 feet away, on first player in history to hit two pinch-hit homers in a single world series. Chuck also hit a pinch homer in the second game.

The game was marked by sharp tempers, and Los Angeles coach Charlie Dressen was tossed out of the game in the fourth inning for yelling at plate umpire Frank Dascoli. Manager Walt Alston of the Dodgers put up arguments on some calls.

Snider, who had asked to be returned to the line-up despite a sore knee because he had a "hunch" he might get a big hit, came through in the third inning with a 390-foot homer which scored Moon ahead of him.

This started the Los Angeles landslide, which reached destruction proportions when the one bounce. It was here that Wynn went to the showers.

After Junior Gilliam had walked, Charley Neal smashed a double to right, scoring both Podres and Gilliam. Neal was on base when Moon came to bat and lined the first pitch into the lower stands in right centre.

The White Sox bounced back for their three runs in the fourth off Podres, but they were helpless once Sherry went to the hill.

Kluszewski's line drive homer scored Jim Landis, who had been hit by a pitched ball, and Sherm Lollar, who had walked.

Thus the Dodgers won the world championship after needing two playoff victories over Milwaukee to nail the National League pennant and get into the series. The Dodgers, a year ago, had finished seventh in their first series in Los Angeles.

First results were expected about an hour after polls close. The outcome may be known about three hours later.

TORIES FAVORED

Eleventh-hour public opinion, polls, the stock market and the bookmakers all indicated that the Conservatives would win a majority of the 630 seats at stake in the House of Commons, and with it another five-year mandate.

After a final canvass of 100 key seats, Conservative leaders predicted that their majority would be about 50 seats—three less than when Parliament was dissolved Sept. 18.

The Labor party also foresaw victory, by a margin of 15 seats. Three last-minute polls indicated a rise in Conservative popularity but they still reported a massive 16 per cent of "don't knows"—people who hadn't decided which way to vote or wouldn't say.

FINANCIERS CONFIDENT

On the stock exchange, steel shares made substantial gains Wednesday, indicating that Britain's financiers are confident of a Conservative win. The Labor party has promised to put the industry under government ownership if elected to office.

There are 35,400,000 men and women eligible to vote in the election. With all parties calling for a record turnout, early predictions were that 80 per cent would do so.

SECOND INNING

Dodgers—Larker walked on five pitches. Roseboro flied to McAnany. Fox charged in on the infield grass for Wills' slow grounder and threw him out, Larker advancing to second. Podres flied to Landis in right centre.

Dodgers: Gilliam flied to Smith, who made a running catch in the left field centre. Neal struck out. Moon walked on five pitches. Snider hit a home run into the lower stands in left centre, scoring Moon ahead of him to put the Dodgers in front 2-0. The drive carried about 390 feet. It was Snider's 11th home run of series competition, tieing him with Mickey Mantle of the Yankees for second place. Babe Ruth hit 15. Snider's two runs-batted-in gave him a total of 26, a record for National League world series players. Lou Gehrig of the Yankees had 35. Hodges popped to Fox.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

FOURTH INNING

Dodgers: Larker lined a single to centre. Don Demeter ran for Larker. Roseboro sacrificed, Wynn to Kluszewski. Wills slashed a single through the middle of the diamond, scoring Demeter. Podres scored Wills all the way from first with a 400-foot double that hit the centre-field fence on one bounce.

Moon hit the first pitch for a home run into the lower stands in right-centre, some 400 feet away, scoring Neal with the Dodgers' fifth and sixth runs of the inning and sending Donovan to the showers. Turk Lown, a right-hander, replaced Donovan.

Snider bounced out to Kluszewski, unassisted.

Hodges beat out a dribbler past the mound and went to second on Aparicio's low throw past first.

White Sox: Demeter went to centre for Los Angeles and Snider moved over to right. Fox fouled out to Wills behind third base. Podres' second pitch hit Landis on the back of the head. Landis dropped to the ground but got up immediately, apparently unhurt. The ball hit the protective helmet. Lollar walked.

Kluszewski crashed a line-drive home run into the upper right field stands, scoring Landis and Lollar ahead of him, to narrow the Dodgers' lead to 8-3. It was Kluszewski's third home run of the series, all at Comiskey Park.

Kluszewski's 10 runs-batted-in in this series equalled the mark set by Yogi Berra in 1956. Smith walked on five pitches.

Larry Sherry replaced Podres.

Aparicio popped to Wills.

Three runs, two hits, no errors, three left.

FIFTH INNING

Dodgers—Goodman went to third, Phillips moved to right field and Staley went to the mound for the White Sox. Roseboro flied to Phillips, who made the catch with his back against the wall in the right-field corner.

The report from the field was that Dressen was yelling at plate umpire Frank Dascoli while Torgeson was at bat and was ordered to be quiet by Hurley. When Dressen told Hurley to do the same, Hurley thumbled him off the bench.

Sherry stopping at second. It began to rain and the box holders began moving under the stands for protection. Moon struck out.

NINTH INNING

Dodgers: White Sox pitcher Pierce who reinjured his side in the eighth attempted to remain on the mound but after one warmup throw was replaced by Ray Moore.

Chuck Essegian batted for Snider and hit Moore's first pitch into the lower left field stands for a home run. He is the first player in world series history to hit two home runs as a pinch-hitter. He also homered as a pinch-hitter in the second game.

Aparicio made a back-handed stop of Hodges' grounder and threw him out. Demeter struck out. Roseboro fouled to Lollar.

One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

. . . FLEMING

relatively stable for the last 12 months.

2. It is "a fallacy of the deepest dye" to say that a measure of inflation would reduce interest rates. It would only push them higher.

3. The government is not letting up in its anti-inflation battle to preserve the dollar's value.

4. It is a "deliberate aim" of the government to move toward a situation where it will require no new borrowings from the market. Achievement of that goal would help provinces, municipalities and business in meeting their borrowing problems.

5. "It now seems clear" that Canada's gross national product for 1959 — value of all goods and services produced — will exceed the estimate in his April 9 budget speech of a seven-per-cent rise to $34,500,000,000.

Too Much Credit for Big Customers

Mr. Fleming titled his speech "expansion without inflation" and in it he dealt at length with current problems of high interest rates and the problems of would-be borrowers in getting loans.

He repeatedly emphasized that the credit shortage is due to "the extraordinary intensity of demand" for commercial bank loans arising out of Canada's rapid economic expansion. General business loans by banks now were 17 per cent above the previous peak in 1957.

Referring to the restrictions on loans applied by chartered banks, he said "It is essential that the public should clearly understand where responsibility rests."

There had been an increase in bank credit put at the disposal of the banks' big customers — those with lines of credit exceeding $100,006. The total of these "lines of credit" had risen to $4,763,000,000 last June up $442,000,000 from a year earlier and $899,000,000 higher than in June, 1957.

These commitments have greatly exceeded actual loans made, he said, but the banks have had to keep available additional reserves to meet "these very large lines of authorized credit."

"It is evident that had the banks not enlarged these lines of credit so substantially within the last year, they would not have encountered such sudden and severe pressures as those which developed this spring and summer."

Mr. Fleming also pointed to a sharp reduction this year in the amount of borrowing by corporations through bond issues. Corporate bond financing last year totalled $796,200,000. This year up to Aug. 24 this totalled only $197,000,000.

"Large corporations should be discouraged from using bank credit as semi-permanent capital. Large corporations, unlike small businesses, can and should raise their permanent capital by issuing additional securities into the market."

Mr. Fleming said he is "particularly concerned" that the credit needs of small borrowers should not suffer "in the keen competition which exists for large and very profitable accounts."

He disclosed that he has "strongly pressed the banks, both orally and in writing, to give priority to the credit needs of farmers and of small business within the framework of their resources and good banking practice."

In a television address a week ago Prime Minister Diefenbaker suggested that banks "rearrange their outstanding loans" so that small borrowers wouldn't be "throttled."

Mr. Fleming said he has been shocked to find that "many businessmen are ready to lean on the government."

One complaint had been that someone in authority should have warned the banks and told them to restrict loans.

Mr. Fleming said that when he took office he told the banks he didn't believe in "bureaucratic interference" in their operations.

"The corollary of this belief is that in a free society those who discharge business functions should assume responsibility for their decisions and should not attempt to place responsibility or blame on others."

Dealing with inflation, he said there can be no compromise with it creeping inflation or otherwise.

"Inflation is the enemy of growth. We should not be deceived when it for a time dons the disguise of growth."

If Canada doesn't maintain a stable currency while other principal countries do so, "we will most certainly be priced out of world markets, with results that will be a catastrophe for Canada."

Mr. Fleming said the rise in interest rates in Canada has resulted from two main influences: A large increase in new borrowings through sales of securities, and a heavy selling of bonds by the banks to get cash for making business loans.

Bank holdings of government bonds had fallen by $1,200,000,000 in the last 12 months. But the "encouraging corollary" was that public holdings of government bonds had risen by $2,000,000,000 — up 26 per cent — in the same period.

Mr. Fleming said that as minister of finance he dislikes to pay high interest rates on government borrowings. But the rates were dependent on the forces of supply and demand.

"It is a fact, however, that the prevailing high interest rates have not interfered with the processes of economic growth either in Canada or elsewhere."

FUGITIVES HUNTED IN MONTANA MOUNTAINS

Girls Held as Hostages

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Law officers scoured a snowy mountain area Wednesday for three California fugitives believed holding three teen-age girls as hostages since last Friday.

He said the girls, all from Helena, apparently joined the men voluntarily, but were forced to leave Helena with them against their will.

Middlemas said the party's car, a pink 1959 sedan, was last seen Monday between Deer Lodge and Anaconda.

Middlemas said the girls are Cecil Claudia Fuller, 17; Sharron Irene Balazs, 17, and Sherron Lee McDowell, 16.

He said two of the men escaped from a prison in Soledad, Calif., Sept. 11, and from a jail in Lynwood, near Los Angeles, Sept. 15. He said they joined the third man and took a car in Snohomish, Wash., Sept. 29.

In Butte, Harry Maynor, in charge of FBI Montana-Idaho operations, released the names of the three men he said were believed to be the same ones seen in Helena.

They were Frank Erwin Fisher, wanted in San Diego for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for burglary; George Roman Jann, 29, a Soledad Prison escapee, and Frank Henry Spicer, 24, another Soledad escapee.

Middlemas said the men were wearing "fancy cowboy clothes" when they arrived in Helena. He said the girls were horse lovers and apparently were fascinated when they met the men on the street.
